CHATHAM. - - - DECEMBER 4, 1879. Ministerial Banquet and Speech of Sir John A. Macdonald. OTTAWA, Nov. 27.—The banquet t the Rink Music Hall to-night was grand affair After Justice had been done to splendid dinner-Hon. Mr. Skead presiding; after "The Queen," "Prince of Wales," " Marquis of Lorne and Princess Louise," "The Army Navy and Militia of Canada" had been toasted, and after Hon. McKenzie Bowell had apologized for the absence of Hon. Mr. Masson, whose health would not permit of his being present.

Tetter, Salt Rheume, Scald Head, &c., will cerreceived with tremendous cheers. tainly yield to the great alterative effect of VEGE. The chairman said that he had great pleasure in proposing the toast of the evening. He had known Sir John A. and during that time had been always they would get the punishment given to proud to recognize him as the leader of Conservative party and as the first statesman of the country. (Cheers.) If he had the power to create a peer of earl, and the "Earl of Ottawa," too, for he (Sir John.) had always been friend of Ottawa. (Cheers.) Sir John A. Macdonald, on rising, was received most enthusiastically; nearly the whole of those present waved their hand kerchiefs and cheered for several minutes. Sir John said: Mr. Chairman and gentlemen -I can scarcely hope that my feeble voice will reach the ears of all this vast audience who have gathered to do honor to my colleagues and myself, but as my voice is feeble so, my language, if I were heard, would be altogether inadequate to express the deep feeling or feelings of gratitude and satisfaction and pride with which my colleagues and myself receive this grand ovation, (Cheers.) I have pleasure, individual pleasure, a pleasure personal to myself apart from my colleagues, in this magnificent demonstration. I cannot forget that in this same month of November. six years ago, the Government of which I was the head fell down to death. By slanderous tongues, (cheers) we were forced from our position, but wrapped ourselves in our mantles and fell, I hope, with WE ACCEPTED THE VERDICT.

dignity, and certainly, without a murmur' as the then feeling in the country, and those who were politically opposed to us and who had, I am sorry to say, carried their political opposition into personal when I fell, I fell like Lucifer, never to rise again. (Cheers and laughter.) Ah. sir, but when I fell and my colleagues with me, we did not fall alone, thank God; we had friends in this country, (cheers); we had friends in this city and those friends are around me now. (Cheers.) You were no fair weather friends. You could say:-"Let us forget the rising sun,

We bow to him whose course is run." When we retired, the friends who had stood by us in Parliament stood by still, and while thinking only of the interests of the party, knowing I had been made the scapegoat, the object of all the attacks, the target for their shots, I called my friends in parliament together and said: "Gentlemen my usefulness is gone." (Laughter,) You have heard that phrase, (Laughter and cheers.) "Take another and a new leader; take a man who has not been made the object of so much obloquy; take and try a new man. They laughed me to scorn, and when I summoned them together to meet me in solemn conclave to propose a leader they would not come; they would not even listen to the idea. (Cheers.) This demonstration from within was followed by an equally magnificent one from without, for when we were down, when we were pushed out, rubbed out of the political category, when our position seemed to be hopeless, then the Conservatives of this city rallied round us. Then they stood at my back there at an assembly almost as large as this, because it was confined to Ottawa men. (Hear, hear.) They treated us. the defeated, routed, destroyed ministry,

