Sarsaparilla

FOR THE BLOOD.

CURES SYPHILIS, SCROFULA, SALT-RHEUM, ALL SKIN-DISEASES, TUMORS, ENLARGEMENT OF THE LIVER AND SPLEEN, RHEUMATIC AFFECTIONS, DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS, BLADDER AND URINARY ORGANS, LEUCORRHŒA, CATARRH, AND ALL DISEASES RESULTING FROM A DEPRAVED AND IMPURE CONDITION OF THE BLOOD.

A HIGHLY CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF

RED JAMAICA SARSAPARILLA

AND TH

DOUBLE IODIDES.

Space forbids the giving more testimony in this place, in favor of this great medicine. Is not one certificate, however, from an eminent and well-known Physician like Dr Bessey, of Montreal, sufficient to establish its superiority over the numerous mixtures called Blood Purifiers offered by Druggists and others?

T. C. STRATTON, Esq.

Montreal, Feb. 1st, 1877.

I cannot but regard the formula from which Dr. Channing's Sarsaparilla is prepared, as one of the best possibie combinations to constitute an effectual remedy, for the cure of Blood Impurities. So far as my experience leads me with this remedy, I can testify to its great value in the treatment of all Strumous and Cachectic affections, as Glandular Enlargements, and a wide range of skin affections; as a reliable preparation for general use as a blood purifier, I know of none equal to it, combining as it does, all the imputed virtues of Sarsaparilla, and several other valuable remedies, with the extraordinary alterative properties of the "Double Iodides," and of none that can be more highly recommended as safe, certain and reliable, and I have every confidence that such a remedy for general use, taking the place of the many worthless nostrums of the day, will be a great boon to suffering humanity, and its use will be attended with the most satisfactory results. It should be invaluable to persons beyond the reach of medical advice, and will, no doubt, become popular with Medical men throughout the country.

Respectfully yours,

W. E. BESSEY, M D
Beaver Hall Square.

NOTE.—Dr. Channing's Sarsaparilla is put up in large bottles, with the name blown in the Glass, and retails at $1.00 per bottle, or Six Bottles for Five Dollars. ... most Country Stores. Be sure, and ask for Dr. Channing's Sarsaparilla and take no other. If not readily obtained in your locality, address the General Agent.

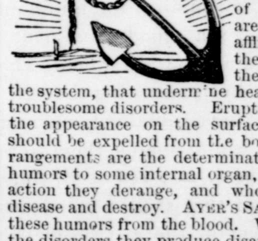
AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.



This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stilingila, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the boold Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Ulcees and Sores, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Pain in the Bones, Side and Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure heath returns.

The Devil.

REV. ALFRED J. HOUGH, LUDLOW, VT.

Men don't believe in the Devil now as their fathers used to do;
They've forced the door of the broadest creed to let His Majesty through.
There isn't a print of his cloven foot, or a fiery dart from his bow
To be found in earth or air to-day, for the world has voted so.

But who is it mixing the fatal draught that palsies heart and brain,
And loads the bier of each passing year with ten hundred thousand slain?
Who blights the bloom of the land to-day with the fiery breath of Hell,
If the Devil isn't and never was? Won't somebody rise and tell?

Who dogs the steps of the toiling saint, and digs the pits for his feet?
Who sows the tares in the field of time wherever God sows His wheat?
The Devil is voted not to be, and, of course, the thing is true!
But who is doing the kind of work the Devil alone should do?

We are told he does not go about as a roaring lion now;
But whom shall we hold responsible for the everlasting row
To be heard in home, in church and state, to the earth's remotest bound,
If the Devil, by an unanimous vote, is nowhere to be found,

Won't somebody step to the front forthwith, and make his bow and show.
How the frauds and the crimes of a single day spring up? We want to know.
The Devil was fairly voted out, and, of course, the Devil's gone;
But simple people would like to know who carries his business on?

"Advance" Scientific Miscellany.

A "fire-damp commission" is to convene in Berlin for several months to study measures for the better protection of miners.

