Herr Bergel, of Berlin, has brought out a curious device by means of which pictures of various kinds are burnt out on a piece of ordinary-looking roseplied at two finely-perforated points, and the sparks communicated then begin gradually to move over the paper, tracing out the picture. Neither leaves its proper path or injures the paper bevond, and when the end of the path is reached, the spark goes out. At the Greenwich Observatory a very ingenious instrument is in use to record automatically the duration of sunshine through the day. It consists of a glass globe hung within a hemispherical cup of slightly greater diameter, the cup being lined with a strip of paper covered with stencil ink. The globe is entirely exposed upon the roof, and, while the | ing that the Ministers must have been sun is shining, acts as a burning glass, and causes a continuous line to be made upon the paper. This line will be broken, however, as often as the sun's light is obscured by clouds, and thus a record of the amount of sunshine for the day will be obtained.

An ingenious Frenchman has devised a game for facilitating the study of geography by children. It consists of a large planisphere map of the globe, accompanied by numerous objects representing animals, plants, flags, costumes, towns and landscapes. These objects of painted cardboard, stand upright when the small inscription accompanying them is folded back: and each one bears, moreover a number corresponding to one on the map. THURSDAY 16th. Mr. Plumb resumed the debate on Mr. about six o'clock this p. m., in the five Blake's motion for copies of the evidence story building occupied by Berge & Soi -. on which the Government selected the wall paper manufacturers. About 1.00 Union Pacific Railway as the standard for men and boys were employed at the the Canadian Pacific. Mr. Cameron (Hu- sent time. All were at work. On Mr. Blake's motion for copies of Orders in Council and correspondence relating to the sale of large blocks of land in the North-West, Sir John Macdonald said THE PIANO AND ORGAN there had been no Order passed yet, but there had been some correspondence which land wanted by Mr. Brassey was pasture land, and if there was found to be any good agricultural lands in that section they would be reserved. He also said he thought the Government would have to ask enlarged powers from the House before completing the bargain with Mr. Brassey.

Several other motions for papers were carried and a few notices allowed to stand. Quite an interesting debate arose on Mr. Casey's motion for a statement respecting seizures of goods made by the Customs authorities since the introduction of the present tariff. Mr. Casey quoted several instances in which the Government had acted with undue harshness, noticeably that of the china seizure at Toronto, and complained that too much power was placed in the hands of a few subordinate officers.

On Mr. Charlton's motion for a return showing the postage paid by papers in Ontario and Quebec, Sir John Macdonald objected on the ground that it would be an unwarrantable exposure by the Government of the affairs of private parties, and would not agree that the matter of circulation was one of public

FRIDAY, 17th.

The debate on Sir Charles Tupper's Pa cific Railway resolution was resumed by Mr. Langevin, who devoted the principal portion of his speech to criticizing and replying to the calculations as to the value of the land to be given to the Syndicate in addition to the cash bonus and works already constructed. After recalling personal reminiscences over the Union Pacific Railway, he maintained that the trains passed over it at a high rate of speed, and the percentage of accidents was very low, therefore the standard must be a good one for the Canadian Pacific Railway. Treating of the questions of exemptions from municipal taxation, he instanced that the bed of the Northern Pacific Railway was exempted to the width of 400 feet, while that of the Canadian Pacific was exempted for only 100 feet. The cry that a huge land monopoly would be established in the North-West was not well founded, because it would be to the Syndicate's interest to dispose of these lands as speedily as possible in order to realize upon them. After recess he dwelt upon the national importance of having a through line constructed upon Canadian territory, and colored paper. A glowing match is ap- criticized Mr. Blake's speech of last session on the Pacific Railway. Sir Richard Cartwright followed with > an able speech, in which he referred to the enormity of the bargain which the Government had entered into, and twitted Mr. Langevin with the haziness of his defence. There were three hypothesis upon which it was possible to explain the Government's conduct. One was that the Ministers had become temporarily demented; the second, that this contract was obtained by improper means; and third, that Ministers by their exceeding folly had rendered themselves helpless to deal in any other way with the parties to the contract. He further summarized these hypotheses by sayeither "crazy, bought, or sold." He personally thought the latter was the true explanation. The country had got rid cf one monopoly in the North-West Territories, but were about to set up another a hundredfold worse. He dwelt at considerable length upon the value of the lands in the North-West Territories to be granted to the Syndicate, showing their value and and Manitoba Railway exer that instead of the Canadi Railway, the reverse was the the monopoly more securely fast ever. The concluding portion speech was devoted to an earnest appear > matter and to giving reasons why it is preferable that the Sault Branch railway should be constructed prior to the road around the north shore of Lake Superior. Sir. Charles Tupper followed with a gross personal attack upon Sir Richard Cartwright, and threw out the insinuation that the latter had, when Finance Minister, adopted a new plan of floating Canadian bonds in England and could not account for all the money raised. Sir Charles next gave himself a good character, and boasted of his impregnable record, and, amidst cries of "coward," made a personal attack upon the Managing Director of the Globe, directing attention to the latter's presence within the sound of his voice.
