CHATHAM, SEPTEMBER 22, 1881.

The late President of the United States.

The President of the United States is dead. He was shot with a revolver by the assassin, Guitou, on Saturday, July 2nd, in the depot of the Baltimore and Potomac Railway, Washington, as he was about to start for New York.

Garfield's father moved from New York to Ohio, where he built in the North Eastern part of the State a large and commodious cabin, in which James A. Garfield was born, the youngest of four children.

expressed the personal sentiments of her subjects when she telegraphed to Mrs. Garfield.

A meeting of citizens of St. John passed the following resolution on Tuesday afternoon: Resolved, That we, the citizens of St. John, in the Province of New Brunswick, hereby express our great sorrow at the sad intelligence recorded this day of the death of His Excellency James A. Garfield.

General Arthur, Vice President, has been sworn in as President. He is fifty years old, a native of Vermont, a lawyer by profession and a man of good abilities.

The assassin will probably be taken from Washington to New Jersey for trial, the President having died in that State. It is to be hoped he will not be lynched en route, but have a trial and legal punishment befitting the dignity of the great country and race whose laws and civilization he has outraged by one of the most unprovoked and horrible crimes ever recorded.

The Minister of Marine and Fisheries and Hon. Mr. Blake. Hon. J. C. Pope, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, has not displayed any particular talent or energy as the head of his important department, and it is a universally conceded fact that his administration has been less successful than that of either of his predecessors.

GOING AWAY.—The young people are leaving Miramichi in a most discouraging ratio. It is, we believe, with in the mark to say that twenty-five out of every hundred of the young men and women who lived in town and country in the Miramichi district three years ago are now in some part of the United States.

ABOUT ROYALTY.—The Telegraph has recently in an absurd account of Mrs. W. J. Florence's experience with the royalty and nobility of England, as professedly related by herself to one of the modern poets known as the press interviewer. The supposed utterances of Mrs. Florence were harmless enough in their way, with exception of an unwomanly reference to the Marchioness of Lorne, which was as gratuitous as it was untruthful and vulgar.

A LUMBER MILL BURNED.—Sir A. J. Smith's mill, on the Petitois River, near the I. C. R. in the Parish of Salubry, 9th inst., at about 12 o'clock. The origin of the fire was unknown. The mill was shut down that afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mr. Early Kay, the manager, left the mill premises at 5 p. m., at which time all was straight, and there was no sign of any fire in the vicinity then. Beside the destruction of the mill, valued at over $5,000, there were 200,000 feet of sawed lumber burned; also a portion of the bridge across the stream near the mill. Some of the men employed there passed the mill as late as 10 p. m., at which time there was no evidence of any fire. The loss is estimated at $3,000. There was some little insurance, it is understood about $1,000. Mr. Kay has taken steps toward rebuilding the mill at once.—Telegraph.
