were taken before the chief. To cut a sad story short, I will say that the trades' expectations were too soon proved true, for one by one they were put to death.

Johnson entered the room. He was at once appealed to to donate a few dollars as a foundation to work on, and then Mrs. Graham added:
'It would be so pleasant in after years for you to remember that you gave this Society its first dollar and its first kind word.'

He slowly opened his wallet, drew out a $10 bill, and, as the ladies snatched their lips and clasped their hands, he asked:
'Is this society organized to aid the poor of foreign countries?'
'Yes—yes—yes!' they chorused.
'And it wants money?'
'Yes—yes—yes,' said Johnson, as he folded the bill in a tempting shape, there were twenty married women here.
If there are fifteen of you who can make out that you have combined the children's hair this morning, washed the dishes, blackened the stove, and made the beds, I'll donate ten dollars.

'I have,' answered two of the crowd, and the rest said:
'Why, now, Mr. Johnson?'
'If fifteen of you can make oath that your husbands are not wearing socks with holes in the heels, the money is yours,' continued the wretch.
'Just hear him!' exclaimed, each one looking at the other.
'If ten of you have boys without holes in the knees of their pants, this X goes to the Society,' said Johnson.
'Such a man!' they whispered.
'If there are five pairs of stockings in this room that do not need darning, I'll hand over the money,' he went on.
'Mr. Johnson,' said Mrs. Graham, with great dignity, 'the rules of this Society declare that no money shall be contributed except by members, and, as you are not a member, I beg that you will not do so.'

Correct.
The Waterloo, N. Y., Observer says.
'The other day an old and respectable citizen came into our office, and after paying his last year's subscription, took a seat and remarked:
'I guess you needn't send me the paper any longer; I have just subscribed for a new Philadelphia paper which suits me pretty well, and it don't cost as much as the Observer.'
'Here he handed us the paper for inspection. We found it to be a neat looking little sheet, handsomely printed, with a large engraved head, and containing about forty-eight pages of miscellaneous reading matter.
'Fair looking paper,' we remarked, as we handed it back to him, 'but did you ever see anything in it concerning our country?'
'Well, I don't know as I ever have.'
'Anything in regard to the state, or anything?'
'Nothing.'
'But you give up a paper that contains the local reports, the state of the crops, the deaths and marriages, and the thousand and one happenings from week to week which make up the history of the region in which you are most interested, and which you can get from no other source, and take instead a city paper, simply because it comes a little cheaper?'
'Yes, and it contains more reading matter,' he added.
'Certainly,' we remarked, 'but what is the character of the matter? Nothing in regard to your own village—your schools, your churches, your local improvements and the thousand and one things that happen in your country. There is nothing in it to help to build up your country and support home institutions. It is as foreign to you as the city in which it is published. It may contain more reading matter but it is not reading matter as presented in its columns.
'But why can't you furnish your paper cheaper if they can afford a much greater price for it?'
'Labour is certainly cheaper here.'
'For the reason that a country paper has a small circulation compared with a city paper, and labour expended on 1,000 papers is about the same as on 30,000, especially when it is taken into consideration that the city weekly which is furnishing for a dollar a copy is made up of the type set for the daily.
'That's enough,' exclaimed the old gentleman, as he pulled out his wallet, 'just send me the Observer for another year.'
'As he laid us 'good morning,' and passed through the sanctum door, we heard him remark: 'It's my belief that a man who stops or refuses to subscribe to his local paper simply because it doesn't contain as much reading matter as one made up from a daily and published in the city should be supplied with medical almanacs at the public expense.'

Medical.
MATTISON'S
Pancreatic Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil WITH TACTO-POPHOSATE OF LIME.
This medicine can undoubtedly be used with greater success than any other remedy now known, in cases of Consumption, Coughs, Colds, Hoarseness, Bronchitis, Scrophulous, Chronic Rheumatism, General Debility, Wasting Diseases of Children and Adults, and whenever it is necessary to increase the vital forces and build up the system.
Nearly every person that has taken any preparation of Cod-Liver-Oil, knows how very liable it is to disagree with them after a time, this is mainly due to the inability of the stomach (weak by disease) to digest the full amount of the oil taken.
To overcome this trouble we have added, Fanny, active to our Emulsion, which not only assists in digesting the oil, but leastens the quantity of oil in the treatment of Consumption.
In taking Mattison's Pancreatic Emulsion of Cod-Liver Oil with Tactoprophosphate of Lime, you receive the benefit of two of the best remedies known to science, in the treatment of the above-mentioned diseases.

The above Mower is of the same construction as the celebrated Walter A. Wood's Iron Frame Mower and the Nicholson Mower, both of which are of the highest quality, and are used by 200,000 in use, and the extraordinary number of all these mowers in use, and the fact that every one of the Wood Company of the United States. We have over 500 of our mowers in use, and every one of them is of the highest quality, and are used by of which (no exceptions) stands as a monument of the grand and unprejudiced success of home manufacture and our enterprise. A list of our appended to the prospectus, and are requested to ask information of them relative to our Mowers in use in any of their respective localities, which will establish beyond doubt their superior and reliable superiority over has upon the farmers of the Province.
