COURTESIES NOT EXTENDED.

(To the Editor of the Farmer.) few people who read the Capital can readily see the motive which prompts its editor to attack me again on the very important matter of two dead-head tickets, yet I suppose Tailways. Blank certificates, to be fined in bottle of the procure a bottle of the rational remedy for Lung and Bronchial Diseases, Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil with Sceretary, Provincial Farmers' Association, Oromocto, N. When Mr. Cropley talks about jealousy or spite, he places himself in a ridiculous light; the jealousy and spite are on in the Western States. A the other side, as any one can readily see who read that notice in his last issue. I have no doubt it is hard to be forced to go out of the Book and Stationary business, and as a "drowning man will grasp at a straw," se I presume Mr. Cropley will now more desperately than ever endeavor to run me, if he can, whenever any frivilous opportunity presents itself. I tried to sooth the wrathy Editor's mind in a personal interview, but his pulse had reached such an excited state that he was not capable of listening to reason.
As to my begging him not to ventilate the matter in the Capital is concerned, well, that's too funny for anything, and to be modestly polite it's an unwarranted lie. I sent the Editor of the Capital a communication for the Capital and the capi Editor of the Capital a communication for

The whole affair is too absurd and trivial for further notice. Suffice it to say, for Mr. Cropley's benefit, that in distributing free tickets, I am governed altogether by circumstances, and that this is a matter which rests entirely with myself, but, perhaps, in future, Mr. Editor, it would be well for the make a special provision for No. Cro. sy, so that he may occasionally see the inside of the City Hall.
