

Miramichi and the North Shore, etc.

CURLING CLUB.—The Chatham Curling Club is to hold a general meeting on Monday evening next at its room, Masonic Hall. A full attendance is requested.

M. C. CLARK, DENTIST, will be at the Waverly Hotel, Newcastle, from Monday, 17th March, for two weeks. Those wishing his services will please call early from this date.

SNOW GLASSES.—Persons whose eyes suffer from the effects of the spring sun glare on the snow, will find at the Miramichi Bookstore, a nice assortment of glasses to protect their eyes.

REV. WM. WILKINSON, whose ordination on Sunday last is referred to in another column, is spending a short vacation at his home, Beaulieu, before entering upon the duties of the curacy of Petticoke.

ENTERTAINMENT.—Our local readers will not forget St. Andrew's church entertainment to-night. Mrs. Perley of St. John has kindly offered her services and her singing will be a leading feature of the occasion.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—A meeting of the Board of the Northumberland Agricultural Society will be held at Newcastle on Saturday 15th inst., at 2 o'clock p.m. As matters of importance will come before the Board a full attendance is requested.

NEWCASTLE DUTCH REFORMERS.—On Friday evening last the weekly entertainment of the Newcastle Dutch Reformers was held in the Masonic Hall. The programme was a good one, consisting of vocal and instrumental music and several speeches. Quite a number of visitors were present from Chatham.

LECTURE.—G. Herbert Lee, Esq., A. M., of St. John, lectured very acceptably on "What I saw at the Centennial in 1876," in St. Mary's Chapel Sunday School House, on Tuesday evening. The next lecture of the course will be delivered by Rev. Mr. Pentreath, Rector of Moncton, whose subject will be "The Troubadours."

SMALL BASS.—A box of bass reached Ottawa one day long since and, by a significant coincidence, "the delegation" reached there yesterday. That delegation—large and small—which the box contained, were caught in the Northwest river and were a fair sample, it is said, of the kind of fish the trade has been doing in there all winter. It is stated, however, that they were represented as having been caught in lagoons in the main river. The object of such misrepresentation is obvious.

BRIGLARY.—The vault of the County Building at Newcastle was broken into during the sale of Tuesday night, 11th inst., but the burglars obtained only about twenty dollars, the funds of the County having been removed by Secretary Trevauner, S. Thomson, Esq., who has been fearing an attempt of this kind, to a place of greater security. The robbers gave admission to the vault by prying out a vault at the foot of the outer door of the vault, and then breaking away the hinges of the door.

HARMONIOUSLY ARRANGED.—A private meeting of the Chatham Dutch Society was held on last Wednesday evening a which a number of complaints made by Mr. Shepherd Frost against the Executive Committee were considered and disposed of in a very harmonious manner, the action of the committee in each instance being unanimously approved of, when explained.

By Roads.—A correspondent, whose note reached us just as we were going to press asks us why we do not expose a transaction in which $100 of the By-Road money of Northumberland County was appropriated some years ago by the "junior foreman" of a certain paper in connection with "reporting at Fredericton."

We have only to say that the fact is not new to us, but it was only a moderate effort in comparison with some of the same concern's enterprise in the way of "absorbing" funds we refrained from mentioning it. We hope the Municipal Council will see that another $100 of the By-Road money does not go into the same "absorbing" pocket this year.

Entertainment of the Dutch Reformers.—On Tuesday evening the Dutch Reformers gave their weekly entertainment in the Masonic Hall. The chair was occupied by John Shirreff, Esq., and the meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. Jarvis. Miss C. Johnston presided at the piano.

PROGRAMME.—Chorus—"The Ninety and Nine," by the Choir of the Society. Address—By the Rev. Dr. Jardine. Solo—"Tracheidillo," by Miss Anderson.

Recitation—"The Zulu Massacre" by Alex. Templeton. Instrumental Music—By Miss Fairley. Address—By J. R. Goggin, Esq. Chorus—"Arise and Shine," by the Choir.

Address—By Mr. E. A. Strang. Duet—"Rock beside the Sea" by Mrs. Nicol and Miss London, accompanied by Miss Mary Ann. Recitation—"The Drowning Woman," by Master Calvin Craig.

Duet—"Pavane upon my Cane," by Misses Annie Davison and Etta London, accompanied by Miss London. Dextology.

