PERSONAL .- Mr. W. J. Fowler, of Doak town, has been awarded the Douglas Gold Medal this year at the Fredericton University. He is also the winner of the Mathematical Scholarship.

Dr. J. F. McCurdy left here by Wed. nesday morning's train for Rimouski, en route for Germany, where he intends to continue his stu of the German language.

Honors.-We understand Alumni Gold Medal has been awarded to Mr. W. Bliss Carman of this city. The medal is given for the best latin essay, and has long been looked upon as the blue ribbon of the University. We congratulate Mr. Carman on his distinguished success which gives him high standing as a classical scholar .- F'ton Capital.

Mr. Carman is a nephew of Richard Carman, Esq., of Chatham.

OBITUARY .- Mrs. Wm. Gremely, well known to Northern readers, died at her residence in Newcastle on Monday last, after a brief illness. The deceased lady who was highly esteemed by many friends in the north, was a native of Bandon, Ireland, and came out to this country about fifty-five years ago. She was a consistent and honored member of the Methodist Church. The funeral took place yesterday afternoon, and was attended by a goodly number of the citizens The Rev. Thos. Pierce conducted the services at the house; the Rev. Mr Teed read the prayers at the grave. The Rev. Mr. Howard was also present .-Advocate.

SERENADE. - Hon. P. Mitchell left for Montreal on Friday. An hour or two before his departure Stewart's Cornet Band proceeded to the residence of Jas. Mitchell, Esq., where they serenaded our representative, playing a number of selections. Mr. M. thanked the members for their kindness in giving him such a gratifying surprise, and complimented them upon the public spirit manifested by them in organizing the Band. He presented to them, through Major Call, a handsome donation to aid them in defraying the expenses of the Band, and to assist in its further improvement, for which the members returned Mr. M. their hearty thanks. The Band were afterwards very kindly entertained by Mr. & Mrs. James Mitchell. -Advocate.

ANOTHER. - When Mr. Adams abused Mr. Smith at the Chatham meeting of 5th inst. the latter gentleman made no attempt to reply and yet the Advocateone of whose editors was present-made the misstatement that he did so and was not allowed a hearing. On last Monday evening Mr. Smith did not attempt to address the meeting in reply to Mr. Adams' deputy, Mr. Tweedie, because there was really nothing in all the latter's grimaces and venom meriting anything but the interruptions and contempt with which Mr. Smith and others treated them. But the Advocate says, -Smith attempted to reply to Tweedie, but was hooted down It is probable that Mr. Tweedie's asso ciates in the Hall would have hooted Mr. Smith or any other gentleman down at that hour, for the whiskey was doing its work about that time, yet as Mr. Smith did not do any more than call for three cheers for Mr. Troy and the Chairman of the meeting, which were so heartily responded to, it is hardly fair for the Advocate to again misrepresent him. If of the meeting we are quite sure that Mr.

AN ASSAULT CASE. -On Monday morn. ing last Capt. Joseph P. Murphy, of the brigt. Mary J. Wilbur, went into the Counting Room of J. B. Snowball, Esq. and asked for his bills of lading, saying he desired to sign them. They were placed before him in triplicate, whereupon he folded one and placed it in his pocket and then refused to sign the others, starting, at the same time, towards the door. He was, however, intercepted by the doors being locked. Mr. Snowball, who was not yet in the office, was telephoned for and soon appeared. He requested Capt. Murphy to restore the property he had possessed himself of and the latter, with an oath, refused to doso. Mr. Snowball then gave him notice that he proposed to take the paper, and in doing so was obliged to use some force. Captain Murphy soon cried for quarter and meekly handed back Mr. Snowball's property, when he was allowed to depart. He afterwards charged Mr. S. with assault and battery. Mr. Snowball, as any sensible man would do under the circumstances, pleaded guilty and paid the fine. We understand Capt. Murphy has determined that he will never endeavor to obtain papers from Mr. Snowball's office in that way again.

