

The Democratic Ticket.

The Democrats have had no difficulty in nominating their candidates for the Presidency and Vice-Presidency, such unanimity was displayed at St. Louis last week, never before having been witnessed at a political convention. It was conceded on all hands that Cleveland's name would be the only one put in nomination for the Presidency, although Governor Hill of New York was boomed to some extent in his own state during the past few weeks, but there were three candidates for the Vice-Presidency, viz. ex-Congressman Thurman, Governor Gray of Indiana and Black of Illinois. The Gray delegation made quite a noise at the convention, and Black had a few followers, but the contest for them was hopeless from the outset. Thurman's name evoked more enthusiasm than Cleveland's, and he was chosen on the first ballot.

The Democratic team is considered a powerful one, more powerful indeed than the party it leads, and will doubtless be victorious, although much depends on the Republican nominees to be chosen at Chicago, a few days hence.

President Cleveland has reason to congratulate himself on the splendid endorsement his administration received at the late convention, which adopted his platform of 1884, his message to Congress on the reduction of the tariff, and the Mills bill to that end, now before Congress, and which is said to embody Cleveland's ideas on the tariff question.

The President's political success has been most phenomenal. Eight years ago he was unknown in national politics. Now he is the beau ideal Democrat, and as good as President for a second term. From an office boy to the White House ought to be quite a journey, but Cleveland has made short work of it, pausing only on the way to be Sheriff of Erie, Mayor of Buffalo and Governor of New York. Thurman is an old politician, an ex-judge and a man with a national reputation for ability and integrity. He is seventy-five years old but is yet hale and hearty. He might have very easily claimed first place on the ticket if age and experience were taken into account, but he apparently preferred sacrificing his personal ambition to the interests of party, and will be a potent factor in the struggle that is to retain to the Democracy the two highest offices in the gift of the people.

Nova Scotia Vacancies.

Pieton, Colchester and Cumberland, three of the most important constituencies in Nova Scotia, will be called upon in the next few weeks to elect representatives to the Dominion Parliament. The vacancies are caused by Hon. C. H. Tupper's acceptance of a cabinet position. Hon. A. W. McLellan's acceptance of the Governorship of Nova Scotia, and Sir Charles Tupper's return to London as High Commissioner. All three constituencies are Conservative, and of course the Government will make a determined effort to hold them. In Pieton it does not look as if the Grit party would oppose the new Minister Marine and Fisheries. The election takes place on the 25th inst., twelve days hence, and if the Opposition have any intention of contesting Mr. Tupper's election, it is certainly time they were massing their forces and choosing a candidate. But the probability is that Mr. Tupper will have a walk over. In Colchester the Grits will likely make a fight, as they always do, but it will be with poor prospects of success. Of the names mentioned in connexion with the Conservative candidacy in Colchester, the most prominent are Mr. S. E. Gourley, one of Truro's leading lawyers, a young man of excellent ability, and an eloquent speaker, and Mr. W. D. Dimock, one of the best educated and polished of Nova Scotia's younger men. Either gentlemen would make a most desirable representative, and would have little difficulty in carrying the county. The Grit party in the constituency are very scarce of available men. S. D. McLellan, their last candidate, has accepted a local office, and would not likely resign the substance for the shadow, and the only other presentable candidate the party would have is Mr. F. A. Laurence, M. P., who probably feels that a seat in the Assembly is preferable to a defeat for the Commons. We think that in any contingency, Colchester as Pieton may safely be counted to continue in their allegiance to the Conservative party. Hon. Mr. McLellan's last majority was nearly 700. In Cumberland the situation is more interesting. There the Conservatives have already their nominees in the field, Mr. A. R. Dickey, who is not only a successful lawyer, but a gentleman who has his means largely invested in local industries. He has the unanimous endorsement of the Conservative convention, and has already entered on the campaign. His Grit opponent will be either Mr. W. T. Pipes or Mr. T. R. Black, M. P., and the prohibition party will also have a candidate in the field. Pipes is a clever man, has been elected to the Assembly, and would make a good fight, and the same may be said of Black. The third party we fancy would not poll a large vote, so the main contest would be between Grit and Tory with the chances largely in favor of the latter. Cumberland has never yet been represented at Ottawa by a Grit, and it is not likely that it will desert its old time allegiance in the approaching contest. The fight will be a pretty hard one, however, for the Grits will make their chief assault in Cumberland.

Nova Scotia Vacancies.

The Mills bill before Congress, if it passes, will leave the United States protection duties at 40 per cent. The highest rate during the civil war was 36 per cent, but at present it is 47 per cent.

Cumberland, Yarmouth re-elected Mr. Lovitt, Grit, Shelburne was re-elected by General Laurie, Conservative, and Digby Colchester Victoria and Cumberland re-elected Conservatives, a net gain of one for the Government.

A Popular Act.

