different in respect of parties is that the Mackenzie administration has been more economical in many parts of the country than there was any necessity for. At all events we have no complaints to make of Government extravagance in this County and we might expect a larger share of justice in public pox expenditure were it not for the manifest Act that we are represented by one who would rather see us ask in vain for needed public improvements than have our claims recognised by a Ministry to which he is opposed. If the Mackenzie Government is weakening, as some of its opponents would have us believe it is not because of its extravagance and corruption but rather because in its de-Sire to administer affairs in accordance with its principles of public policy it fails to recognise and deal with the thousand and one little local demands and expectations which a party of less

CONCEALMENT OF BIRTH. - On Friday last an inquest was held by Coroner Bishop, of Newcastle, on the body of a new born infant found concealed in the cellar of Mr. Andrew Matchett's house, Northesk, the day before. A post mortem examination was made on the body of the child by Dr. Dawson, and although it was healthy and fully developed, and, in the doctor's opinion, had been born alive, he was unable to say how long it had lived after birth. The body presented no marks of violence, so that the jury, from the evidence produced, brought in a verdict of concealment, only, upon which charge the mother, Eliza Allison, who had been living as a domestic with Mr. Matchett, was remanded to jail for trial at the next term of the Supreme Court.

Fatal Accident.

Our Tracadie correspondent writes follows :-

A very melancholy accident occured this vicinity on Saturday the 9th inst. A promising young man, named Augustine Thomas, was killed in the woods near the little Tracadie River by being struck by one of the branches of a tree which he was felling. The only witness of the sad occurrence was his younger brother who was working with him. The latter had to go a considerable distance before he could obtain aid. His sorrow-stricken parents were made aware of their loss only when the body of their dead son reached the door of the home he had so recently quitted in perfect health. It is believed that his death was instantaneous. The only external mark on the body was a small livid spot where the fatal stroke had been received. We understand that the body of the unfortunate young man was viewed by the Coroner, Wm. Ferguson Esa. J. P., but we presume that in view of the

Mr. Plumb delivered a long speech, reriewing and defending the financial policy of the late Government, and deploring that Mr. Cartwright was unable to provide for the deficit.

Mr. Bertram said the deficit in 1858, under Sir John's rule, was greater than this year's, as six to one. The revenue for the first seven months shows an increase of $1,000,000; considering this improvement it would be wronging the country to increase the taxes. Several industries had grown up under the present tariff that might be ruined by a change. A comparison of expenditure disproved the charge of extravagance made against the Government. It was only the last two years that the Conservatives had raised the protection cry. We had been fairly successful in developing our resources, had expanded territorially, had contributed great public works, and were we to repudiate a policy under which this had been done and try another? He asked the Conservatives to pause before trying further to lauch the country into an experimental protective policy. He hoped the poses would not be departed from. Mr. McCallum said if it was true that over-importation had caused the depression the Government was responsible, as they should have stopped it.

and he closed in five minutes. Mr. Galbraith argued that the woolen manufacturers were protected, though it was said the Americans were making a slaughter market of Canada, but only $13,-000 worth of tweeds-our principal woolen manufacture - was imported from the United States last year. All the mills were running on full time, and there had been no reduction of wages. The Georgian Bay branch should be built as soon as possible, because money is cheap in England. That would be convenient in case England was at war and the Fenians attempted to make trouble. THURSDAY, MARCH 7. In Public Accounts Committee, today, there was a lively discussion. Mr. Langevin asked for orders in Council

On a motion to refer Mr. Nixon's accounts, North West Territory, to a subcommittee, the Premier said such reference was only proper when charges of something wrong were made, and he would not consent to a fishing committee. The Fraser-Reynolds committee was referred to as a precedent for such reference as these accounts, and several members of the Committee spoke on the point. He referred to the Central Railway, say ing that he was in tavor of a road from the Intercolonial to St. Mary's through Kings and Queens. He thought the Government should allow the line to be commenced from the Intercolonial, and grant rails as fast as it is pushed forward, instead withholding rails until the road starts from Fredericton.

Mr. Jones then read Dr. Tupper's attack The Premier said that a resolution had been moved to aid feeders to the Intercolonial with old rails, and that applications, were referred to the General Superintendent who was not interfered with. plied to this, and Mr. Rymal read from the Chatham Advance a report of Mr. Mitchell's speech, and said he had regarded him as all-powerful, but now it appeared that he had failed to get old rails and pay Mr. Mitche'l said it was a burlesque eport, written by Mr. Snowball's paid slave. He would get pay for that cow, would be worse for the gentlemen

Mr. Blake called Mr. Mitchell to order, and Mitchell retorted hotly. The House adjourned.

Testi monial from Capt. Joshua Harper SACKVILLE, N. B., Feb. 13, 1877. J. H. ROBINSON, Esq., St. John, N. B. Dear Sir :- Early in October last I took a severe cold which settled on my lungs. After having a bad cough for about six weeks, I had a very severe attack of bleeding from the lungs, while on a passage from Queenstown to Dover. I had daily spells of bleeding for some days, until I lost about two gallons of blood, and was so weak as to be scarcely able to stand. I put back to Queenstown, where I received such medical assistance as ena-

I saw an advertisement of your Phos phorized Cod Liver Oil Emulsion in a paper. I immediately sent and got a half myself a well man again. My weight, which was reduced to 120 pounds, is now up to my usual standard of 152 pounds Seeing what it has done for me, I can confidently recommend it to others afflicted with lung diseases. Yours very truly, JOSHUA HARPER.

Of the barque "Mary Lowerison." Robinson's Phosphorized Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil, with Lacto-phosphate Lime, is prepared only by J. H. Robinson Chemist, St. John N. B., for sale by Druggists and General Dealers. Price $1 per bottle: six bottles for $5.

DIED.

At Chatham, March 10th, Maggie Adelaide, fourth daughter of Thos. H. and Grace Fleiger, aged seventeen years and nine months. Farewell Maggie, mildland gentle, Life's young morn was sad to thee,

Thou didst close thy patient eyelids,

Thou hast gone from here and left us, But thou bid'st us come to thee, That with joy in heaven you'l greet us,

When we pass from earth to thee. We miss thee! oh, we miss thee! And our hearts are sad and lone When we think no more we'll meet thee, Till the Resurrection morn.

When the trials of life are o'er, And in heaven with joy we'll greet thee, Where death can part no more.

But then we hope to meet thee,
