White Waves.

A FRAGMENT. Under the blue of the summer skies When shadows, like sad'ning thoughts do lie On the silv'ry sheen of the glitt'ring sea Like rifts in a cherished memory, I watch the sails go by. And on the level sands of the shore, The white waves break in their creamy foam, And thro' the silence the sea-gulls cry;

'Waking-like echos that dormant lie-The sailor's dream of home. Ah, sweet, white waves of the summer sea How fair in the flush of morn ye be, What bygone visions of other years, When life knew nothing of hopes or fears, Young again to me. In the star-gem'd light of the summer eve When nothing but peace the heart can fill Thro' the holy calm of the sleeping sea, There are messages swift and silently : Tho' winds and waves are still-Whispers so faint, tho' they hidden lie 'Mid pearl and coral, that they e'en to me Are only the sigh of an ocean shell Or only the echoing word, "Farewell," Of ships gone out to sea.

Ah, sweet, white waves of the summer sea, How calm at the close of eve ye be, God thre' the night watch keep ye so, The those who lie on your throbbing breast, May trust ye thro' their weakness best, As on the "White Wings" go. MRS. BEATRICE MCGOWAN. Chatham, N. B. July 22, '79.

Entertainment of the Dutcher Reformers.

On Tuesday evening the entertainment of the Dutcher Reformers was held in the Temperance Hall. The chair was occupied by the President, William Anderson, Esq. and the meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. Jardine. Addresses were delivered by the Rev. Dr. Jardine, and Messrs. E. A. Mr. Tweedie, in the course of his remarks, said that the question of the legality of the permissive bill would be brought before the Supreme Court of this Province, on the 14th August next, and that if the decision was adverse, the matter would probably be carried before the Supreme Court of Canada.

The "Rain-Sulphur."

A valued correspondent gives the folowing explanation of a matter which has, o doubt, caused much speculation in the minds of many of our readers :-

MR. EDITOR :- During some of my ambles recently my attention was directed, in many different places, to a thin film of something resembling sulphur, more especially on the shore of the right bank of the river, where large quantities of it had collected. I was extremely puzzled at the time to determine where it all came from, but since then have satisfied myself of the probability of its orign.

After a heavy shower of rain on the road between Newcastle and Mill Cove. the first instance of this phenomenon attracted my attention. Yours truly, NATURALIST. Notes of a trip Through Bay du Vin and St. Margaret's, Glenelg. A correspondent who has been making a trip through the above places sends us the following notes made by himself and a fellow-tourist.

The crops in Bay du Vin look remarkably well, and promise a very fair return. This is a very favorable year for the farmers of this locality. They have one great advantage-their land is very good and produces good crops every year. They finished a fine school house last year and employed Miss O'Neil as teacher The children are making rapid progress. The school has the largest number of pupils in the parish, in proportion to the size of the district. There are only seven families living in the district, and we were informed by a gentleman there that they have 23 pupils enrolled. We visited the school and had much pleasure in hearing the little children reciting their lessons, which showed that their teacher spared no pains with them at the commencement of their school days. The Duke of Cambridge visited the Among those whom we visited were Mr. Thos. McGraw, senr. and Mr. Thos. Mc-Graw, ir. Mrs. McGraw showed us some very fine onions such as we had not seen this year before.

On our way from Mr. McGraw's we visited Mr. John Lynch. Mr. Lynch is greatly interested in their new school. Some twenty miles up the Bay du Vir River are some French settlers who have opened up a settlement in the green woods. The farmers of Bay du Vin are now day. busy preparing for the hay-making.

The bears are numerous about the vicinity of Bay du Vin. Mr. James McGraw told us he saw a large one on the road when going home on last Thursday night. After leaving Mr. Power's, where we had been hospitably entertained, we drove down to the Church of St. Margaret's of blooming cheeks or an inch of health-The crops along the road in that district | ful skin : Mrs. White, who has remained looked finely, particularly that of Mr. Terence Cook, senr.

Mr. George Cook and his brother Terence have built two fine houses and exhibit evidence of doing well.

Mr. John Quinn is building a large house near the farm of Mr. John Rigley, Farrow, Hyde and four others, having and Mr. Edward Hackett has just employed a man to finish a fine building that he has in course of erection.

On the day previous to our arrival home we went to Black River Shooting Range, where we had much pleasure in witnessing the shooting match for the silver cup by Captain McNaughton's company. Mr Duncan McNaughton carried off the prize. It is not often that a bullet fired by any of Mr. McNaughton's company passes the target. M. Duncan McNaughton made 24 points at 400 vards.

The crops in Black River are in a very fair condition. They have completed their new school house there. It is in charge of Miss McIntosh.

Hoping the above notes will be of interest to some your readers, we submit them

Mr. EDITOR :- I presume that the correctness of my two former letters from this place is admitted by the parties affected, to be established, as they have not been replied to or any refutation of my statements attempted. I allude to the squandering of our public money. I also stated to you that the new bridge in course of erection near Mr. Sewell's which Mr. Walsh said, in his answer to correspondent "Sam", would be a support to the Government and a credit to the builders, has "slewed" and sunk about two or three feet. DEAR SIR :- Thanking you kindly for publishing my last letter in the columns of your very popular journal, I must, at the same time, say that in your reply to me you would try to make your readers believe that I wrote some things in my letter that were not in the letter at all. In the first place, you try to make out that I have been, as it were, captured by the Andover people. I repudiate this idea altogether. I may here say that I have long since been captured by the Advance people and I symyathize too much with the Advance and its talented editor to say one word to weaken his influence in the County. Parlor scene :-- Mrs. Brown, who has spent the Summer among the White Mountains in search of health, and who seems to have searched the whole mountain side without being able to find a pair at home because her husband could no afford to go, but whose fresh complexion and bright eyes seem to have caught their bloom and brightness from mountain breezes.

Mrs. B. - Dear me, Mrs. White, how well you are looking! If you will not think me impertinent, let me ask how you can keep so healthy in this dreadful city? I have been to the White Mountains, go there every summer, in fact, and I can't keep off the doctor's list at that.

Mrs. W. (Smiling) .- I'll tell you the whole secret, Mrs. Brown. You remember how poorly I was last spring, some days even being confined to my bed. Dr. -told Mr. White to send me to the mountains, but I knew he couldn't afford it, and I tried Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. Its effects were so marvelous that I also tried his Golden Medical Discovery, to cleanse my system. In my opinion, one bottle of the Prescription and the Discovery is better than six weeks of the White Mountains for a sick woman. I have only been out of the city a week during the whole summer; then my husband and I went to Buffalo and stopped at Dr. Pierce's Invalid's and Tourist's Hotel. The baths and mechanical apparatus for treating patients were alone worth going to see. Besides, our accommodations were better than we had at Long Branch last year, and the drives and scenery are superb. Let me advise you to use Dr.