The reproach against Frederickton, that the corporation retained and enforced a most obnoxious and barbarous bye-law, viz., that authorizing the collection of the miscellaneous license tax can stand no longer against us. True the law has not been repealed, but the City Council acting it is believed with the concurrence of the great mass of the citizens, has knocked the bottom out of its practical effects by passing an order that the Collector hereafter is not to levy the tax on travellers for wholesome houses, and mechanics. Circus and other forms of entertainment introduced from abroad, pedlars and such like, are still to come under the operation of the law, but this will not interfere with the public interest. Some objection has been taken to the non-collection of the tax on outside mechanics, but an examination of the civic accounts will show that only a nominal amount has been collected in past years from mechanics, except when some work was on the railway bridge has been in progress. At such a time it is absolutely necessary to bring straggle mechanics here, because the local supply is not sufficient, and therefore the tax is no protection to our own men. Ordinarily we are not troubled with outside competition, so that really there is nothing in the objection of which we have spoken.

We invite the attention of those who have been so abusive of Frederickton because it has levied commercial taxes in the past, to note the public spirited and commendable action of the City Council in puncturing the most obnoxious law. There will now be no further use for the commercial law leagues, and the speculators in wild land will have to close up business.

Thurman the Democratic nominee for Vice-President met a crowd of newspaper correspondents at his home in Columbus, the other day, and in an address to them he remarked, "The only time," he said, "that I ever had any lengthy talk with Henry Ward Beecher he said to me, 'Well, you are a pretty good looking man—for a Democrat.' I can only say now that you are a pretty good-looking set of men considering that you are newspaper men. I confess I see no indications of horns or weapons of any kind."

Canada's New Governor General lands at Quebec.

And is Sworn in at Ottawa Monday. The Sarmation, with Lord Stanley, Governor General, arrived at the Grand Hotel, Quebec, at 9.30 p. m. Saturday. As soon as the steamer made fast his excellency and suite stepped ashore and were received by a guard of honor from B. Battery. After a short stay on the wharf, they embarked on a special train and left for Ottawa direct reaching there shortly before 8 o'clock Sunday morning. As he had not expected that he would arrive before the afternoon, there was no reception or demonstration of any kind at the depot, and his excellency and his suite drove at once to Rideau Hall, where they spent their time in looking over the buildings and gardens, when they will make their home for the next five years. Lord Stanley was sworn in as Governor General by Chief Justice Ritchie, in the senate chamber, Monday afternoon. There was a small gathering to witness the ceremony. Lord Stanley was escorted from Rideau Hall by a troop of dragoons, and received by a guard of honor, formed of two companies of the Governor General's Foot Guards. A salute of 19 guns was fired from Nepain point battery.

His Excellency's First Address.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, replying to an address of welcome, read by Mayor Stewart on behalf of the citizens of Ottawa, his excellency returned thanks for the kindly reception accorded him on his first coming to reside here as Her Majesty's representative. He expressed his pleasure in becoming a member of her Majesty's dominions, all her subjects were animated by one feeling of loyalty to her person and her throne. That feeling lost nothing by the consciousness that, after a reign of 50 years, she was more endeared in the hearts of her people, and made it, if possible, more certain than before that her interests and her wishes were those of her subjects. He could not but feel the difficulty in which he was placed at having to succeed so distinguished a predecessor as Lord Lansdowne. Among the long roll of the distinguished men who had filled the high office of which he had just been appointed, were none whose names would be written in more golden letters in the history of this country than that of Lord Lansdowne, who left behind him a name that will live in this country, where, from the commencement of his sojourn, he had been received with such frank hospitality and such hearty good will, and although in Lord Stanley's brief career but a few hours amongst them, he thought he could already say that he had experienced even before his arrival, that hospitality, kindness and cordiality which had made the name of this Dominion prominent in the hearts of the people, and he was happy to think that, although the vicissitudes of political life connected him but a few months with the office of Secretary of State for the Colonies in England, the House of Commons had not altogether unfruitful with respect to the interests of this great Dominion of which we all now spoke as members, and he trusted that to the latest period of his life his sympathies might ever be with the Colonies. One principle should animate the man who wishes to attain success in public life, and that was to address himself with single-mindedness to the problem which he might be called upon to deal, with an earnest desire to remove the difficulties, an earnest desire to settle differences, if such should arise. He should endeavor to pursue that course, and, by the result, he was content to be judged.

After being introduced to members of the Cabinet and City Council, His Excellency drove back to Rideau Hall, returning subsequently to spend a short time in his office in the eastern block.

Lord Stanley's Arrival.

