Two Roads in Life.-James Gordon Bennet was a young Scotchman, who landed in Nova Scotia forty years age. He taught school for a few years and then he made his may to New York, where he started the now famous Herald. After a long career of prosperity he died a few yeors ago leaving several millions of dollars. Patrick Bennet was a young Irishman, who came to New Brunswick about the time his namesake came to Nova Scotia. He too taught school for some time and was taken in hand by some parties about the year 1845, who established a newspaper and put him in charge of it. Paddy was one of the best writers for the press in his day around St. John, but his love for the bottle overcame him, and after a few years he had to go back to his school again. During the last thirty years he has been teaching in various parts of the country, but when he goes to St. John he invariably brings up at the police office; although upwards of 80 years of age, a melancholy example of the use of ardent spirits. -Ex.

Beautiful Pictures for All

The Great Art Publishing House of George Stinson & Co., of Portland, Maine, moves steadily on the even tenor of its way, apparently not feeling the dull times. During the year 1878 they sold over Four Million pictures of all descriptions. They publish every description of fine pictures, and the prices range from ten cents upwards to twenty dollars per copy. Their correspondence for this large busines is immense; they receive, on an average, over one thousand letters per day. Messrs. Stinson & Co. publish only the better class of pictures, and it is well known that anything coming from this reliable house is of standard merit. We have just received copies of four very fine steel engravings, which they have just brought out. The plates were engraved in London, at an expense of four thousand pounds sterling or twenty thousand dollars, to which great sum must be added the customs duty of twenty-five per cent on account of their being imported into the United States. These engravings are after paintings by great modern masters of art, and the artists who engraved the plates stand in the front rank of the world's renowned engravers. It is believed, and generally conceded. that these engravings make up the finest and most elegant set of works of high art ever brought out by American publishers. This enterprising firm, though many years in the Art Publishing business, have not grown old and unprogressive, but on the other hand make improvement and progress year by year, giving the people better and better pictures for the same or less money. They may, we feel sure, fairly claim to stand at the head of the Art Publishing business in America. We can only understand the colossal proportions their trade has assumed by remembering that this is a great and mighty nation of nearly fifty million people. We cannot better illustrate the magnitude of their business than to state the amount of money paid by them for postage stamps during the years 1876, 1877, and 1878. We have the figures direct from the firm, or we should think there was some error. In 1876, they paid for postage $33,104.92. In 1877, they paid for postage $37,268.76. In 1878 the amount of money that they paid for postage stamps was simply enormous-a little over $50,000.00. Stinson & Co. stand among the largest and most judicious advertisers in the country, and a short time since paid in a single day 24,000.00 in cash on a contract for advertising. They employ agents everywhere throughout the United States and Dominion of Canada for sale of their pictures by subscription; we call attention to their advertisement for agents in fanother column. Those who need pleasant, profitable work should correspond with them. Besides paying the large amounts of postage stated above, their express and freight bills are enormous-only small orders are sent by mail, the larger being sent by express and freight. American homes should be made beautiful by refined works of art, and prices for really meritorious pictures are now so low that there can be no excuse for the walls to remain gloomy, unadorned and cheerless. American homes should be made beautiful, and the tendency of this will be to make more refined and beautiful the lives of all dwelers therein. -Ex.