During the evening the President gave a brief account of the proceedings of the business meeting held on the previous Wednesday evening. The minutes of the meeting were then read by the Secretary after which the President in pursuance of a resolution passed at that meeting tendered the thanks of the Society to the ladies and gentlemen of the choir for their services.

Mr. E. A. Strang, one of the Visiting Committee reported he had visited Lower Napun, and that the Society there had rallied. The Society at Douglasfield which had lately been visited by the Chatham Dutchers, had also been organized and was doing well.

CONCERT.—The complimentary concert tendered to Mrs. Perley of St. John by a number of her Chatham friends came off in Masonic Hall last Thursday evening and was a great success. The following from the St. John Globe is a brief, but correct notice of it.

Mrs. PERLEY'S CHATHAM.—A Chatham correspondent, whose letter is dated yesterday (Friday), says: "Mrs. Perley is visiting her Miramichi friends, being now the guest of R. B. Haddock, Esq., at Newcastle. She had heretofore sung at several concerts in that place, and some of her admirers here determined to afford a Chatham audience the pleasure of hearing her. Some of our leading amateurs volunteered for the occasion, and the result was a very creditable complimentary concert last night in the Masonic Hall."

The concert was well attended and was very tastefully and the affair was creditably managed in every respect. The audience was one of the most select that has ever attended any performance here—every reserved seat being taken. The programme

The Lazaretto Scandal.

GLoucester, March 10th, 79. To the Editor of the Miramichi Advance:—Mr. Editor:—In my letters which appeared in the four last issues of your paper giving public information of the unfair and unjust administration of the Tracadie Lazaretto, I have advanced nothing but facts, several of which I have proven by quoting from the minutes of the meetings of the Board, and as to the others I am prepared to stand by them at any time. After having publicly notified the Government of the strange doings of the majority of the Board and complained to them of the wrong and the injustice done (not speaking of the insult offered) to the people of this Province by this mal-administration of the Lazaretto and by the dismissal of A. K. McDougall, Esq., from the position of Sec. Treasurer, without any charge whatsoever, after that, I say, I would "pause for a reply" or observe what action will be taken in this important matter by the Government. However, as a well-founded rumour has it that Mr. John Young, the head of that majority, contradicts some of my statements and among others that the keeper was dismissed by himself and his majority on the 11th inst., the day after my first letter was published, I must substantiate my assertion and follow that gentleman as he goes down even "to the last quartet."

The last quarterly meeting took place on the 3rd ult., and was attended by a full Board. There was no intimation given by the keeper or by any member of the Board that the keeper wished to leave, and it was only a fortnight after this meeting that he was dismissed. The day on which the keeper went one of that majority who dismissed him having been asked by a certain gentleman if the keeper had gone for good and why, said "yes, we thought him too extravagant."

It is rather surprising that Mr. Young should attempt to show that he at least would have allowed the keeper to retain that responsible position or that he did not dismiss him, when it is known that Mr. Young so doubted his honesty that at the last special meeting he forced on the Board a resolution demanding that the lawful salary be kept from him until such time as he gave an account of his stewardship to a committee appointed to investigate some mystery and try to account for the very small stock now on hand. This conduct on the part of the Board towards the keeper is quite unusual, and Mr. Young must have had strong reasons for acting in that way. Therefore, either Mr. Young, dismissed this keeper, as I said, or he is guilty of having in his place been disposed to retain him in his place while he questioned his honesty.

At the last special meeting of the Board, when Mr. Young moved the dismissal of Mr. A. K. McDougall, the complaint of having been dismissed by himself and his majority, the matter of the Sisters' building adjoining the Lazaretto, by Mr. McDougall and the senior members. It may not be out of place to give the public some information regarding this matter. I here quote from the minutes:

At a meeting of the Board held July 23rd, 1867, present, Rev. Ferdinand Gauvain, Robert Robinson, Wm. Ferguson, and A. K. McDougall, in connection with this building were opened at 12 o'clock in presence of Mr. John Young, Joseph Donnet and several others.

James Stothard, $1460.00 Charles E. Butler, 1174.40 William Ferguson, 979.30 John Young, 950.00 Joseph Donnet, 850.00 Jonas Ferguson, 792.00

It appearing that the tender of Jonas Ferguson was the lowest bid being prepared with good and sufficient securities, and that an agreement and other necessary papers be signed by him and A. K. McDougall, the Secretary, in connection with the Board as soon as they can be prepared.

