NEW STREET, CHATHAM. The Secretary-Treasurer presented a petition from a number of ratepayers of Chatham praying for a grant of $300 to pay land damages &c. in connection with opening up a proposed new street between Foundry Lane and St. John Street. through Mrs. Ann Townley's property.

Coun Lawler had thought the proposed road or lane was not of sufficient importance to justify the Council in authorizing the expense required for opening it up. He moved to refer the petition to a Committee to report to-morrow. The motion passed and Couns. Lawler, Loggie, and HughMcNaughton were appointed as such Committee.

On motion of Coun. Tozer it was ordered that an error of $30, made by the Sec. retary-Treasurer in apportioning assess. ment on Southesk for last year be credited to that Parish.

PAY FOR CHAIRMAN OF PARISH MEETING. Coun. Swim moved that each Chairman of Parish Election Meetings receive, for his services in making his returns &c. the sum of $2.

Coun. Sullivan opposed the motion because he thought $2 too high a fee, especially when there were several districts in a Parish.

little enough for the Chairman to receive for his services, which were responsible and onerous.

Coun. Loggie opposed the motion on the ground that it would increase the Parish charges far too much on election

Coun. Ryan thought there was no practical difficulty in the way of securing Chairmen willing to perform the duties matter in the hands of each district for

Coun. Swim's motion was lost. BIENNIAL ELECTIONS.

Coun. Burchill moved affirming opinion of Council that yearly Municipal elections are unnecessary and attended with useless expenditure, and the desirability of asking the Legislature to pass an act providing for biennial elections in Northumberland County.

The resolution was adopted without Coun. Tozer moved that the Committee appointed last year to define the duties of the County Jailor report to this meeting.

CATTLE RUNNING AT LARGE.

Conn. Underhill moved that no cattle be allowed to run at large on the shore north of Messrs. Fairley's mill stream and the lower line of Jno. Gillespie's farm, between 10th May and 15th Oct. Adopted.

pal By-law, No. 4, relating to cattle running at large in Chatham so as to prevent such running at large between old Napan road and St. John's Church Burying ground road, extending back to Howard Street, leading past Wall's and thence in direct lines to said road, at any the year. He referred referred to the annovance caused to citizens by the running at large of cows-in of giving from $80 to $100 a year to a rethe breaking of ornamental trees, invasion | ported pauper, who could drive his horse of yards and robbing of farm and other and waggon about and owned a good farm. waggons, which had rendered the cattle | The Alms House was managed under a nuisance in Chatham one calling loudly for system that was altogether wrong.

Coun. Lawler said this matter had engaged the attention of himself and other Councillors previous years. He thought that out of some 800 ratepayers, not more than 100 would sign petitions in favor of the by-law proposed. He referred to the difficulty of obtaining pasture for cows unless they were allowed to pass to and from their owners' premises, and thought it would be a hardship on inhabitants generally to allow Coun. Goggin's motion to

Coun, Goggin said there was no use any citizen endeavoring to improve the vicinity of his residence in Chatham by planting trees or providing any but the heaviest enclosures, so long as cattle were allowed to roam at will through the town. Private enterprise and taste had attempted to improve the Public Square, but that was invaded and destroyed by roaming cattle. He believed that five hundred citizens would sign a petition to be rid a nuisance which was a disgrace to the town and rendered Chatham absolutely a Coun. Loggie said that the cattle Chatham were a nuisance to strangers, robbing their teams, while they rendered the sidewalks not fit for ladies to pass along and he was therefore in favor of the proposed by-law.

Coun. Adams said a petition should come up from people asking for this measure before it was enacted Coun, Lawler argued against the idea that the cattle annoyed ladies, and said if it were so, he did not know it. He knew that it would be a great hardship upon poor persons if the motion of Coun. Goggin were adopted. Coun. Burchill favored Coun. Goggin's proposal. Coun. Sullivan was against it.

Coun. Bamford urged the enactment of the proposed by-law.

Coun. Lawler moved that the matter lie over until July, when, if petitions from even half a majority of the ratepayers of Chatham came in asking for the enactment of the proposed by-law he would sup-

Coun. McNaughton favored the amendment of Coun. Lawler.

Coun. Ryan thought the proposed bylaw would be a hardship to poor people It was not, he thought, much of a hardship for ornamental trees to be destroyed. Coun. H. Cameron favored allowing the cattle to run at large.

