California naturalist. These are the most graphic In the afternoon, Seely Bell, merchant trustworthy studies of "The California Alps" that of Shediac, being present, was called and identified the hatchet in court as the one he bought from Philip Caldwell, 1st of January, and sold to Edward McCarthy. On Tuesday, 26th, Dr. Campbell was South,") preparing for SCRIBNER a series of papers on the present condition,—the cities, rivers, and

Dr. Tuck then read the names of the witnesses for the defence, saying that thirty-six of their depositions would be first, near eleven, then Milligan. Then the read to the Court and jury. ARCHIBALD WILSON, druggist, Shediac, was next sworn. He knew Dr. Campbell and the Waverly House. He never saw McCarthy in his life. He remembered the 12th of October. 1877, from his books. He had no recollec. tion of seeing any one at Osbornes' that night, but Dr. Campbell, and he had an time indistinct recollection of the Parker girl. PHILIP CALDWELL then testified to pawning a hatchet with John Osborne for a drink last fall. He bar by the front door. He had seen the west bar-room door open.

WILLIAM RICHARD, hostler at the Weldon House in October, 1877, testified to McCarthy coming to the Weldon House, putting his horse up and going away. His testimony was to the same effect as that given by him on the previous trial.

EDWARD M'CARTHY, blacksmith, of Moncton, brother to the deceased, next took the stand. He gave an account of his brother's appearance, business and family. He said, in crossexamination that he thought he could give the conversation between himself and Eliza in reference to his brother correctly. He asked Eliza what she and his brother quarrelled about. He also remembered other words he said that time. He asked what time Chip Smith and his brother were at their house. Eliza said if Smith was there with his brother she did not see him when he came the last time. A TELEGRAM.

Mr. Palmer here received a telegram from Daniel Stewart, Charlottetown, saying that he stayed all night at the Waverley House on October 12th; was not in bed till nearly two; saw McCarthy there; he (McCarthy) treated before he left: he Stewart) shipped the next day in the J. V. Troop, for Cardiff, and arrived at Charlottetown last night. If he was wanted he advised Mr. Palmer to telegraph him immediately.

EDWARD M'CARTHY'S evidence continued. Mr. Hanington suggested to me to wait awhile and to let them make all the statements they liked. He refused or declined to give advice, but talked with me as a friend. He asked me what Annie said, and I told him she said if she was a man she could find my brother in the Scadouc. I told him also that my brother's hat was found there, and he said no doubt he was in the river.

CHAS. WILLISTON, of Moncton, merchant, said he borrowed some $319 from McCarthy on the 24th of September, 1877, when he could not get his safe open, and paid him next forenoon. On the 13th December John Osborne paid him $13 in presence of Harry and his

Went to see Osbornes with Mr. Grattan, when at Wilbur's (arrested.) Told them the story that Annie Parker had stated, and that she said if they (the police) had looked in the clothes-press they would have found the over-coat. Harry said the coat was not there now. CHAS. DICKIE, was called on the opening of the Court. He remembered, the 11th of May last; when McCarthy's body was found, and went down to Farmer Atkinson's after the body. Backed down the gap until the back of the wagon was down about low water mark. Don't know whether the bank or gap can be seen from the barn.

Cross-examined-The wagon was about ten feet long. JOHN NICKERSON, Shediac, cousin of T. McCarthy. Remembers when the body was found. The rubber coat was buttoned so that his tie and collar could be seen. By directions of the Coroner, witness took his revolver, money and watch out of his pockets, and buttoned the clothes again. Was in Osborne's bar-room: went in the front door Saw west bar-room open the first day. Osborne opened the Waverly. Had a conversation with Osbornes after Mc-Carthy's disappearance. Eliza told about the dispute concerning buttons on polonaise, pulling out money, etc. Witness started to go away, and Mrs. Osborne called Annie and asked her what time McCarthy was there, and she said about a quarter to twelve. Witness asked her how she knew, and she said when she finished scrubbing it was a quarter to twelve. Then he told them he was going to the Adams House to search, which he did with Stephen McCarthy. At another time Mrs. Osborne got the Times, and witness read Annie Parker's statement. saying it was a hard story. Mrs. Osborne then said McCarthy's wife was so ugly he could not live with her, and she would never get another chance to throw a flour barrel at him. The 13th of October, he noticed the bar-room of the Waverly had been newly scrubbed when he was in with Chip. Smith. He told Chip. Smith to look out how he stepped as their feet were muddy. They got only one drink each. Saw a hatchet in the bar-room on a cask different times. Don't know whether it was before or after the 13th Oct. Stayed there all night sometimes.

MARTIN M'DONALD, bar-tender, Weldon House, Shediac, sworn :- McCarthy came to the Weldon House bar-room by the back door, about 10.15 p. m., Oct. 12th, 1877. Chip. Smith and Milligan from P. E. I. were in when he came. He had a hat on; spoke to Chip. Smith and treated. They had five or six drinks altogether. Dr. Leger came in shortly after McCarthy did and treated. No one else came in while Mc-Carthy was there. Dr. Leger went out hostler brought in McCarthy's rubber hood and hat box. Then McCarthy and Chip.