Canada's New Governor General lands at Quebec. And is Sworn in at Ottawa Monday. The Sarmation, with Lord Stanley, Governor General, arrived at the Grand Hotel, Quebec, at 9.30 p. m. Saturday. As soon as the steamer made fast his excellency and suite stepped ashore and were received by a guard of honor from B. Battery. After a short stay on the wharf, they embarked on a special train and left for Ottawa direct reaching there shortly before 8 o'clock Sunday morning. As he had not expected that he would arrive before the afternoon, there was no reception or demonstration of any kind at the depot, and his excellency and his suite drove at once to Rideau Hall, where they spent their time in looking over the buildings and gardens, when they will make their home for the next five years. Lord Stanley was sworn in as Governor General by Chief Justice Ritchie, in the senate chamber, Monday afternoon. There was a small gathering to witness the ceremony. Lord Stanley was escorted from Rideau Hall by a troop of dragoons, and received by a guard of honor, formed of two companies of the Governor General's Foot Guards. A salute of 19 guns was fired from Nepain point battery.

His Excellency's First Address.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, replying to an address of welcome, read by Mayor Stewart on behalf of the citizens of Ottawa, his excellency returned thanks for the kindly reception accorded him on his first coming to reside here as Her Majesty's representative. He expressed his pleasure in becoming a member of her Majesty's dominions, all her subjects were animated by one feeling of loyalty to her person and her throne. That feeling lost nothing by the consciousness that, after a reign of 50 years, she was more endeared in the hearts of her people, and made it, if possible, more certain than before that her interests and her wishes were those of her subjects. He could not but feel the difficulty in which he was placed at having to succeed so distinguished a predecessor as Lord Lansdowne. Among the long roll of the distinguished men who had filled the high office of which he had just been appointed, were none whose names would be written in more golden letters in the history of this country than that of Lord Lansdowne, who left behind him a name that will live in this country, where, from the commencement of his sojourn, he had been received with such frank hospitality and such hearty good will, and although in Lord Stanley's brief career but a few hours amongst them, he thought he could already say that he had experienced even before his arrival, that hospitality, kindness and cordiality which had made the name of this Dominion prominent in the hearts of the people, and he was happy to think that, although the vicissitudes of political life connected him but a few months with the office of Secretary of State for the Colonies in England, the House of Commons had not altogether unfruitful with respect to the interests of this great Dominion of which we all now spoke as members, and he trusted that to the latest period of his life his sympathies might ever be with the Colonies. One principle should animate the man who wishes to attain success in public life, and that was to address himself with single-mindedness to the problem which he might be called upon to deal, with an earnest desire to remove the difficulties, an earnest desire to settle differences, if such should arise. He should endeavor to pursue that course, and, by the result, he was content to be judged.

After being introduced to members of the Cabinet and City Council, His Excellency drove back to Rideau Hall, returning subsequently to spend a short time in his office in the eastern block.

Lord Stanley's Arrival.

Canada's New Governor General lands at Quebec. And is Sworn in at Ottawa Monday. The Sarmation, with Lord Stanley, Governor General, arrived at the Grand Hotel, Quebec, at 9.30 p. m. Saturday. As soon as the steamer made fast his excellency and suite stepped ashore and were received by a guard of honor from B. Battery. After a short stay on the wharf, they embarked on a special train and left for Ottawa direct reaching there shortly before 8 o'clock Sunday morning. As he had not expected that he would arrive before the afternoon, there was no reception or demonstration of any kind at the depot, and his excellency and his suite drove at once to Rideau Hall, where they spent their time in looking over the buildings and gardens, when they will make their home for the next five years. Lord Stanley was sworn in as Governor General by Chief Justice Ritchie, in the senate chamber, Monday afternoon. There was a small gathering to witness the ceremony. Lord Stanley was escorted from Rideau Hall by a troop of dragoons, and received by a guard of honor, formed of two companies of the Governor General's Foot Guards. A salute of 19 guns was fired from Nepain point battery.

His Excellency's First Address.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, replying to an address of welcome, read by Mayor Stewart on behalf of the citizens of Ottawa, his excellency returned thanks for the kindly reception accorded him on his first coming to reside here as Her Majesty's representative. He expressed his pleasure in becoming a member of her Majesty's dominions, all her subjects were animated by one feeling of loyalty to her person and her throne. That feeling lost nothing by the consciousness that, after a reign of 50 years, she was more endeared in the hearts of her people, and made it, if possible, more certain than before that her interests and her wishes were those of her subjects. He could not but feel the difficulty in which he was placed at having to succeed so distinguished a predecessor as Lord Lansdowne. Among the long roll of the distinguished men who had filled the high office of which he had just been appointed, were none whose names would be written in more golden letters in the history of this country than that of Lord Lansdowne, who left behind him a name that will live in this country, where, from the commencement of his sojourn, he had been received with such frank hospitality and such hearty good will, and although in Lord Stanley's brief career but a few hours amongst them, he thought he could already say that he had experienced even before his arrival, that hospitality, kindness and cordiality which had made the name of this Dominion prominent in the hearts of the people, and he was happy to think that, although the vicissitudes of political life connected him but a few months with the office of Secretary of State for the Colonies in England, the House of Commons had not altogether unfruitful with respect to the interests of this great Dominion of which we all now spoke as members, and he trusted that to the latest period of his life his sympathies might ever be with the Colonies. One principle should animate the man who wishes to attain success in public life, and that was to address himself with single-mindedness to the problem which he might be called upon to deal, with an earnest desire to remove the difficulties, an earnest desire to settle differences, if such should arise. He should endeavor to pursue that course, and, by the result, he was content to be judged.