The amendment of Coun. Lawler was finally put and carried. The Warden, in response to enquiry said he was not just now prepared to report from the committee to define the duties of the County Jailor.

It was odered that the matter lay over antil July Session, and that Coun. Burchill be added to the Committee in rlace of ex-Coun. Johnson. Coun. Goggin moved for a By-Law imposing a dog-tax of one dollar, to apply to dog-owning residents of front lots in District No.1., Chatham, and read a petition of rea hts of Black Brook and vicinity in favor thereof, which he supported by remarks on the subject. The motion was adopted. Coun. H. Cameron, from the Alms Bamford argued that $2 was as Alms House Commissioner, for aid to take him back to St. John, and your Petitioner advanced him, for that purpose, the sum of $5.10 expecting to be reimbursed by the Parish of Chatham, but the Alms House Commissioners, at their Annual meeting, refused to pay the amount. A. Adams favored leaving the House Commissioner of the Parish of Glenelg, and that the sum of $25 odd was incurred in his support, which by order of the majority of the Alms House Commissioners was ordered to be paid by the Parishes of Glenelg, Chatham, and Nelson, notwithstanding the protest of your Petitioner that Nelson was not responsible for any part of it, the said Thomas Kingston having left the Parish so many years previous, and obtained a settlement in the Parish of Chatham, if not in Glenelg. > Coun. A. Adams opposed granting money to be expended by a body not responsible to the Council. It was an outrage that Northesk had to be assessed for $300 when it had not a pauper in the Alms House. He had tried to have the Northesk Commissioner removed, for he was in the habit

Coun. Lawler thought that while he and others might not be satisfied with the system of management and the want of responsibility of the Alms House Commissioner to the Council, it would be very improper not to vote the assessment recommended. The idea that Chatham had an advantage in connection with the institution was erroneous, because the fact that Chatham had a comparatively small assessment was owing to her different Church charitable organizations which provided for a good many of her poor. It was absurd to believe that Mr. Commissioner Burchill was not able to take care of Nelson's interest at the Commissioners Board, and hold his own against the Chatham or any other commissioners and the

There was little use in appointing a committee of this Council to examine and report upon these accounts when they had no control over the Commissioners' doings. He thought one pauper was a very small representation in the Alms House for Chatham. Chatham paupers, he learned, were hired out as servants to Chatham people and Chatham ratepayers were thus relieved. He next went into the matter of the Nelson Commissioner's Protest and at the last meeting of Commissioners five of them supported the Nelson Commissioner's views relating to the pauper Kingston. He thought the Alms House Commissioners had done wrong in dividing that Kingston assessment. He moved that the Alms House Commissioners be requested to charge the

CONTEST OVER NEWCASTLE OFFICERS. now gone into [lists will be found at end | thought himself fit to be even Governorof this report, on 4th page.

When the time for appointing the Newcastle Parish and County Officers arrived | were now put to vote, and those in dispute Coun. Burchill, was moved to the chair and Coun. R. B. Adams moved a list as he had arranged it. He had not read many of the names when Warden Brown proposed to substitute names, other than those on Coun. Adams' list, for certain offices. It was ruled, however, that Coun. Adams' list should be first read. That having been done, Coun. Brown proposed several Tozer, Saunders, Underhill, McLaughlin, changes. He desired to continue John Goggin, Lawler, Sallivan, Savoy, Adams, Ferguson as Assessor for Newcastle. instead of Wm. Mason proposed by Coun. Adams. He also desired to associate W. A. Park with Coun. Adams and himself, a revisor of votes, instead of A. A. Davidson, ir. proposed by Coun. Adams. Wm. Russell, was his choice for assessor in Douglastown, against Wm. Porter, who was supported by Coun. Adams. would have J. H. Phinny for Commissioner | B. Baker as Surveyor, and under the conin place of Coun Adams' nominee, Mr. trol of Commissioner of No. 3 District. Morrissay. He would have Alex. Jessamine for Commissioner of By. Roads in Douglastown, instead of John Woods pro. Front Road District, Northesk, and John posed by Coun. Adams. John Burr of McLean's lower line for the Back Road Douglastown was his choice in Douglas. District; also that District No. 2 extend town for Collector of Rates against John | up to the Chaplin Island Road. Sullivan proposed by Mr. Adams. Jas. Russell was, in his opinion, the best man for Assessor in the Lower District, instead

