An interesting customs question is rais. ed in the case of the Scottish yacht 'Madge," which was recently brought to this country on the steamship "Devonia" to try her speed against American yachts. 362 50 Is she to be regarded as an imported ves el or as so much imported wood? Under our navigation laws a vessel cannot be imported at all; but as it is not proposed to give the "Madge" a United States registry, the navigation laws do not apply to her. 121 00 It may be doubted, indeed, whether she is 987 00 a subject of duty any more than the 'Devonia," which brought her. Neither of them is to be taken into the country, actually landed. Both of them are intend ed to stay in the water while here, and both are going back to Europe. When the "Madge" is lowered from the "Devonia" into the North River, she is to all intents and purposes in precisely the same position as if she had sailed hither. It is understood, however, that the custom house officers have decided to tax the 45 00 yacht as "wooden goods."-New York

C .:-

I am most anxious to know how the President is to day and to express my deep sympathy with you both. (Signed) THE QUEEN, Osborne. The following reply has been sent :-To her Majesty Queen Victoria, Osborne,

Your Majesty's kind enquiry finds the President's condition changed for the better. In the judgment of his medical advisers, there is strong hope of his recovery. His mind is entirely clear, and your Majesty's kind expressions of sympathy are most grateful to him, as they are gratefully acknowledged by me.
