FAIR PLAY: - The Advocate has what is known among reporters as a "lumpy" and | Executive Committee after the general "padded" report of the speeches at Newcastle on Wednesday of last week. Some things which Mr. Mitchell did not say are in the report and a good many things said by Mr. Snowball are either misreported or omitted altogether. The Advocate and its party appear to be capable of almost anything, however unfair, so long as their ends are to be served. The cool way in which some of Mr. Tilley's utterances are put in Mr. Mitchell's mouth by the Advocate is refreshing this hot weather. And then the Advocate takes a paragraph favorable to its candidate from a Telegraph editorial, instead of quoting the whole article which advises the electors of Northumberland to reject Mr. Mitchell

Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Snowball's Political Claims.

Our despatches report the antagonistic meeting of Messrs. Mitchell and Snowball on the Hustings in Miramichi, on the occasion of re-election of Mr. Adams by acclamation. Mr. Mitchell stated that on his own behalf, he had been a powertion and that to him the Northern Counties were indebted for the Intercolonial Railroad. Mr. Mitchell hardly over-stated either claims. It is sometimes suggested that the Parliament of Canada was over-ruled by the British Government in deciding the route of the Intercolonial ment should be sustained or that of Sir who, with ourselves, believed that Mr.

There is one statement which one should hardly have expected Mr. Mitchell to make, namely, that the rails purchased by his brother-in-law, Mr. Haws, were purchased under the Mackenzie Government. That is literally true, but it conveys a wrong impression. The purchase was made immediately on the accession of the new Government to power, and without their authority. It was made by direction of Mr. Carvell. who naturally wished to have the patronage shared by his friends, as under the former regime, but who never dreamt that Mr. Haws would act unjustly by the department. > [From the St. John News.] "The indications are that the contest between Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Snowball in Northumberland will be exceedingly warm and close. It is true, Mr. Mitchell is an old campaigner, and has been accustomed to organize victory. But his more youthful antagonist is displaying great pluck, force and activity. It seems that in a wordy combat on Dominion politics between them on the day Mr. Adams was re-elected Mr. Snowball sus tained himself admirably."

[From the Freeman.] The romination of Hon. Mr. Adams (who was elected by acclamation) caused a gathering of the electors at the Newcastle Court House on Wednesday, and Mr. Mitchell and Mr. Snowball availed themselves of the opportunity to discuss OIL Dominion Politics. Mr. Mitchell, it is reported, was much excited, and frequentthe Light Brigade" and "The Northern ly interrupted Mr. Snowball who, however, was not in the least disconcerted. Newcastle Field Battery of Artil

Our Newcastle correspondent writes: The target practice of this Battery, which is under the command of Bt. Major R. R. Call, took place yesterday, (26th), at a short distance above the town. At first the shooting was not as good as usual, the guns having too much elevation, but this was soon rectified, and the firing was, on the whole, very creditable.

In the afternoon the Battery was inspected by Lt. Col. Maunsell, D. A. G., ful and successful advocate of Confedera- Col. Strange, and Lt. Col. Baird, Paymaster.
