LABRADOR HERRINGS:-Capt. C. H Boucher of Newcastle, who, we are informed, is on his way home from Labrador, is expected to reach Chatham about 1st October with a cargo of new Labrador Herrings put up especially for local sale on the Miramichi. The cargo contains a large proportion of half barrels to meet the requirements of buyers who prefer to have them in packages of that size. Capt. Boucher has always brought a good article to this market, and the fact that he is so reliable a dealer, will, no doubt, ensure a quick sale for the lot he is to bring with him this year.

The Pilot Schooner "Advance.

It will be remembered that the pilot schr. Advance, owned by Pilot Angus McEachran, of Chatham, was driven ashore at Green Point, Pokemouche, by the gale of 19th August, Angus McEach ran, jr. and two others being on board at the time. It was thought probable that the schr., though not badly damaged, would have to lie where she was stranded all winter, if not permanently, owing to the place being composed of almost level sand in which the hull was bedded quite deeply. With the assistance of Mr. Patrick Desmond of Chatham, however. Messrs. McEachran had the satisfaction of getting their vessel afloat on Sunday evening last, and she is now safely at the Canada Wharf, where she is to be put in throughly good repair by Mr. Desmond.

Pilot McEachran and Angus jr. speak in the highest terms of the kindness of the people of Pokemouche, without whose aid they could not have got the schooner These good-hearted persons worked both in and out of the water with and for them with out any pay, and from the prais bestowed upon them it is evident that their conduct contrasts favorably with that of the people on some other portions of the seaboard of Canada, who too often take advantage of the necessities of those who suffer shipwreck. Mr. McEachran is to be congratulated on recovering his vessel, his loss, though heavy, being less than he had n, a week or two ago, to believe it w. .id be.

A Case of Destitution and Neglect

Persons who have occasion to travel the road between Newcastle and Douglastown are frequently inconvenienced by suddenly coming upon a tall and uncared-for man generally found, in the day time, sitting by the roadside near the top of the hill on the Douglastown side of Mill Cove. He is a man of over fifty years, and notwithstanding his half clothed, ragged and dirty appearance, impresses those who see him with the fact that he is neither an ordinary beggar nor a member of the fraternity of tramps. His condition and habits of life are, nevertheless, matters of local public concern, if not reproach. He is said to live almost as a hermit in the woods near Mill Cove, whose natural attractions are marred by his presence. His habit of sitting by the roadside, half clad and in possession of a too-suggestive heavy staff. is calculated to bring harm especially to women and young children, even though he may not molest them, and a good many women have already been frightened by apparatus is applied to the painful spot. coming unexpectedly upon him. It is therefore, the duty of the local authorities to take the matter in hand and provide for his safety and the protection of the public against possible harm that may come out of continued neglect. The man, whose name is James Fallen, was once in very good circumstances as a hotel keeper and is well-known to those who have the power to act in the matter. ANTIDOTE TO POISON. -If a person swallows any poison whatever, or has fallen into convulsions from having overloaded the stomach, an instantaneous remedy, efficient and applicable in a large number of cases, is a heaping teaspoonful of common salt, and as much ground mustard, stirred rapidly in a teacupful of water, warm or cold, and swallowed in stantly. It is scarcely down before it be gins to come up, bringing with it the remaining contents of the stomach; and lest there be any remnant of the poison, however small, let the white of an egg or a teaspoonful of strong coffee be swallowed as soon as the stomach is quiet, because these very common articles nullify a large number of virulent poisons. - Medical

A FAST WAR VESSEL :- A new British steamer called the Mercury, built of steel, has just been completed and successfully tried at Portsmouth, England. The vessel is 300 feet long, 46 feet beam, 16 feet 3 inches hold. Displacement, 3,750 tons. On her late trial trip the engines developed 7,595 horse-power, and the speed attained was within a trifle of 22 miles an hour. These are remarkable results for a vessel of the dimensions given. The Mercury has twin screws, driven by separate engines arranged in separate engine rooms. Her machinery nearly fills the hull. There are twelve boilers, four high pressure cylinders, each 41 inches diameter, and four low pressure cylinders, 75 inches diameter. Stroke three feet; boiler pressure, 60 to 65 lbs.: coal consumption, 2.35 lbs. per hour per horse-power. One man governs the rudder, which is worked by steam. RECEPTION OF THE EMPEROR WILLIAM AT STRASBURG . -- A London despatch dated Sept. 19th states :- A Strasburg despatch says that upon the entry of the Emperor William many shops were closed and a multitude of houses closed their shutters. Only the official buildings were profusely decorated. The German speaking inhabitants formed the bulk of the crowd in the streets though the French speaking element in Strasburg is still very strong. The correspondents lately remarked that the French newspapers had become much more outspoken concerning. Alsace-Lorraine, the inhabitants of which have become also much more estranged from the Germans than two years ago when the Emperor William visited Strasburg and met a comparatively cordial reception.