After being introduced to members of the Cabinet and City Council, His Excellency drove back to Rideau Hall, returning subsequently to spend a short time in his office in the eastern block.

Lord Stanley's Arrival.

Canada's New Governor General lands at Quebec. And is Sworn in at Ottawa Monday. The Sarmation, with Lord Stanley, Governor General, arrived at the Grand Hotel, Quebec, at 9.30 p. m. Saturday. As soon as the steamer made fast his excellency and suite stepped ashore and were received by a guard of honor from B. Battery. After a short stay on the wharf, they embarked on a special train and left for Ottawa direct reaching there shortly before 8 o'clock Sunday morning. As he had not expected that he would arrive before the afternoon, there was no reception or demonstration of any kind at the depot, and his excellency and his suite drove at once to Rideau Hall, where they spent their time in looking over the buildings and gardens, when they will make their home for the next five years. Lord Stanley was sworn in as Governor General by Chief Justice Ritchie, in the senate chamber, Monday afternoon. There was a small gathering to witness the ceremony. Lord Stanley was escorted from Rideau Hall by a troop of dragoons, and received by a guard of honor, formed of two companies of the Governor General's Foot Guards. A salute of 19 guns was fired from Nepain point battery.

His Excellency's First Address.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, replying to an address of welcome, read by Mayor Stewart on behalf of the citizens of Ottawa, his excellency returned thanks for the kindly reception accorded him on his first coming to reside here as Her Majesty's representative. He expressed his pleasure in becoming a member of her Majesty's dominions, all her subjects were animated by one feeling of loyalty to her person and her throne. That feeling lost nothing by the consciousness that, after a reign of 50 years, she was more endeared in the hearts of her people, and made it, if possible, more certain than before that her interests and her wishes were those of her subjects. He could not but feel the difficulty in which he was placed at having to succeed so distinguished a predecessor as Lord Lansdowne. Among the long roll of the distinguished men who had filled the high office of which he had just been appointed, were none whose names would be written in more golden letters in the history of this country than that of Lord Lansdowne, who left behind him a name that will live in this country, where, from the commencement of his sojourn, he had been received with such frank hospitality and such hearty good will, and although in Lord Stanley's brief career but a few hours amongst them, he thought he could already say that he had experienced even before his arrival, that hospitality, kindness and cordiality which had made the name of this Dominion prominent in the hearts of the people, and he was happy to think that, although the vicissitudes of political life connected him but a few months with the office of Secretary of State for the Colonies in England, the House of Commons had not altogether unfruitful with respect to the interests of this great Dominion of which we all now spoke as members, and he trusted that to the latest period of his life his sympathies might ever be with the Colonies. One principle should animate the man who wishes to attain success in public life, and that was to address himself with single-mindedness to the problem which he might be called upon to deal, with an earnest desire to remove the difficulties, an earnest desire to settle differences, if such should arise. He should endeavor to pursue that course, and, by the result, he was content to be judged.

After being introduced to members of the Cabinet and City Council, His Excellency drove back to Rideau Hall, returning subsequently to spend a short time in his office in the eastern block.

Lord Stanley's Arrival.

Canada's New Governor General lands at Quebec. And is Sworn in at Ottawa Monday. The Sarmation, with Lord Stanley, Governor General, arrived at the Grand Hotel, Quebec, at 9.30 p. m. Saturday. As soon as the steamer made fast his excellency and suite stepped ashore and were received by a guard of honor from B. Battery. After a short stay on the wharf, they embarked on a special train and left for Ottawa direct reaching there shortly before 8 o'clock Sunday morning. As he had not expected that he would arrive before the afternoon, there was no reception or demonstration of any kind at the depot, and his excellency and his suite drove at once to Rideau Hall, where they spent their time in looking over the buildings and gardens, when they will make their home for the next five years. Lord Stanley was sworn in as Governor General by Chief Justice Ritchie, in the senate chamber, Monday afternoon. There was a small gathering to witness the ceremony. Lord Stanley was escorted from Rideau Hall by a troop of dragoons, and received by a guard of honor, formed of two companies of the Governor General's Foot Guards. A salute of 19 guns was fired from Nepain point battery.

