for all great causes triumphed by degrees. The cause of temperance had been progressing since Paul advocated it 1800 years ago, and God-fearing men and christian women had banded together to drive intemperance from the land. Mr. Dutcher then adverted to what had been done in the United States, and spoke of the large investment in the liquor traffic which had to be contended with. He then spoke of the advantages of temperance in a worldly point of view and the necessity of trusting in a higher power for strength to persevere. After a very interesting address, in which he alluded to his own illness and the death of his mother since he last visited them, he thanked them for the kind reception which he had received and rejoiced that so much had been accomplished in Chatham. He paid a well merited compliment to the Choir, to whom they were doubtless much indebted for their success. He also stated that he had received a letter from Mr. Burriel of Yarmouth, who was then in St. John, requesting the prayers of the Chatham people, as he had prayed for them ever since his visit. In conclusion Mr. Dutcher referred to the Jubilee at Yarmouth and the prosperous state of the temperance cause in Nova Scotia, and thought the people of Chatham had done well in having 1340 names on the pledge book. Mr. Tweedie announced that an excursion on the Andover would take place on the morning to Bay du Vin, and that other meetings during the stay of Mr. Dutcher who was also invited to Newcastle, would take place on Sunday. In conclusion three hearty cheers were given for Mr. Dutcher and the meeting was brought to a close. THE PIC-NIC. Friday morning turned out everything that could be desired for the projected picnic to Bay du Vin, which was to give Mr. Dutcher, the opportunity of addressing the different societies down the river. The Andover was promptly on hand at 9.30 a.m., and some two hundred of the Dutcher Reformers, including the Officers and members, were soon on board, together with a large supply of refreshments, Bumbury's "string band," and the organ of the association. After making a call at Black Brook for some additional excursionists, the large party duly arrived at Bay du Vin about 12 o'clock and were received by the Dutcher of Hardwick, Glenelg and Black River. The whole of those assembled then proceeded to the grounds of A. J. Williston Esq. The chair was taken by John Shirreff Esq., and the meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. Mr. McKewen, after which there was singing by the choir. Addresses were then delivered by Messrs. L. V. Tweedie and William Sinclair, the Rev. Mr. McKewen, Mr. Dutcher and Mr. Cameron, President of the Black River Dutcher. A vote of thanks was proposed by the Dutcher of Hardwick and Glenelg and Mr. Dutcher for visiting them, which was carried unanimously. A vote of thanks was also passed by the Chatham Dutcher for the kind manner in which they had been received. The proceedings then closed with singing and the Dutcher from Chatham re-embarked on board the Andover. It is needless to say that in both going and returning the music and the refreshments were not forgotten. The Andover arrived at Chatham about 7 o'clock and half an hour started with a large party for a systems. where a crowded gathering had assembled in the Masonic Hall. S. Thompson Esq., Q. C., presided and after the meeting had been opened with prayer, introduced Mr. Dutcher, who made a powerful address lasting an hour and a half. At the close a vote of thanks was moved to Mr. Dutcher by Mr. J. J. Anderson and seconded by the Rev. Mr. Anslow. The proceedings concluded about 10, the Andover arriving at Chatham about 11 o'clock. MEETING ON SUNDAY EVENING. On Sunday evening, as previously announced, a Gospel Temperance meeting was held in St. Andrew's Church at eight o'clock. A. D. Shirreff, Esq., President of the Chatham Dutch Reformers, occupied the chair, and the Church was completely filled. The Chairman briefly announced that the meeting would be conducted as a Gospel Temperance meeting, and called upon the Choir to sing the 21st hymn. Mr. Dutcher, on coming forward, said he would be obliged to take time on account of his health, as love to humanity had alone brought him there. He would talk from a bible stand point, taking as a text "Whoever a man soweth that shall he reap." He proceeded to illustrate this at considerable length, especially with regard to young men who soweth their "wild oats," and indulged in habits intemperate, thinking the harvest might not be so bad after all, but if they soweth thistles, they would reap thistles--an early grave and a lost soul--while a contrary course would lead to a useful life and a triumphant death. It had been his own lot to sow both kinds of seed and to reap their different harvests. His platform now was "God my Father, Christ my Redeemer, and man my brother." If men's hearts were set right they would do right; it was not always the most intelligent that did the most for God, and Christ himself could not get the better class to follow him. It was the poor fisherman who followed Christ. As they sat in that Church in 1878, it was pleasant to think of the goodness of God to them, and they ought to remember they were there to win for Him, and belonged to the Methodist Church, himself, but he loved all denominations. Our duty in this present day was to all of us, and there could be no excuse for not doing it. Christ said "If thy right hand offend thee cut it off and if thy right hand offend thee cut it off and if thy right hand offend thee cut it off." The speaker here gave some further illustration on Christ's parables, and next remarked upon the evils which ensued from the example set to children by their parents in regard to temperance and related how he trained his own son. He also spoke of the disorder and murders which often prevailed in the coal regions of Pennsylvania from drunkenness. He called on mothers, sisters, and wives to sign the pledge, and he brought his address to a close with a fervent prayer. In conclusion he said his heart was for the people of Chatham and he felt rejoiced that they had not been selfish in their movement, but had helped other places, and kindled a fire which would never be extinguished. He would like to see the United States and Canada united in the bonds of Christian fellowship never to be separated. If he and the people of Chatham were never destined to meet on the shores of the Miramichi again, he trusted they would meet in the paradise of God. After a hymn had been sung, Mr. Dutcher asked for lady signers to the pledge, a number of whom came forward, as well as gentlemen. The Rev. Mr. McKewen said he thought