Our despatch says. "The Nova Scotia Counties in which results are doubtful are Halifax, Hants Guysboro, Richmond, Victoria, and the second seat in Cape Breton, Halifax is a close vote and it seems likely that neither party will carry their whole ticket. The local Government in Nova Scotia is probably defeated.

THE UPPER PROVINCES As far as heard from Ontario has elected 40 Government, 27 Opposition; Quebec, 29 Government, 13 Opposition; P. E. Island, 2 Government and 4 Opposition. The above excludes seats by using the language of a blackguard and acclamation. Blake and Mackenzie are elected

Cartwright and Huntington are defeat-

The Maritime Provinces are about ally divided between the two parties. Putting all the returns available together there appears to be a majority of 46 for the Government, which will probably be increased with the returns yet to come in.

The Assembly Election.

We give, this week, a pretty full report of the proceedings at Newcastle Court House, on Thursday last, when the several candidates engaged in the present contest for the representation of Northumberland in the Provincial Assembly were nominated. The in disposition of Mr. Hutchison was matter of general regret. He was suffering from a severe cold which so affected his voice as to render a speech from him impossible. Mr. Gillespie spoke briefly and gave no offence whatever to the Government side. Mr. Troy acquitted himself with great credit, dividing the honors of the occasion with Mr. Burchiil. The manly declarations of these two gentlemen were creditable alike to themselves and the County. The Surveyor General's speech-whether the language as it fell from his lips, as it was reported in the local papers which are his organs or as it is as faithfully presented as decency will permit in these columns-was one which must cause a feeling of regret among all who desire to see the acrimony and bitterness which seem to be inseparable Mr. Tweedie is satisfied with the result from all political contests, restrained within reasonable limits. Mr. Adams has thought proper to give to his tongue a license in the canvass—to employ language and exhibit a temper-illbecoming any man representing the people, and much less a member of the Government of the Province. But it was on Nomination day that he excelled himself in this respect, directing gross personal abuse, the vilest epithets and the most outrageous charges against a gentleman who was present in the capacity of a press reporter. He made the most palpable efforts to excite the worst feelings of the few men in the audience who were in full sympathy with him, and if he could have raised their courage (if such men are capable of that quality) to the desired point. there can be little doubt but he would have been glad to have seen them do personal violence to the object of his ferocious and disgusting attacks.

Actuated by a sense of the outrage the Surveyor-General was perpetrating, several gentlemen suggested that he address himself to public matters and settle his personal affairs elsewhere, when his claquers drowned these proper suggestions by their clamours. Then the editor of the ADVANCE, who was being attacked, rose and desired that no man interfere, asking that Mr. Adams be allowed to proceed to the close of his speech, when he (the editor) would claim the right to be heard in his defence. This right would, we venture to say, not be denied in any tion Dr. VAN BUREN, of Germany, finally | place claiming to be a centre of respectable political importance. The of Kidney Disease. Mackenzie, not blunted, anxious that all reasonable opportunity for defence should be afforded to the person so grosely assailed, but none of these considerations prevailed. Mr. Adams triumphed for ish Emigration Aid Society, the following | the time, but it was a triumph which no honorable man ought to have accepted and of which the men who represent 5.00 the best public sentiment of Newcastle are, we feel assured, heartily ashamed. Mr. Troy, having arranged to address a meeting of the electors at Masonic Hall, Chatham, on Monday evening last, the editor of the ADVANCE obtained his permission to occupy the platform after that gentleman had finished his speech. Mr. Smith notified the Surveyor General on Saturday of his intention to speak on Monday evening, and defend himself against the attacks made upon him, and received a reply, quite characteristic of the man, in which he stated he could not be present, owing to previously made en agements accompanying this information, offensive words which he may some day know enough to be ashamed of