My friend, Mr. Currier, was deprived of his seat by a technicality and notwithstanding all the influence of the Government-their Government then in power-exercised against him, believing as that Government did, that they had the country at their feet for twenty long years as we had it before them, Ottawa proved true to itself and by a triumphant majority they sent Mr. Currier back to a seat by me and to promote W. & R. Brodie, the policy of the Conservative party. (Cheers. He joined us then in the cold shades of opposition, therefore it is with great pride that I am afforded the opportunity of meeting our Ottawa friends in the day of our triumph as they rallied around me in our misfortune and the day of our defeat. (Cheers.) Now let me say a few words to you on other questions. I cannot say much, for I see a most formidable array of speakers to come after me. I will call the attention of my friends to some of the reasons why the Conservative party with which I have been so long indentified, governed the destinies of Canada for so long a period, have had so long a lease of power, and why I believe, although I may not be the holder of the lease-(cries of yes, you will)-they will again hold as long a lease. (Cheers.) In 1845, when that great junction of parties took place, the union of the Conservatives of Lower Canada and the Baldwin Reformers of Upper Canada, the country enformed, we advanced Old Canada from being little more than a Crown colony into the beginning of a great nation. If Canada rose rapidly from little more than a Crown colony to a great nation it is due to the Conservative party. (Cheers.) We often hear ourselves disparaged, but can those men who know anything about the history of this country look at the statute book of 1863 and say that the bulk of legislation and of the administration of any consequence has not been passed under a Conservative Government? (Cheers.) We commenced our career by wiping out that great source of strife and contention which caused the rebellion of 1837. We restored peace and concord to Lower Canada by wiping out the feudal rights of the seigniors. We enlarged the basis of our education and allayed the in-Sir John A. Macdonald and other dignant feeling of our Catholic brethren members of the Canadian Cabinet at by giving them fair play when we had a Protestant majority. The improvement of our municipal institutions was granted by a government of which I was a member and we carried all our measures, notwithstanding the factious opposition of an unpatriotic party. (Cheers.) I speak as a party man. I believe in the necessity, under British institutions, of having an opposition as much as having a Government. All Governments require to be watched, (great laughter), to be criticized, and in behalf of my friends and party, and on behalf of the present government, I be-"Our Guests; Sir John A. a bad crop and grumbling farmers, from 1854 to 1867, when the Dominion was of the Hon. Geo. Brown, thanks to the the realm he would create Sir John an ratriotism by which he considers a Catholic and Frenchman a British subject and not his equal, thanks to the insults and obloquies that he heaped on Lower Canadians, on their religion, upon their institutions, the Provinces of Canada were drawn up almost in a hostile phalanx, one against the other. That, gentlemen, had to be allayed otherwise we might have had an anarchy, otherwise we might have had bloodshed. That could only, gentlemen, be cured by enlarging the bounds of the old Province of Canada, and by inviting our sister Provinces in joining with us in one grand Dominion, in one grand Confed. eration, that these disputes which preceded Confederation would sink in the great question of Confederation, that we should grow out of the sectional hostile condition into which unfortunately Upper and Lower Canada were arrayed, one against the other, thanks to the Protestant press of the Hon. Geo. Brown. Gentlemen, we got Confederation and the question has been raised, who first started the idea of Confederation? It was like running water; the common property of all. It was so obvious a course to take to unite these Provinces in a grand Confederation the statesmen agreed years ago, but it was brought into practical operation in 1865. It was then, gentlemen, that the Hon. George Brown for once forgot his factiousness that the attitude of his own violence enmity. (Hear, hear.) I thought that had brought. But look at the journals of that day and you will find that Mr. Brown was never a sincere friend of Confederation. I fought for the large idea and now we have one vast Dominion, one great kingdom, a strength to the Mother Country instead of a weakness, supporting the Mother Country instead of impeding its growth and development. We have this, that in the year 1879, 5,000,000 of people in our great country are represented by the representative of our beloved Sovereign, and we have responsible Government with perfect political and personal individ-

SWELLING HOPES FOR THE FUTURE. But, Mr. Chairmen, although Mr. Brown joined with me in assisting to carry this great work into completion, he soon wearied of well-doing and become an iconoclast and commenced to smash and destroy the image which he had built up. It is only a commencement of the efforts we intend to make, with the support of the people, and having the confidence of the people we intend, with God's blessing, to develop this country and prevent our manufactories from being shut up. In the Dominion of Canada (although it is getting pretty large) we intend to spare no pains, no exertion, no expense to advance this great country that it may assume the high position which God and nature intended it should assume. I was honored with the formation of the first Government of the Dominion and selected the best men I could find from the different Provinces and the proof that the best were selected is this, that they still are the honored representatives of the several as friends: they told us to be of good Provinces. (Cheers.) After six long years of trial they have been tried in the that had been raised against us and the dia- balance and not found wanting. But we had a great and responsible task to under-

(Cheers.) They made some immaterial alterations, but the same laws in substance which the government gave this country in 1873. when we resigned, were in full force in 1878 when we assumed power. Consumption Cured. An old physician, retired from practice, having had placed in his hands by an East Indian missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure for Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all Throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for Nervous Debility and all nervous Complaints, after having tested its wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellows. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge to all who desire it, this recipe, in German French, or English with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by addressing with stamp, naming this paper, W. W. SHERAR, 149 Powers' Block. Secretary to Trustees and although we had our ups and downs Rochester, N. Y.
