A Matter of Color. We submit it to Miramichi Conserva tives who have a sense of self-respect. whether they think it right that a man should be held up to ridicule on account of bis race or color, because he happens to accept employment in the regular way of his business. We refer particularly to the attacks made upon the caterer who has charge of preparing the dinner to be given to-morrow evening in honor of Mr. Blake under the auspices of the Liberal-Reform party here. These attacks are all the more to be deprecated because they are made by persons who signed the party address presented to Sir Hector Langevin at Chatham and, therefore, may be presumed to speak for the Conservatives of the County. It seems these gentlemen cannot find any honorable way of attacking those who are so creditably preparing to receive and do justice to Mr. Blake. but that they imagine they can promote their party ends by publishing the fact that a negro is employed as a caterer, and making unbecoming references to him. It would be a poor negro who could not give such men lessons in good manners and in the courtesy due to strangers, whether black or white.

Drowning Accident and Rescue

On Monday morning about half past one o'clock, Mr. Alexander Cameron who had just arrived from Black River, at a raft lying at Black Brook, in charge of Mr. John Cameron his brother, who slept on board, thought he heard cries of disress on the river, and after some little time, the cries continuing, both men got into a log canoe and followed the sound as it seemed to be receding down the river. until at last they made out there were men in the water shouting for help .-They immediately shouted for them to hold on, and were soon alongside a capsized boat to which two men were clinging at the last point of exhaustion .-They had then drifted down opposite Bartibogue River. The men were speedily taken into the canoe, and brought up to Black Brook where dry clothes were given them from the raft. Their story was as follows: About midnight three of them, David Newman, colored steward, Jamaica, George Brown (cook), Boston, and G. Edward, (apprentice), Aberdeen, all belonging to the Bk. Glengairn, Brown, from London, anchored off Black Brook, attempted to reach their ship from the shore by hailing for a boat. None coming, however, they got a small skiff somewhere near Mr. Rice's, but the boat leaked and subsequently capsized, all be. ing thrown into the water. The steward Newman seized hold of the lad Edwards, nd the two went to the bottom together, until Edwards after a struggle managed to shake Newman off, and coming to the surface, made for the capsized boat, to which he found Brown the cook, clinging. When the canoe manned by the Camerons was approaching, the two sailors had made up their minds they could hold on no longer, having been an hour and a half the water. They encouraged each other, and reserved themselves for one last shout, which was providentially answered by their rescuers, but in the absence of which, they would probably have been drowned with their shipmate Newman, 'of whom nothing more was seen. Much credit is due to the Messrs. Cameron for their exertions in saving the two men.

The Metropolitan's Visit.

The Most Reverend the Metropolitar returned to Chatham last week, and Sunday the 28th inst. administered the rites of Confirmation to eight Candidates in the presence of a large congregation. who were delighted with his Lordship's able and edifying address upon the occasion. On Sunday evening his Lordship, accompanied by the Rector of Chatham, R. D., was present at Divine Service in St. Andrew's, Newcastle, and formally inducted the Rev. J. H. S. Sweet into the Rectory of Newcastle. A large and attentive audience listened with pleasure to his Lordship's words of counsel to Pastor and people.

On Monday night the Metropolitan took the night express train from Chatham to Moncton from whence he would proceed to Sackville on Tuesday. His Lordship's visit to Chatham was most happily marked by a highly enjoyable and profitable Conversazione held on Monday evening in St. Mary's Chapel Sunday School Room. under the auspices of the Rector assisted by ladies and gentlemen of the congregation. The room was carpeted and decorated handsomely with flags, flowers, evergreens, etc., converting it into a grand parlor just suited to such an occasion. The congregation was well represented by its adult members and there were some other honored guests, including the Rector of Newcastle and Mrs. Sweet and Mr. and Mrs. Snowball. There was no attempt at formality in the proceedings, everyone seeming to enjoy the occasion as their tastes suggested. In addition to the interchange of sentiment on various subjects, by the more elderly guests, there was some attention. R. Carman, Esq., Church Warden, in a Fortin, M. P., and others. The party 921 cents on the dollar, at which the sons through mental difficulties, Miramichi and the North few well chosen remarks, and in the name of all present, expressed the satisfaction and pleasure it afforded him to welcome his Lordship among them, and he was certain that it was the cherished hope of all present, that as His Lordship had now a Coadjutor to share his labours his visits to Chatham would be more frequent for a long time to come. On the present occasion it was the happy duty of the Church people of this Parish to welcome among them, a bishop who had bravely performed the duties of hi sacred office, and who intended to re main at his post until the end of life He sincerly trusted that the day was far distant when his Lordship would be prevented by years or infirmity from discharging the duties of the office he had for so many years so completely adorned, and for his faithfulness in which he would undoubtedly receive the reward of all who do their duty in righteousness.