LORD BEACONSFIELD ON CANADA. -- A pour down the horse's throat. despatch dated London, Sept., 18th, says: Earl Beaconsfield delivered a speech at an agricultural banquet at Aylesbury, today. Referring to the American competition with Great Britian he said: The greates apprehension is felt in the United States that they cannot compete with Canada, owing to their high taxation and high wages. Since the surrender of Territory of Hudson Bay Company, Canada has become possessed of an illimitable and fertile wilderness. Nearly all the chief land holders in the extreme western state of America have sold out and gone to that wilderness and begun the work of cultivation there. He had heard on high authority that Canada expected to outstrip the United States in the competition for European markets. He, therefore, advised the farmers of England not to precipitate. Another high autnority had informed him that under all circumstances the markets of the United States would be disturbed, and that with the impulsive character of humanity in the United States the Canadian wilderness would soon be occupied by millions. THE MAGDALEN ISLANDS :- A despatch to the Halifax Chronicle dated the 16th inst. says the steamer Albert with the weekly mails, arrived from Pictou to-day at 4 a. m. The Dominion steam dredge Canada arrived on the 14th inst., from Lingan, C. B., and has commenced operations at House Harbor. The grain and root crops have been benefited by the late fine weather, and

They left the house ed every year, without any reasonable at which they had been visiting at about 11 o'clock, p. m. to return on board their vessel, since when they have not been seen. A dory is missing from the beach this morning, and it is supposed in attempting to return to their vessel they were capsized and drowned or driven ont to sea, as the wind was blowing strong from the Westward during the night.

A REMARKABLE REQUEST.-Mr. J. C. Uthoff, second house-surgeon at Guy's Hospital, relates the following incident in the Lancet :- "A well-dressed and lady-like female, with a strong French accent, asked to see me, and requested that the interview might be a private one, as the subject upon which she wished to speak was, to use her own words, "a delicate one." A young woman, a relative or riend of hers, was entitled to inherit some property if married; but, being single, there was a prospect of her losing it. As no suitable husband seemed likely to appear, she was desirous of finding some dying' man, of what position it mattered not, to whom she might be formally married, and so obtain the property: while at the same time the link might be a slender one, and soon broken. This they had not been able to manage in France, where she lived, and they had accordingly sent over to a London hospital, dwell upon the answer given to such a request. It would be curious to know if the same attempt has been made at other London hospitals."

says :- The heaviest tax that can be imposed upon a nation is one that is imposed upon human lives. From whatever point of view the subject may be regarded, this conclusion is irresistable. If we look at it according to purely economical considerations, we may obtain very remarkable results. It has been estimated that an actual cost of £300 is incured in raising a boy, cradled among the poorest classes, from birth to manhood. It does not require us to ascend very high in the social scale before we find that the estimate must be trebled. If we take what may be called the cost price of the human unit at any definite time, say £500 on arriving at maturity, the producing power of the unit in question will bear some relation to that sum ; the more cost ly and careful education producing as a rule, the more valuable result as to productive power. If the laborer earns 14 or 15s. a week, adds £50 per annum to the wealth of the country, the physicians, the scientific, military or naval officer, the barrister or the engineer may look forward to the time when his yearly labor will be worth more than a hundred times the amount, even if appraised only by the price he is actually paid for his time. Taking a producing individual, whether valued at £50 or £5,000 per annum, at any period of his career, no income tax to which he is subjected can aproach in its pressure the extravagant tax of death, for the payment of that tax at once annhilates the total earning power of which there was, until that moment, a fair mathematical expectation. 4. 400.0

How Women Would Vote.

Were the question admitted to the ballot, and women were allowed to vote, every woman in the land who has used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription would vote it to be an unfailing remedy for the diseases peculiar to her sex. Invalids, do you wish to gather flesh to acquire an appetite, to enjoy a regular habit of body, to obtain refreshing sleep, to feel and know that every fibre and tissue of your system is being braced and renovated? If so, commence at once and use the Quinine Wine prepared by Northrop & Lyman of Toronto and in a short time you will feel the whole system in vigorated and strengthened. It is a well known fact that Quinine has been acknowledged by the medical faculty for many years as the best appetizer and tonic known. And for general debility, this combination will be found superior to all other preparations, And combined as it s with fine sherry wine and choice aromatics, it is made an agreeable and pleasant invigorator to the whole system. The properties of Quinine are a ferbifuge tonic and antiperiodic. Small dozes, frequently repeated, strengthen the pulse, increase muscular force, and invigorate the tone of the nervous system. The peculiar operation of this medicine in general debility and as an appetizer, has undergone long and close observation. and it is believed it will never fail, i properly and judiciously administered, unless other diseases predominate of a different character. Persons of weak constitution may take it without the least difficulty, as it strengthens the stomach and digestive organs, and seldom requires more than one or two bottles to effect a decided benefit, as it contains nothing injurious to the most delicate constitution. Remember to ask for the "Quinine Wine prepared by Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, and we are sure you will be satisfied that you have full value for your money.
