An Imprisoned Priest.

Rev. T. Pelham Dale, a Ritualist lergyman of the Diocese of London, is en deavoring to gain world wide recognition as a martyr, though he will hardly suc ceed. The following in reference to his case will be of interest: -

In the Queen's Bench Division, on th 13th inst., before Lord Chief Justice Col eridge, Mr. Justice Fields and Mr. Justice Manisty, their lordships gave judgment on the return to the writ of habeas corpus ob ained on behalf of the Rev. Thomas Pe ham Dale, who had been confined in Hol loway Jail for alleged contumacious dis bedience of an inhibition issued against according to his own account, conscienhim by Lord Penzance, the Judge and tiously obey. . . Obedience to the law was the solid foundation upon which all rights, from those of the Crown down to those of the meanest subject of the realm, rested; and it must, therefore, be enforced by that Court. Lord Coleridge:"Judgment will be given against Mr. Dale on the habeas corpus, and the three rules will be discharged with costs, there being one set of costs only. The Attorney-General: Is not Lord Penzance, who has been made a party t these proceedings, to have his costs? Lord Coleridge: I don't think that it usual for a judge to ask for his costs i such cases.

The Attorney-General: I won't press the natter unduly. Mr. Dale was then removed in custody, and taken back to Holloway Gaol.

PRESS COMMENTS. The Times says : "No one will question the substantial propriety of anything done. Mr. Dale had suffered no in ustice. The irregularities of which his counsel complained had worked no wrong. He had been deprived of no advantages. The utmost that could be said on his behalf was, that the letter of the law had not been observed. He had a perfect right to avail servative convention and was vigorously himself of any flaw in the procedure, how ever minute and obscure it might be. But he must not now make too much of his position as a martyr. He has been worst ed in a war of quibbles and technicalities If ingenious fallacies could have saved him, he would not be to-day in Holloway Jail. There are martyrs and martyrs, and good old-fashioned Conservative majority. those who deny Cæsar's authority, but do Close was put up to move the resolutions | not mind -hopping logic with him and in favor of the Syndicate at Tupper's doing their best to outwit him by resorting meeting, presumably to strengthen his to objections aimed at the efficiency of the position with the Conservatives, but the law, must not expect unmixed sympathy

The Standard says : " The judgment of the Queen's Bench Division in the case of Mr. Dale, which has already borne salutary fruit in the summary dismissal of the application on behalf of Mr. Enraght. will commend itself to the common sense of all whose eyes are not blinded by party prejudice. . . As the judgment has been against Mr. Dale on all points, it is now to be hoped that he will see the necessity of yielding compliance to the law, and thus put an end to a scandal which is as painful in itself as it is injurious to the best interests of the Church.
