The Press on the Letellier Question

The Toronto Mail is the ultra-Conservative paper of Canada. It has always We regret Letellier's fate. We believe held and maintained the doctrine that the Conservatives can do no wrong. It has the following on the Letellier dismissal matter :-

[From the Toronto "Mail."]

a chapter which possesses unusual interest. We believe the results may be summarized as follows:—First, we have seen the last of partizanship in holders of the position of Lieutenant-Governor in any of the Provinces. - The proceedings of Lieutenant-Governor Letellier were indefensible upon any ground tenable under our system of Government. His fate will be a warning for all time to like officials. Secondly, we have had settled for us with clearness and precision the relative position of a Lieutenant Governor and his advisers, and while the proper prerogatives of the former have been in no way curtailed, the position of the latter as responsible advisers of the Crown's representatives has been settled beyond question. The right of the people of the Province to be represented by Ministers supported by a majority of the people's representatives has been asserted, and the people will in future be saved from the expense and tur-moil of an election, at the mere whim of a Lieutenant Governor who may fancy that he interprets better than his advisers the public feeling. Thirdly, we have seen it made clear that the Imperial Government recognizes the true inland meaning of Lieut. Governors of New Brunswick have Representative Government in the colonies, and the true power of ministers supported | We feel confident that, while the Marqus by Parliament in all questions concerning of Lorne has felt constrained to act on the internal administration on which their advice of his Ministry, for reasons which advice may be or has been tendered to the country will no doubt yet learn, he Crown representatives. We shall not had no idea of subverting the British conhereafter witness the reference of any question of such a character to England, and this result will be operative not only in this, but in other similarly governed Colonies of the Empire. Fourthly, we have seen affirmed a true Conservative view of a Constitutional Government in Canada—a view which we have steadily put forth in support of Ministers supported solve Parliament, in order to test their by a majority in Parliament in any case in which their advice had been given to the Executive. Fifthly, we have witnessed almost direct rebuke administered to those who have, in opposition to the whole history of their Party, put forward a new and foreign theory of Government in Canada which would make responsible ministers subservient to an Executive not sufficiently informed of the temper of our people and practice of our politics, and which could only supply as a solvent for difficulties arising from differences of an emergency arising. opinion between the Crown and its advisers, the troublesome, costly and uncertain remedy of frequent general elections."