On Coun. Brown moving to substitute | also urged that the Newcastle Police offithe names chosen by him for Coun. Adams' nominees, the latter gentleman addressed the Council at considerable length. Among other things, he objected to Mr. Ferguson as Assessor, because he had shown favoritism in lowering certain assesments and gave general dissatisfaction, while Mr. Mason, when Assessor, had always given general satisfaction. He objected to Mr. Russell as Assessor in Douglastown, because he was the clerk of Richard Hutchison, who could dictate to him and oblige him to do as he was told. The people did not want any man for Assessor who was under the finger of so large a property-owner as Mr. Hutchison. If Coun. Brown would withdraw the name of Wm. Russell in Douglastown he would strike the name of Wm. Innis off his list for the Lower District. Coun. Brown said the custom had been to control the appointments for that locality, leaving the Newcastle member to do the same in that town. If Coun. Adams insisted on breaking in upon this practice, he would stand or fall by all his nominees.

Coun. Adams continued and referred to Commissioner Fish as having had a long default list. He brought in the names of the Rev. Mr. Barber, Mr. Morrissay, John Maltby and others well able to pay their assessments, and yet they were not required to do so. Now, Coun. Brown desired a man as bad as Fish to be appointed. Mr. Morrissay, who was proposed by himself as Commissioner, owned horses which he was constantly driving over the roads. He was, therefore, the best man to keep them in order. He favored Mr. Woods of Douglastown-the gentleman who ran against both himself and Coun. Brown there in the October Election-because he lived where the By-Road money was expended and not in the town, as Mr. Jessamine did. Mr. Woods had such a large vote in Douglastown as to prove that he had the people's confidence. He object ed to Mr. Burr as Collector of Rates in Douglastown, simply because he believed he was unfit for the office, and every man in the place, from Mr. Hutchison downward would say the same thing. He had gentleman named by Coun. Saunders nominated the best Collector the District ever had, and the proof of this was that he had but $9 of a default list last year. He was willing to leave the names he had submitted to the judgment of the Counci and while he would accept their decision with the best possible grace, he had no doubt Coun. Brown would do likewise missioner of Roads, and he believed his Coun. Brown said some of Coun. Adams assertions were not worth much. The people of Newcastle to whom he had appealed had again returned him, and while he had Scotch in him he would resent being entirely taken charge of by his colleague.

Coun. Adams here protested against appeal being made to the prejudices of mem-

Coun. Brown disclaimed any such intention. Coun. Adams had carried his petty spite so far as to expunge the name of Mr. S. Loggie from the list of Constables an illustration of the lengths to which he would go in such matters. He was proud of Mr. Ferguson as an assessora gentleman in every way qualified for the office and who had instructed one of Coun. Adams' nominees in his duties. He believed Mr. Russell of Douglastown to be in every way fitted to be an assessor, and notwithstanding the aspersions cast upon him by Coun. Adams, he was known by prove of the immediate ratification of the John Tozer, Commissioner of Roads, everyone as a conscientious man who terms of the contract. would do right in spite of anyone. Coun Adams said he had been informed that Constable Loggie had used force last year in taking a prisoner out of the hands of another Constable, and he, therefore, struck his name off the list. any time now. Coun. Brown:-Yes he's conceit enough for anything.

Coun. Adams said Coun. Brown's only other appointment was Commissioner. Fish, and the people would know how had it was when they saw his Default List. He believed the people would indorse him for turning these two men out.

Constable Loggie was voted a hearing and showed that he was acquitted by the Police Magistrate of any blame in the matter brought against him by Coun. Adams, his accusers being reprimanded. Coun. Adams said it was one of the ablest Counsel in the County, and not the merits of his defence that cleared him. Coun. Brown said Messrs. Ritchie and others went before a Magistrate and stated the value of their property on oath. Messrs. Ritchie had shipped a large quantity of deals purchased from Mr. Hamilton on account of Ritchie & Brothers on the other side, and hence the reduction of their valuation. Any five members of the Council could, in a week, do the work which the Valuators did at the large cost of some $2000. It would cost Chatham about $5.50 this year for this unnecessary work, and if there was any law or defect in the law by which the work of valuation could be prevented, he hoped it would be discovered and put in opera-