In a number of examinations of the heart-beats of the dying, Bouchat recorded six seconds as the longest interval between the pulsations.

Bricks that float in water are made of diatomaceous earth mixed with one-twentieth part of clay and well burned. The art of making these floating bricks was well known in the time of Pliny, but was afterwards lost, and only recently recovered.

A midnight balloon ascent was lately made by M. M. Fonvielle and Lippmann. They carried with them a small electric light apparatus, which enabled them to make readings of the thermometer and barometer and to take down notes.

At the new popular Observatory of the Trocadero, the public at large of Paris had an opportunity of viewing the great comet of 1881 with the very perfect apparatus of astronomers. This great advantage was highly appreciated by the intelligent Parisians.

Dr. A. Paggie records that in a case which came under his observation in Paris, the heart had ceased to beat, as an effect of the inhalation of chloroform and artificial respiration for ten minutes failed to restore the circulation, when Dr. Sabbe by applying a cloth dipped in hot water, to the region of the heart caused it to immediately resume its action.

M. Poliakoff, the distinguished Russian naturalist, has examined a horse presented by Colonel Prejalsky to the St. Petersburg Academy, and pronounces it a new species, in some respects intermediate between our domestic horse and the wild ass. The newly-recorded animal is a native of the plains and deserts of Central Asia, and has not hitherto fallen under the dominion of man.

Dr. M. S. Menier believes that the large quantity of carbonic acid in the atmosphere may be traced to this source: The interior of the earth he affirms to contain great beds of carboniferous iron, which, coming in contact with water at a great heat, yields hydrocarbons. These, on their subsequent combustion, give rise to the carbonic acid exhaled from the earth into the atmosphere.

In the account of his African explorations just published, Major Serpa Pinto refers at considerable length to the ants encountered in the course of his journeyings. One terrible species is even said by the natives to attack and kill elephants. The savages flee from it in great terror. It is not large, but bites severely, and it swarms in such vast hordes as to completely overwhelm any animal it may meet in the course of its long marches over the country.

M. Flammarion the eminent French astronomer, inclines to the view that comets' tails are not material, but perhaps an excitation—electric or other—of ether. He also calculates that the tail of the comet of 1843, at the distance of the earth from the sun, must have swept space with a velocity of 40,000 miles per second, at which rate no molecule of matter would remain a single instant dependent on solar attraction, moving in a closed orbit around the sun.

The Fleuss diving helmet, which, it will be remembered, enables a diver to take with him to the bottom of the sea sufficient oxygen for breathing several hours, has proven very successful in the experiments made with it thus far. Mr. Fleuss has now devised a lamp upon a similar principle. It is made so that all external air is excluded, the oxygen for the combustion of the spirit being contained within the lamp in a strong tank, while the products from the combustion are allowed to escape through a series of valves opening in water. The lamp has been successfully tested under water, and as a safety lamp in the midst of explosive gases.

M. Pasteur, whose researches in relation to infectious diseases are so well known, is now directing his attention to the subject of rabies. The virus of that disorder of course exists in the saliva, but M. Pasteur has now proved that it does not exist there only. The brain substance also contains it, and, used to inoculate healthy animals, will reproduce the disease as effectively as the saliva. Again, one of the great difficulties in research on rabies arises from the uncertainty of the evil after inoculation or a bite, and the long time of incubation. M. Pasteur is now able to communicate the disease surely, and to shorten considerably the time of incubation. His method is to inoculate directly the surface of the brain, having recourse to trepanation, and using as inoculating matter the celebral substance of a mad dog as pure as possible. In that case the first symptoms of rabies infallibly appear in a week or two, and death ensues in less than three weeks. The results of Pasteur's further investigations will be awaited with unusual interest, in the hope that they may lead to the pointing out of some means of alleviating the sufferings of humanity from this terrible disease, of the nature of which so little is thus far known.

The Cost of World's Exhibitions.

