KINGSTON DRAMATIC COMPANY:-The Kingston Amateur Dramatic Company recently paid a visit to Chatham, and gave a performance on last Monday evening in the Masonic Hall. The piece was "Ten Nights in a Bar Room" followed by the Farce entitled. "The Haunted House." It is a matter of regret that owing to the shortness of the public notice given, the audience was not so large as the merits of the performance deserved, enhanced, as belonging to the club, and good music between the pieces.

A MISTAKE :- The Advocate, acting under instructions, no doubt is belaboring M. Hutchison, M. P. P., asserting that he voted against Mr. Landry's resolution condemning Senator Almon's bill to amend the Scott Temperance Act. The facts are. that Mr. Hutchison moved and voted for an amendment affirming that the matter was not properly one with which the legislature ought to interfere. His amendment was lost, and then he voted for Mr. Landry's resolution, simply because he believed in the sentiment it expressed. It is a matter of regret that any paper representing an intelligent community should be so incapable of discriminating between right and wrong as the Advocate proves itself every week. If it is only a mercenary joint in the political tail of Mr. Adams, and has to abuse all who deprecate that gentleman's public course, it should not be so silly as to distort public records. They buy oil in the oil regions and pump it through inch pipes for hundreds of miles to its different destinations in New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore. On the line that I am on there are four or five pumping stations, and at every one there are two tanks capable of holding 35.000 barrels of oil, so you have an idea of the wealth of the company. The oil is forced over the mountains by large pumps capable of throwing from 6 to 10 barrels of oil per minute.

Many people, says the Electrician. have observed that a blow or other jarring shock will sometimes dispel pain; but the importance of mechanical vibrations as an anodyne is now engaging the serious attention of physicians. For some years past Dr. Mortimer Granville has been endeavoring to find a good means of mitigating the pangs of neuralgia by a recurring series of shocks administered to the skin over the affected part, and he has constructed an apparatus for the purpose which has been employed successfully on various occasions. M. He was led in hysterical patients, and subdued the pains of a nervous cripple by causing the sonorous waves from a vibrating tuning fork and sounding board to impinge upon his limbs. M. Boudet improves upon this treatment by bringing the vibration into actual contact with the surface of the body. He does this tion through the attraction and repulsion of an electro-magnet, in which an electric current flows, and a rod having one end connected to the fork and the other applied over the nerve. So efficacious does it appear to be, that certain kinds of neuralgia, especially in the less deep-seated nerves, are charmed away after a few minutes' use. The subject is yet in its infancy, but it is probable that other kinds of physical suffering may be soothed by the vibratory influence, and it is not unlikely that complete anaesthesia, similar to that produced by chloroform, may re-
