St. Goorge's Day at Chatham. PROFESSOR EASTLY AT ST. MICHAEL'S

The Feast of St. George this year brought a most agreeable treat to the stu dents of St. Michael's College. In the morning, as usual, they attended Mess at 7 o'clock, which was celebrated by the Rev. T. J. Bannon. Rector of the Cathedral. In the evening they enjoyed a mo tintellectual Soiree in the recreation hall of the Co'lege, listening to the dramatic and comic readings of Professor Eastty, interspersed with instrumental music by Prefessor Harrington and his pupils of the College, and all concluding with the singing in full chorus of the National Anthem. Bishop Rogers had been at Belledune attending the Requiem Service for one of the young clerg men of his diocese, a native of that place-the Rev. William Curry, Sub-deacon-who died recently while pursuing his theological studies at the Grand Seminary, Montieal. On returning, His Lordship stepped off the train at Bathurst, in order to celebrate Mass on 23rd, in the Chapel of the Convent elere; because it was on the Feast of St. George 1834, when all the English-speak ing literary world were celebrating the ter-centenary of the birth of Shakespeare, that the frame of that educational and literary institution was erected by the Catholic congregation of Bathurst, as their share in the Shakespearean celebration.

The forenoon of St. George's Day being as passed with the Sisters and Pupils the Convent at Bathurst, the Bishop returned to Chatham in time to assist at the Soiree in St. Michael's College, at which the Rev. Fathers Banuon and Mc-Donald were present, as were also the Christian Brothers who direct the studies in the said College.

EASTTY, PROFESSOR OF DRAMATIC READ-INGS, ELOCUTION, &C. Dear Sir. - We, the pupils of Saint larly to Mount Allison college, which was Michael's College, with the approbation and kind sympathy of our excellent Rev. brother Director, and our most worthy Professors, beg to renew to you in this form, the expression of our thanks for the intense enj yment and instruction afforded us by your Readings in our midst on the light of the National Patron Feast of Merry Euglan ." St. George's Day is also the anniversary of both the birth and le th of the immortal "Bard of Avon," and it was by a happy coincidence that on that night an accomplished d sciple and countryman of Shakespeare showed us in nis "Readings" how "to hold the mirror up to nature," to enable us the better to mire and imitate virtue, to detest and shun vice, which in the words of the great Engl sh dramatist himself "should be the nd and aim of playing," or Public Readngs such as yours.

There were, nevertheless, differences between those who advocated a purely secular education, and those who held that education ought to be combined with religious and moral training, but he con tended if it would be absurd to confine the cultivation of the different intellectual powers to different periods, that it was still more absurd to separate religious and moral from intellectual training. He expressed the pleasure he had felt in meeting Dr. Inch and coincided with his remarks on education, and particularly in regard to universities. He would like to say something on the subject, but or account of the late hour, he would simply pass to something else. He presumed the object of the Methodist Educational Society was to assist men in training for the ministry. In order to see its importance, he would enquire what conditions were requisite to necess in a gospel minister. He briefly numerated these as first, personal piety vithout which a man could not be an effective worker. Presuming that natural ability and good moral charac were to be taken for granted, the next condition was the good mental training to be had in colleges. The day had gone by for ignorant ministers; they had to work on the minds and hearts of others, and must have a knowledge of human science and literature obtained at college. It used to be a prevalent idea that time and labor spent in preparation for the Ministry were thrown away, but now education was universal, and hence the necessity of an educated ministry, who as teachers ought to be of higher attainments than those taught, in order to
