It has been discovered that by breathing rapidly for four or five minutes, a state, called analgesia, is induced in which one's sense of pain is greatly diminished. This phenomenon is now attracting considerable attention, as it is thought that rapid breathing may be made to supplant the use of the ordinary anaesthetics in dentis. try and minor surgical operations.

About 1842 Dr. Montgomery noticed in the hands of a native of one of the islands in the Indian Archipelago, the handle of a hatchet formed of a very peculiar material which became plastic in warm water and capable of being moulded to any shape. This accidental discovery led to the in-
