Having more time at his disposal now than he will have then, Mr. Blake desires to know the wishes and lands formerly charged to ordinary exwants of the people, so that when the penditure, but now charged to capital time comes a readjustment worthy of the account. But that is not all; because of name will be made, and the interests of the obligations on railway and canal acthe people will be put above party.

CHARLES R. RAY, Chairman. Three cheers for Mr. Blake were promptly and heartily given, and the Leader of the Opposition, having bowed in acknowledgment, proceeded to address the meeting. He expressed the pleasure he felt in being able to fulfil his promise to visit the Maritime Provinces, with a view of becoming better acquainted with the country and its people, and rejoiced in the prospect of expounding to the latter his views of the public questions of the day. It was natural that his visit should commence at the commercial capital of the Province-a Province which alone did its duty at the last general election. The Province is known as the banner Province, but Ontario will try to take away the banner the next time. It was natural that he should come here, as a quarter in which the Liberal party received not alone quantity, but quality in support of Liberal principles. He would be called upon to make many speeches, and he would, therefore, have to deal in a cursory manner with matters, each of which would require a speech to itself. What, he asked, are the great issues before the country to-day? They are connected with the Revenue and Expenditure, the Tariff, and the Development of the country. The three principal questions are the Pacific Railway. the general Financial Policy of th country and the Fiscal Policy of the country with respect to restriction and protection. He first dealt with the Pacific Railway question as transcending all others in its magnitude. He briefly traced its history from its inception to its being made a statutory responsibility of Canada, by the Conservatives, against the earnest protest of the whole Liberal party. He touched upon the attempts made by the meeting on the political questions of the Conservatives to oblige the Liberals > next dealt with the financial condition We do not propose to give even a summary of Mr. Blake's remarks, because he is shortly to visit the Miramichi, and while he may not present the same facts and figures as at St. John, he will no doubt deal with the standing of them than they now have.