His Excellency's First Address.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, replying to an address of welcome, read by Mayor Stewart on behalf of the citizens of Ottawa, his excellency returned thanks for the kindly reception accorded him on his first coming to reside here as Her Majesty's representative. He expressed his pleasure in becoming a member of her Majesty's dominions, all her subjects were animated by one feeling of loyalty to her person and her throne. That feeling lost nothing by the consciousness that, after a reign of 50 years, she was more endeared in the hearts of her people, and made it, if possible, more certain than before that her interests and her wishes were those of her subjects. He could not but feel the difficulty in which he was placed at having to succeed so distinguished a predecessor as Lord Lansdowne. Among the long roll of the distinguished men who had filled the high office of which he had just been appointed, were none whose names would be written in more golden letters in the history of this country than that of Lord Lansdowne, who left behind him a name that will live in this country, where, from the commencement of his sojourn, he had been received with such frank hospitality and such hearty good will, and although in Lord Stanley's brief career but a few hours amongst them, he thought he could already say that he had experienced even before his arrival, that hospitality, kindness and cordiality which had made the name of this Dominion prominent in the hearts of the people, and he was happy to think that, although the vicissitudes of political life connected him but a few months with the office of Secretary of State for the Colonies in England, the House of Commons had not altogether unfruitful with respect to the interests of this great Dominion of which we all now spoke as members, and he trusted that to the latest period of his life his sympathies might ever be with the Colonies. One principle should animate the man who wishes to attain success in public life, and that was to address himself with single-mindedness to the problem which he might be called upon to deal, with an earnest desire to remove the difficulties, an earnest desire to settle differences, if such should arise. He should endeavor to pursue that course, and, by the result, he was content to be judged.

After being introduced to members of the Cabinet and City Council, His Excellency drove back to Rideau Hall, returning subsequently to spend a short time in his office in the eastern block.

Lord Stanley's Arrival.

Canada's New Governor General lands at Quebec. And is Sworn in at Ottawa Monday. The Sarmation, with Lord Stanley, Governor General, arrived at the Grand Hotel, Quebec, at 9.30 p. m. Saturday. As soon as the steamer made fast his excellency and suite stepped ashore and were received by a guard of honor from B. Battery. After a short stay on the wharf, they embarked on a special train and left for Ottawa direct reaching there shortly before 8 o'clock Sunday morning. As he had not expected that he would arrive before the afternoon, there was no reception or demonstration of any kind at the depot, and his excellency and his suite drove at once to Rideau Hall, where they spent their time in looking over the buildings and gardens, when they will make their home for the next five years. Lord Stanley was sworn in as Governor General by Chief Justice Ritchie, in the senate chamber, Monday afternoon. There was a small gathering to witness the ceremony. Lord Stanley was escorted from Rideau Hall by a troop of dragoons, and received by a guard of honor, formed of two companies of the Governor General's Foot Guards. A salute of 19 guns was fired from Nepain point battery.

His Excellency's First Address.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, replying to an address of welcome, read by Mayor Stewart on behalf of the citizens of Ottawa, his excellency returned thanks for the kindly reception accorded him on his first coming to reside here as Her Majesty's representative. He expressed his pleasure in becoming a member of her Majesty's dominions, all her subjects were animated by one feeling of loyalty to her person and her throne. That feeling lost nothing by the consciousness that, after a reign of 50 years, she was more endeared in the hearts of her people, and made it, if possible, more certain than before that her interests and her wishes were those of her subjects. He could not but feel the difficulty in which he was placed at having to succeed so distinguished a predecessor as Lord Lansdowne. Among the long roll of the distinguished men who had filled the high office of which he had just been appointed, were none whose names would be written in more golden letters in the history of this country than that of Lord Lansdowne, who left behind him a name that will live in this country, where, from the commencement of his sojourn, he had been received with such frank hospitality and such hearty good will, and although in Lord Stanley's brief career but a few hours amongst them, he thought he could already say that he had experienced even before his arrival, that hospitality, kindness and cordiality which had made the name of this Dominion prominent in the hearts of the people, and he was happy to think that, although the vicissitudes of political life connected him but a few months with the office of Secretary of State for the Colonies in England, the House of Commons had not altogether unfruitful with respect to the interests of this great Dominion of which we all now spoke as members, and he trusted that to the latest period of his life his sympathies might ever be with the Colonies. One principle should animate the man who wishes to attain success in public life, and that was to address himself with single-mindedness to the problem which he might be called upon to deal, with an earnest desire to remove the difficulties, an earnest desire to settle differences, if such should arise. He should endeavor to pursue that course, and, by the result, he was content to be judged.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

A Summary of Foreign Dominion, and Provincial Happenings.

Gathered from every Quarter.

