A MORAL LESSON. - The dismissal of Mr. Justinian Swoy, as fishery officer at Tracadie, is said to have been effected with the aid of the Inspector at St. John at the bidding of the gentlem n who has made base use of Swoy for the furtherance of his own schemes during the past six or seven years and, finally, tired of him when he showed a little indepen dence. Mr. Jeremiah Mazerolle is named as Mr Savoy's successor both in the fishery office and in the questionable position of files Achates to the ex-officer's persecutor. This who'e Savoy business has a moral lesson which should not be lost upon many men in every constituency of the Province.

THE TOM PEPPER OF TABUSINTAC. -Mr John Stymiest of Tabusin ac must be very witty pe son, in his own estimation and he, no doubt, imagin s it is an evdence of ima ense brain-power on his part to play a kind of second-fiddle to the bearin mas of the back-woods. He volunteered the statement, when in town the other day, that a bear had been chased into his lumber camp and ki led there. It now tur s out that Mr. Stymiest made the story out of the terti ity of his giant intellect. The truth is that while some ines we e being an not far from his camp, a loup cervier track was di cover d and followed for ha'f a day by his son, Wi iam and others. who mist ak it for a ear-track, and we presume the father thought he must get square with omeone because his son did know a cat-track from that of a bear Mr. S. had a scared look about him wl he was relating his bear story and if our report r recollects correct'y the old gen tl man's hair sood on end which the imple-minded newspaper man intrepeted to be the result of the scare the bear gave him, but he must have as umed the wretch ed appearance he present d when in town just for the purpose of giving effect to the bear-story. #### Christmas at St. Mary's and St. Paul's Churches.

The usual Christmas services were held in St. Mary's Chapel at 11 a. m. and in St. Paul's Church at 3 p. m. on Christmas Day. The service in St. Mary's was attended by an unusually large congregation, and the Sunday School children sang appropriate carols, before the regular service. A pleasing episode before the carolbegan was the presentation to the Recto of a handsome Christmas gift from the children. The usual service, which con- able. sisted of Morning Prayer, Holy Common. nion and sermon, was very hearty, and the choir performed their part admirably. The music was as follows,- Newcastle Spool Factory Burned. At six o'clock yest rday evening a fire alurm was rung, the fire being in the Newcastle Spool Factory. The fire started at the upper end, somewhere about the addition where the planing machine was situated and at the opposite end from the boiler and drying houses.

When we reached the scene about a quarter of an hour after the alarm was given, the fire had made great headway, and was spreading rapidly through the m in building. Had water been procur able from the fire engine at this im part o the main building and machinery might have been saved, but owing to the distance of the factory from available water. and the time occupied in shifting the engine from the ferry wharf, (where she was first placed but hose would not reach) to a position on the ice in Fish's boom, it was fully three qu rters of an hour before water was thrown on the building, and by that time the main building was destroyed and the boiler and engine house were slightly damaged. The drying house and its contents were saved. There were on the siding in front of the factory some four or five box cars, which had been brought down to load with cases from the factory, one was loaded the other part ia ly so or empty. They were at once run out of danger by willing hands, and then efforts were made to place as many of the cases of spools or spool woodstored outside and close to the buildingout of danger. As these cases are heavy and there was a good deal of snow on the ground, it was pretty hard work, but it was kept at as long as it was possible to endure the heat. The factory was not at work yesterday, Mr. Russell and his men b ing absent loading cars with birch for use in the factory. The loss, including about a thousand dollars worth of finished stuff, is estimated at between ten and welve thousand dollars. Insurance $5-000. Fortunate'y, the bank building did service as a barrier against the spread of the fire eastward or the results might have been more serious. Those burned out are as follows, -

the fire authorities look into this matter.

Many citizens did splendid work as volunteer firemen and made up for some shortcomings in the public fire service. Goods were removed quickly from Messrs. Johnson and Stothart's premises by fr ends, but nothing whatever could be saved for any of the others, so rap d was the progress of the fire. An explosion of gas in Johnson's store blew the front of the estab ishment, shutters, glass and a l, into the middle of the street, inflicting slight injuries on several persons, including Mr. Jeremith Mahoney and George B. Fras r, Esq, and burning gable-timbers of Stot art's store fell just as Mr. Thomas Cornish was coming out with a lot of goods he was saving, injuring his back and cutting his face slightly. The losses of those who were without insurance were quite heavy and inc.uded some valuable papers of estates,

Mr. Murray lost $250 in cash and Miss Staples $100.

The members of the Club heartily enjoyed the game on Christmas Day, the single men, feeling their strength, having challenged the Benedicts to the fray. The latter accepted, although they felt that as four regular skips of the club who were with them last year would be absent on Christmas Day, they would be at a dei'ed disadvantage.