At a meeting of the Board held Nov. 6th, 1867, present, Rev. Ferdinand Gauvain, Dr. A. C. Smith, William Ferguson, A. K. McDougall.

Ordered that the Treasurer pay Jonas Ferguson the amount of his contract $792 for building and finishing the house for the Sisters of Charity in connection with the Tracadie Lazaretto, and also to pay the said Jonas Ferguson the amount of his bid $880.00 for extra work on the said house, in all $872. (eight hundred and seventy-two dollars).

How Mr. John Young can complain of a wrong being done him by Mr. McDougall in this instance is consequently a mystery to us.

To show how Mr. McDougall stands in Northumberland and Gloucester I will mention that when a petition was circulated in the lower parishes asking for another Surveyor in place of Mr. McDougall, only 200 men and boys could be got to sign it, whilst 1,049 signed a counter petition. This goes very far to show that A. K. McDougall, Esq., stands high in the esteem and respect of the people generally (Mr. John Young's opinion to the contrary notwithstanding) and that they feel the wrong done that gentleman by the Government of this Province through the Board of Health, in dismissing him without any charge. What greater proof can we have of a man's honesty when after long service he has to be dismissed without charge?

I have the honor to be, Sir, yours, INFORMER.

Shocking I. C. R. Accident.

On Thursday morning last a railway collision resulting in large destruction of property and the loss of one life took place one mile north of Springhill station, N. S., between a special train consisting of 12 cars of English goods from Halifax for Riviere du Loup and the regular night express from Quebec.

Conductor Cameron and driver Mitchell of the special on their arrival at Spring Hill, received the following directions by telegraph from train despatcher Taylor:—

To Cameron and driver, Springhill:—"On arrival of King's special proceed to Anvers to cross Ross special, signalled by King and No. 12 and McDougall's special signalled by Ross; thence Moncton. Keep clear of regular and signalled trains. Signal on Ross north for you. Carry white signal. Don't exceed twenty miles per hour."

This they very properly, it seems to us, interpreted to mean that they would cross both "Ross special" and "No 12" at Anvers. No 12 was the regular express from Quebec and it appears that Taylor had no reason to make special mention of it as he did. Cameron and Mitchell, left Springhill exactly 12 minutes before the advertised time of the arrival of the last mentioned train, which was in charge of Conductor Birmingham and Driver Samuel McLeod. The two trains met on a curve. Fireman Edwards on the Quebec train was the first to observe the opposing train. He alarmed his driver and then jumped for his life. Driver McLeod, it appears, did not or could not leave the engine in time, thereby losing his life. The fireman was found sometime afterwards on the side of the track dangerously injured about the head and breast. On the special train Fireman Eaton was also the first to observe the danger. He jumped from the engine and sustained severe injuries. Driver Mitchell, was also dangerously injured. Conductor Cameron, who was on the engine of the special when the trains met, was so badly hurt that it was at first feared by the doctors that he could not recover. The two engines were totally demolished, also the baggage car of the Quebec train and a flat car of the special. Manager Pottinger and Superintendent Coleman, with a large number of men, proceeded to the scene of the wreck, rendering all assistance and giving such instructions as were necessary. McLeod was a native of Pictou County, and one of the oldest and most popular drivers on the road. The others were considered first class men, and had two or three years' experience. There was no injury to passengers. Traffic was partially delayed for several days. The direct demand for railway property is put down at from $12,000 to $20,000, the accident being the most serious that has yet happened on the road.

Prominent New Members.

Referring to the prominent Liberal members of the House of Commons of the Montreal B'ness says:—

Speaker Anglin might also be classed as a new member, or rather as an old member who was out last Parliament. While Speaker of the House, he was entirely respected for his ability, his wisdom, and his oratorical powers lost sight of. This session he has assumed an offensive (not obnoxious) attitude, and promises, next to Mr. Rivest, to be the most active member on the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and hold a prominent position in the Liberal ranks. So far he has been successful in the election in re-appointing one of the most active members of the Liberal side. He is a very bitter debater, and has little consideration for the feelings of his opponents. Behind the Hon. Mr. Holton sits Mr. McEwen, a gentleman who was formerly in the House, and was dismissed. He is a ready speaker and exceedingly shrewd. For a long time he has exhibited a tendency to take a hand in everything that comes along, will, doubtless, acquire and