General Sheridan is still alive. The Hon. Edward Blake is to return to Canada in August. The Republicans are at sixes and sevens in their candidate. Will there be a dark horse? Thirty-nine candidates have entered for candidacy in the Royal Military College, Kingston. Mrs. Costigan, wife of the Minister of Finance, is visiting her friends at Grand Falls. The German Emperor is weakening rapidly and the doctors admit he is in an almost hopeless condition. The Yarmouth Times says that Hon. Mr. Chatham, Secretary of State, will arrive in that town on Saturday. The Governor General visited Montreal yesterday, and was very cordially received. He is in Quebec to-day. One of the stables of the Montreal street railway was burned Friday morning by 124 horses. A man lurking near the stables was arrested. The Maine republican state convention yesterday nominated Hon. E. G. Borah, the present state treasurer, for governor on the first ballot. The Newfoundland confederation delegates are expected to arrive at Ottawa in September, to confer regarding the proposed annexation of James Harris, the well-known foundryman and car builder of St. John, died Monday morning. He was a native of Annapolis, N. S., and was 85 years old. Mr. W. C. Winslow of Chatham, collected, in an hour or two, nearly all of the amount subscribed for making the necessary preparations for the Brigade Camp. The St. John's Newfoundland Telegram unreservedly criticized Sir Robert Thorburn and his government. The premier brought suit for slander, but the jury has found for the defendants. Rev. J. W. Sparkling, M. A. B. D., president of the Methodist conference and pastor of Sydenham street church, Montreal, has received a unanimous nomination to the pastorate of Centenary church, St. John. A Halifax despatch says that it is generally conceded now that Minister of Fisheries Tupper will be returned for Pictou by acclamation. The third candidate, John D. C. Casey, says that he is not prepared to carry on the whole sale clothing department in Halifax. Dr. Daniel Wilson, President of Toronto University, has declined the honor of knighthood, and has refused to accept the title of Imperial Government. He prefers not to give his reasons, but thinks the title of President of Toronto University the greater title of honor.

Gathered from every Quarter.

Horse races at Woodstock Saturday, June 30th. Lady Macdonald is staying at her summer cottage at Rivier du Lou. After exhibiting in Bangor, July 23, Forepaugh's circus will make a tour of the provinces. James B. Jones, a former resident of Woodstock, died at Los Angeles, California, Saturday. An Ottawa telegram says that Postmaster General McLellan's appointment as governor of Nova Scotia is officially announced. Rev. D. C. Moore of Stellarton, an Episcopalian, has been elected Moderator of the Synod of Nova Scotia, P. E. Island and Newfoundland. Governor Hill of New York has signed the bill abolishing hanging for all murders committed after January 1, 1889, and substituting death by electricity therefor. Right Hon. Edward Robert King-Harman, parliamentary under secretary for Ireland, and member of parliament for the Isle of Tynes, died at his residence in London. A difficulty has arisen between the rector of Laval University, Quebec, and a number of students as to an extra charge for food. Twenty-three students, having refused to pay an extra charge, have been expelled. Hon. Mr. Dawkins has been offered the constituency of Westminster district, B. C., by acclamation, if he is given a portfolio in the Cabinet. It is understood that Mr. Chatham, the present member, will be appointed to the Senate. The village of Chesley, Ont., with a population of 2000 was almost entirely destroyed by fire, Sunday, every place of business with few exceptions being destroyed. The loss is $200,000 and the insurance less than a quarter of that amount. As James Gordon Bennett was leaving Delmonico's, Friday evening, papers were thrown at him, and he was badly injured. The mover in the suit is Joseph H. Reall, president of the mining company to which the New York Herald paid some $100,000. It is understood that Doull & Miller, leading wholesale dry goods firm of Halifax, will dissolve. Mr. Miller will continue the dry goods department and establish a large branch store in St. John, while John Doull will carry on the wholesale clothing department in Halifax. Dr. Daniel Wilson, President of Toronto University, has declined the honor of knighthood, and has refused to accept the title of Imperial Government. He prefers not to give his reasons, but thinks the title of President of Toronto University the greater title of honor.

Gathered from every Quarter.

Horse races at Woodstock Saturday, June 30th. Lady Macdonald is staying at her summer cottage at Rivier du Lou. After exhibiting in Bangor, July 23, Forepaugh's circus will make a tour of the provinces. James B. Jones, a former resident of Woodstock, died at Los Angeles, California, Saturday. An Ottawa telegram says that Postmaster General McLellan's appointment as governor of Nova Scotia is officially announced. Rev. D. C. Moore of Stellarton, an Episcopalian, has been elected Moderator of the Synod of Nova Scotia, P. E. Island and Newfoundland. Governor Hill of New York has signed the bill abolishing hanging for all murders committed after January 1, 1889, and substituting death by electricity therefor. Right Hon. Edward Robert King-Harman, parliamentary under secretary for Ireland, and member of parliament for the Isle of Tynes, died at his residence in London. A difficulty has arisen between the rector of Laval University, Quebec, and a number of students as to an extra charge for food. Twenty-three students, having refused to pay an extra charge, have been expelled. Hon. Mr. Dawkins has been offered the constituency of Westminster district, B. C., by acclamation, if he is given a portfolio in the Cabinet. It is understood that Mr. Chatham, the present member, will be appointed to the Senate. The village of Chesley, Ont., with a population of 2000 was almost entirely destroyed by fire, Sunday, every place of business with few exceptions being destroyed. The loss is $200,000 and the insurance less than a quarter of that amount. As James Gordon Bennett was leaving Delmonico's, Friday evening, papers were thrown at him, and he was badly injured. The mover in the suit is Joseph H. Reall, president of the mining company to which the New York Herald paid some $100,000. It is understood that Doull & Miller, leading wholesale dry goods firm of Halifax, will dissolve. Mr. Miller will continue the dry goods department and establish a large branch store in St. John, while John Doull will carry on the wholesale clothing department in Halifax. Dr. Daniel Wilson, President of Toronto University, has declined the honor of knighthood, and has refused to accept the title of Imperial Government. He prefers not to give his reasons, but thinks the title of President of Toronto University the greater title of honor.