A London paper publishes the following: "Now that the Melbourne Exhibition is over, people are counting the cost, and asking whether the game is worth the candle. As a commercial speculation, of course, it is not, for no exhibition since that suggested by Prince Albert has resulted in anything but loss. The exhibition of 1851 made a profit of £276,000, which was partly expended in land upon which the South Kensington buildings are erected. The Paris Exhibition of 1855 resulted in a loss of £872,000; that of London in 1862 in a loss of £51,470; that of Paris in 1867 in a loss of £379,265; that of Vienna in 1873 in a loss of nearly two millions sterling; that of Philadelphia in 1876 in a loss of £837,256; that of Paris in 1878 in a loss of nearly a quarter of a million, exceeded by that just closed at Melbourne, which cost £339,000, against only £50,000 of receipts. No wonder the practical Yankees gave up their "World's Fair."

The End of the World.

PROGRAMME OF THAT INTERESTING EVENT AS ARRANGED BY AN ITALIAN.

Leonardo Aretine, an Italian of the 14th. century, predicted the end of the world for the 15th of November, 1881. Behold the exact programme of this catastrophe which will happen in a few months:

November 1—The ocean will overflow its shores.

November 2—The earth will be soaked with water.

November 3—The fish in the rivers will die.

November 4—All the water fowl and fish will die.

November 5—The birds in the air will die.

November 6—The houses will fall down.

November 7—The rocks will fall down.

November 8—The earth will tremble.

November 9—The mountains will fall down.

November 10—The men will become speechless.

November 11—The tombs will open,

November 12—The stars will fall.

November 13—All the men and all the women will die.

November 14—The heavens will disappear and the land will be no more.

November 15—A general resurrection and the last judgment.

The Mace.

At this moment the club newly named the mace—is a representative of power—albeit no longer an instrument in warfare. In all narratives of the the Crusades, mention is made of the mace—a powerful oaken staff, heavily weighted with iron, in the shape of a spiked metal ball, at one extremity—with which Richard the Lion-hearted used to crack the sculls of his enemies in battle.

Long after Richard's time, the mace, in a strong hand, was a destructive war-weapon, which none but very strong armor could resist.

After the introduction of gunpowder into European war, in the early part of the fourteenth century, the mace fell into disuse as a weapon of battle. As a symbol of authority, however, it continues in partial use, being borne before civil magistrates, in some countries, as an emblem of power.

In the British House of Commons, for a long time past, the custom has been, when the speaker enters, as presiding officer, to carry before him a richly-ornamented mace of silver gilt, and, until that official has taken his seat and the mace has been placed on the table before him, the House (as it is called) cannot proceed to business.

Many of my readers will recollect, I doubt not, the historical passage, in the middle of the seventeenth century, when Oliver Cromwell, resolved to have his own way, entered the House of Commons, heading an armed force, and, calling on his followers to "take away that bauble" (as he called the mace), thereby summarily dissolving the Long Parliament.

The Secret of Longevity.

Some time during the last century, a man named Villars, in Paris, France, reported that his uncle—who, it was well-known, had lived to his hundredth year, and then died in consequence of an accident—had bequeathed to him a certain preparation which possessed the wonderful, most extraordinary power of prolonging life to an indefinite period—a hundred years at least—provided a person lived with sobriety, and exercised daily in the open air! His friends to whom he distributed his medicine gratuitously, observing the required conditions, received very great benefit from it, and praised it incessantly. Its virtues becoming known, he offered it for sale at a crown a bottle; and the sale was immense. Those who used it, and observed the prescrptions, were speedily restored to health, and Villars became a man of high reputation and prodigious wealth.

The Abbe Pons extolled the Quack, and gave him the preference over the most noted physicians in Paris.

"The latter," he said, "kill men—the former prolongs their existence."

Unfortunately for Villars, if not for the world, it was discovered that his wonderful remedy was composed entirely of water from the River Seine slightly acidulated!

His practice suddenly came to an end, and other specifics, less reasonable and beneficial, were substituted. G. B. G.