The Metropolitan replied in his Lord ship's usual happy manner. It was a pleasure and privilege he highly prized to be present upon such an occasion, when everything he saw and heard was so calculated to afford him satisfaction and happiness. It had always been a pleasure to him to come among them, and that pleasure was particularly grateful to him at the present time, when he saw such evidences of success in the work of the Church in this Parish. He was happy to congratulate them upon the satisfactory accomplishment of the important work just completed, by which they had now a free and unappropriated Church, wherein out in a few days. We understand that the rich and poor alike might receive the comforts of the Gospel. His Lordship referred to the great improvement which the last few years, in the contributions to the various objects in connection with the church work. It was a pleasure for him to know that Chatham had been leading the way by so good an example. He congratulated them upon the very tasteful decoration of the building in which they assembled, so handsome in that it was second to none in the Diocese.

His Lordship referred to Mr. Carman's mention of his intention to remain at his post, and wished to say, that neither now

nor hitherto had he any other intention then to remain taithful to that sacred office to which, he thanked God, he had been called. He had no thought of remaining at ease in Fredericton, as he had understood some had supposed he would, but while strength was given him, he hoped to be found actively engaged in the service of his Divine Master. His Lordship earnestly trusted that the Divine blessings would be bestowed upon the Church people of this parish, so many of whom it had been his privilege to see on the present happy and enjoyable occasion. After the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," his Lordship, having pronounced the Benediction, left to take the train for Moneton followed by the good wishes of all present. A short time afterwards the company separated, all carrying away plea-

Churches in town and village opened on the 23rd inst., and lasted four days. was held in the new building in the village which was sufficiently advanced to admit of its being held there, and was in every respect a grand success. The display of articles both useful and fancy was very good, more particularly the table presided over by the ladies of the Con. vent, and which alone realised the handsome sum of $500. Dinner and Tea were served at their respective hours each day, and received a liberal patronage. The Art gallery and floral arbor were centres of attraction throughout. Music both vocal and instrumental in which the ladies of the congregation were ably assisted by the Messrs. IMPROVEMENTS :- Our County buildings have been undergoing considerable repairs this summer. The Court House has been thoroughy cleaned throughout, the plastering repaired, the walls up-stairs tinted pale blue and the ceilings and walls downstairs whitened. The sewers and drainage which were in a bad state were opened and cleaned, and outside, the building has received a coat of good limewash which has improved its appearance. The Clerk of the Peace Office, which had become proverbial, has been newly plastered, the walls whitened, the wood-work painted, and new floors laid, rendering it more comfortable and healthy in every respect. It has also been painted externally. The repairs were under the personal supervision of Coun. O'Brien, Chairman of the County Buildings Committee.