Gathered from every Quarter.

Horse races at Woodstock Saturday, June 30th. Lady Macdonald is staying at her summer cottage at Rivier du Lou. After exhibiting in Bangor, July 23, Forepaugh's circus will make a tour of the provinces. James B. Jones, a former resident of Woodstock, died at Los Angeles, California, Saturday. An Ottawa telegram says that Postmaster General McLellan's appointment as governor of Nova Scotia is officially announced. Rev. D. C. Moore of Stellarton, an Episcopalian, has been elected Moderator of the Synod of Nova Scotia, P. E. Island and Newfoundland. Governor Hill of New York has signed the bill abolishing hanging for all murders committed after January 1, 1889, and substituting death by electricity therefor. Right Hon. Edward Robert King-Harman, parliamentary under secretary for Ireland, and member of parliament for the Isle of Tynes, died at his residence in London. A difficulty has arisen between the rector of Laval University, Quebec, and a number of students as to an extra charge for food. Twenty-three students, having refused to pay an extra charge, have been expelled. Hon. Mr. Dawkins has been offered the constituency of Westminster district, B. C., by acclamation, if he is given a portfolio in the Cabinet. It is understood that Mr. Chatham, the present member, will be appointed to the Senate. The village of Chesley, Ont., with a population of 2000 was almost entirely destroyed by fire, Sunday, every place of business with few exceptions being destroyed. The loss is $200,000 and the insurance less than a quarter of that amount. As James Gordon Bennett was leaving Delmonico's, Friday evening, papers were thrown at him, and he was badly injured. The mover in the suit is Joseph H. Reall, president of the mining company to which the New York Herald paid some $100,000. It is understood that Doull & Miller, leading wholesale dry goods firm of Halifax, will dissolve. Mr. Miller will continue the dry goods department and establish a large branch store in St. John, while John Doull will carry on the wholesale clothing department in Halifax. Dr. Daniel Wilson, President of Toronto University, has declined the honor of knighthood, and has refused to accept the title of Imperial Government. He prefers not to give his reasons, but thinks the title of President of Toronto University the greater title of honor.

Gathered from every Quarter.

Horse races at Woodstock Saturday, June 30th. Lady Macdonald is staying at her summer cottage at Rivier du Lou. After exhibiting in Bangor, July 23, Forepaugh's circus will make a tour of the provinces. James B. Jones, a former resident of Woodstock, died at Los Angeles, California, Saturday. An Ottawa telegram says that Postmaster General McLellan's appointment as governor of Nova Scotia is officially announced. Rev. D. C. Moore of Stellarton, an Episcopalian, has been elected Moderator of the Synod of Nova Scotia, P. E. Island and Newfoundland. Governor Hill of New York has signed the bill abolishing hanging for all murders committed after January 1, 1889, and substituting death by electricity therefor. Right Hon. Edward Robert King-Harman, parliamentary under secretary for Ireland, and member of parliament for the Isle of Tynes, died at his residence in London. A difficulty has arisen between the rector of Laval University, Quebec, and a number of students as to an extra charge for food. Twenty-three students, having refused to pay an extra charge, have been expelled. Hon. Mr. Dawkins has been offered the constituency of Westminster district, B. C., by acclamation, if he is given a portfolio in the Cabinet. It is understood that Mr. Chatham, the present member, will be appointed to the Senate. The village of Chesley, Ont., with a population of 2000 was almost entirely destroyed by fire, Sunday, every place of business with few exceptions being destroyed. The loss is $200,000 and the insurance less than a quarter of that amount. As James Gordon Bennett was leaving Delmonico's, Friday evening, papers were thrown at him, and he was badly injured. The mover in the suit is Joseph H. Reall, president of the mining company to which the New York Herald paid some $100,000. It is understood that Doull & Miller, leading wholesale dry goods firm of Halifax, will dissolve. Mr. Miller will continue the dry goods department and establish a large branch store in St. John, while John Doull will carry on the wholesale clothing department in Halifax. Dr. Daniel Wilson, President of Toronto University, has declined the honor of knighthood, and has refused to accept the title of Imperial Government. He prefers not to give his reasons, but thinks the title of President of Toronto University the greater title of honor.

Gathered from every Quarter.

Horse races at Woodstock Saturday, June 30th. Lady Macdonald is staying at her summer cottage at Rivier du Lou. After exhibiting in Bangor, July 23, Forepaugh's circus will make a tour of the provinces. James B. Jones, a former resident of Woodstock, died at Los Angeles, California, Saturday. An Ottawa telegram says that Postmaster General McLellan's appointment as governor of Nova Scotia is officially announced. Rev. D. C. Moore of Stellarton, an Episcopalian, has been elected Moderator of the Synod of Nova Scotia, P. E. Island and Newfoundland. Governor Hill of New York has signed the bill abolishing hanging for all murders committed after January 1, 1889, and substituting death by electricity therefor. Right Hon. Edward Robert King-Harman, parliamentary under secretary for Ireland, and member of parliament for the Isle of Tynes, died at his residence in London. A difficulty has arisen between the rector of Laval University, Quebec, and a number of students as to an extra charge for food. Twenty-three students, having refused to pay an extra charge, have been expelled. Hon. Mr. Dawkins has been offered the constituency of Westminster district, B. C., by acclamation, if he is given a portfolio in the Cabinet. It is understood that Mr. Chatham, the present member, will be appointed to the Senate. The village of Chesley, Ont., with a population of 2000 was almost entirely destroyed by fire, Sunday, every place of business with few exceptions being destroyed. The loss is $200,000 and the insurance less than a quarter of that amount. As James Gordon Bennett was leaving Delmonico's, Friday evening, papers were thrown at him, and he was badly injured. The mover in the suit is Joseph H. Reall, president of the mining company to which the New York Herald paid some $100,000. It is understood that Doull & Miller, leading wholesale dry goods firm of Halifax, will dissolve. Mr. Miller will continue the dry goods department and establish a large branch store in St. John, while John Doull will carry on the wholesale clothing department in Halifax. Dr. Daniel Wilson, President of Toronto University, has declined the honor of knighthood, and has refused to accept the title of Imperial Government. He prefers not to give his reasons, but thinks the title of President of Toronto University the greater title of honor.

Gathered from every Quarter.

Horse races at Woodstock Saturday, June 30th. Lady Macdonald is staying at her summer cottage at Rivier du Lou. After exhibiting in Bangor, July 23, Forepaugh's circus will make a tour of the provinces. James B. Jones, a former resident of Woodstock, died at Los Angeles, California, Saturday. An Ottawa telegram says that Postmaster General McLellan's appointment as governor of Nova Scotia is officially announced. Rev. D. C. Moore of Stellarton, an Episcopalian, has been elected Moderator of the Synod of Nova Scotia, P. E. Island and Newfoundland. Governor Hill of New York has signed the bill abolishing hanging for all murders committed after January 1, 1889, and substituting death by electricity therefor. Right Hon. Edward Robert King-Harman, parliamentary under secretary for Ireland, and member of parliament for the Isle of Tynes, died at his residence in London. A difficulty has arisen between the rector of Laval University, Quebec, and a number of students as to an extra charge for food. Twenty-three students, having refused to pay an extra charge, have been expelled. Hon. Mr. Dawkins has been offered the constituency of Westminster district, B. C., by acclamation, if he is given a portfolio in the Cabinet. It is understood that Mr. Chatham, the present member, will be appointed to the Senate. The village of Chesley, Ont., with a population of 2000 was almost entirely destroyed by fire, Sunday, every place of business with few exceptions being destroyed. The loss is $200,000 and the insurance less than a quarter of that amount. As James Gordon Bennett was leaving Delmonico's, Friday evening, papers were thrown at him, and he was badly injured. The mover in the suit is Joseph H. Reall, president of the mining company to which the New York Herald paid some $100,000. It is understood that Doull & Miller, leading wholesale dry goods firm of Halifax, will dissolve. Mr. Miller will continue the dry goods department and establish a large branch store in St. John, while John Doull will carry on the wholesale clothing department in Halifax. Dr. Daniel Wilson, President of Toronto University, has declined the honor of knighthood, and has refused to accept the title of Imperial Government. He prefers not to give his reasons, but thinks the title of President of Toronto University the greater title of honor.

Gathered from every Quarter.

Horse races at Woodstock Saturday, June 30th. Lady Macdonald is staying at her summer cottage at Rivier du Lou. After exhibiting in Bangor, July 23, Forepaugh's circus will make a tour of the provinces. James B. Jones, a former resident of Woodstock, died at Los Angeles, California, Saturday. An Ottawa telegram says that Postmaster General McLellan's appointment as governor of Nova Scotia is officially announced. Rev. D. C. Moore of Stellarton, an Episcopalian, has been elected Moderator of the Synod of Nova Scotia, P. E. Island and Newfoundland. Governor Hill of New York has signed the bill abolishing hanging for all murders committed after January 1, 1889, and substituting death by electricity therefor. Right Hon. Edward Robert King-Harman, parliamentary under secretary for Ireland, and member of parliament for the Isle of Tynes, died at his residence in London. A difficulty has arisen between the rector of Laval University, Quebec, and a number of students as to an extra charge for food. Twenty-three students, having refused to pay an extra