The Losses by the Late Rains. The Fredericton Capital thus presents its idea of the losses caused by the late rainy weather:-

We do not suppose that it is exceeding the facts of the case to put the average loss of the farmers of the Province by the much more than this; and, taking into consideration the injury to hay, grain, and potatoes, we feel sure that it will not average less than the figures we have the Province above the enormous figure of two million dollars. The loss along the St. John and its tributaries will be very much larger than elsewhere. Compared with the tremendous damage done by the freshet in the river, the loss in Westmorland is comparatively trifling. One gentleman, well qualified to form an opinion, says that the loss in hay will be nearly 30,000 tons, worth over a quarter of million dollars. This only includes what will be carried away or destroyed by the high water. In addition to this, thousands of tons all over the country have been ruined by the wet weather, and of what has been housed, very much has been badly damaged. The annual yield of hay in the Province is fully 500,000 tons. upwards of $4,000,000. The oat crop will average between 3.000,000 and 4,000,000 bushels, worth upwards of $1,. The potato crop was over 6, 000,000 bushels in 1871, and would probably have been 8,000,000 bushels this year worth, at 50 cents a bushel, $4,000,000. These three lines of produce, which are most affected by the wet weather, aggregate in value nearly ten millions of dollars. These figures give us some idea of the tremendous interest this Province has at stake, and shows that our estimate of a loss of $2,000,000 all around, or only 20 per cent. of these three crops alone, is not excessive. The above figures must, of course, be taken only as being instructive, the values placed on the three leading articles mentioned being considerably above what they are usually quoted at in the home market, where they should be valued for this class of statistics. At the right valuation, however-say 25 per cent under the

The Kennedy Family. Mr. David Kennedy and his family are to visit the Miramichi on Friday, 9th inst., and will remain until Wednesday, The Halifax Chronicle says of him :-This is, we believe the third time Mr. Kennedy has appeared here. On the previous occasions he excited unexampled enthusiasm among the sons of the heather, in which the public generally participated to a large extent. Since his last visit he has made wonderfully successful tours in South Africa and India, as well as in Great Britain and Ireland, and three at least of the members of his family, who accompany him, have been under the ablest Italian masters. The best proof of his ability as a dramatic singer is, that in Edinburgh, the most hypercritical of cities, he always commands, as in all the other towns in Scotland, crowded houses. It is no exaggeration to say that he is incomparably the most popular and accomplished Scottish vocalist who has appeared during the present century. The only men between whom and himself a parison can be instituted, as to vocal talent, are Wilson and Templeton, who flourished thirty-five years ago-the former having passed the bourne whence no travellers return, and the latter now a venerable retired gentleman, who rejoices cordially in the celebrity and success of the Kennedy family. Wilson sang what Bevan & Co. are usually designated sentimental songs, with exquisite sweetness. He had a voice of singular pathos and melody, but not of any great power. Templeton's voice was one of remarkable compass and richness of intonation, and he sang with great spirit and energy a certain class of songs in the rendering of which these qualities determine which of the two. Kennedy, rendered Scots Wha hae with the greater ardour and effect. But Wilson and Templeton wanted what Kennedy has in a pre-eminent degree, and that is genius. For general dramatic skill, and power, harmoniously combined with touches of exquisite humour, and the graphic expression of what would seem to have been the ideals of the respective authors in the composition of their songs, Kennedy has had no rival, at least in modern times. His heart and soul are in every song he sings, and he possesses in a remarkable degree the rare faculty of making his audience participate, for the time being, in his own ardent feelings and vivid conceptions. The only great actor in Scottish character who has appeared in the present century, and who was still acting, though an old man, in the time of Wilson and Templeton, was McKay, known in Great Britain by the cognomen of the Bailie. from the ability with which he personated Bailie Nicol Jarvie in the play of Rob Roy. Sir Walter Scott, whose genius created the Bailie, regarded his ideal as reproduced in McKay. But Kennedy is gifted with a versatility of dramatic genius which McKay did not possess, and had he devoted his abilities to the stage would have been without a rival in Scottish character. MR. KENNEDY DISPLAYS TACT and judgment in the prefatory remarks with which he introduces the various songs. What he says invests the song to be sung with interest, even in the case of persons to whom it was previously unknown. There is no prosing or undue expansion; what he says is short, pithy, and to the point. With regard to the members of Mr. Kennedy's family who accompany him, three of them are already known in the Provinces, and have been greatly appreciated, and the reputation as vocalists of the whole, stands high in the ### estimation of the British press. That Bogus Monk.