When Mr. Troy had finished his address, which was one characterised by moderation and soundness of principle, one or two would-be leading men of Chatham-one of the delegates of the Valley Railway with a half-dozen persons, some of whom have since apologised to the editor and pleaded behave as decently as such persons are capable of doing. Mr. Smith spoke for about an hour and a half, presenting facts backed up by figures and documentary evidence disproving such statements of the Surveyor-General as that gentleman had made with a view of affecting the facts put forth in these columns, from time to time, in reference to the course pursued in different public matters by the Government and by Mr. Adams as a representative of the County and member of the Govern ment. Mr. Smith also argued that the attacks of Mr. Adams should be re sented by the press, because they were in the nature of intimidation and made with the evident intention of preventing the proper discussion of public matters. Mr. Smith's defence was conceived in a spirit of fairness, and was Globe free from any attempt to retort in kind upon the Surveyor General, whose violence, coarse language and abusive epithets were referred to only as matters of regret, personally degrading to the hon, gentleman who had resorted to them, to the County he represented and in ill-keeping with the dignity of

Mr. Tweedie took the platform when Mr. Smith had concluded and after making some extraordsnary attempts to prove that gentleman inconsistent, proceeded to employ towards Mr. Smith, almost as vile and abusive language as his friend the Surveyor-General had done in Chatham and elsewhere. Mr. Smith interrupted him, told him he was that he had come to the meeting to dirty it and mar its good feeling and that he ought not to be listened to Mr. Tweedie proceeded amid some interruptions from numbers whose sense of propriety he was offending, and at the close repaid Mr. Troy's courtesy to him by proposing three cheers for his friends. Adams and Park, which were responded to by three for Mr. Troy, and three for the Chairman, Mr. Snowball. Our report of Mr. Smith's defence of himself and the ADVANCE against the Surveyor-General's attacks, and Mr. I weedie's "criticisms" thereon, is held over, as we have not space for so much matter this week. We give the Survevor General a hearing in our columns, by publishing his speech at Newcastlea courtesy which neither he nor any of his claquers or organs would extend to We desire that the differences be ween the Government and the ADVANCE should be fought out squarely and we are content to give even the man who has so vilified us every fair play.

Politics at Doaktown

DOAKTOWN, June 12th, 1882. To the Editor of the Miramichi Advance DEAR SIR, -Mr. Burchill held a public meeting here and addressed the electors of the place on the necessity of sweeping reforms in our Legislature and Government and the reduction of public expenses' especially in and about Fredericton. His remarks were well received, and great demonstrations of approval were made. reform, and showed the necessity of the Miramichi Valley R. R. and the insin- and I would be a mad man to propose cerity of the Government in reference such things.' thereto. He criticised the Obstruction

Company and its doings. The Chairman, Wm. Swim, Esq., then rose and astonished the meeting by exposing and showing that the so called Directors not only do not want the Road built, but had actually petitioned against anyone else doing it. He proved that Mr. Adams Secretary to the Directors in 1875 when he (Swim) was a member in the House, telegraphed to the Government not to give the build ing of the Valley Road to anyone else, or any Company other than themselves, as they were now taking up subscriptions to defray expenses of Survey. R at $5,000 per mile, and were it not for the present Obstruction Company the Road would have been built and running two

He also showed that Mr. Gibson offered to build the road for four per cent on the money invested for ten years, which would be a little more than the subsidy now granted, but that Mr. Adams and others, the interest of these self-constituted Directors, did not accept. He produced proof of these things, showing documents and letters to back up his words. Amongst them was a copy of a petition signed, "R. R. Call, President," showing that he had, in the name of the Directors, protested against any others being allowed to build the read. He said that he had retired from public life for the present. and had not intended to drag these things to the light of day, but for the fact that Mr. Adams, at a meeting held in thi place a few days ago- at which he not present-brought his name in disparagingly in connection with the Miramichi Valley R. R. He showed that our hopes for a R. R. were poorer than ever and growing more so year by year as the resources of the County were being exhausted; not even the right of way was being sought. He went on to say that Mr. Adams told the people if they wanted a R. R. to subscribe stock and get it built. The so-called Company never offered a stock list to anyone for subscription, while they pretend to hold the charter and will take no steps themselves, nor get out of the way to let others go on. in fact some of the Directors do not want the Road built, because it was against their interests and 'twas time the people knew it, for the reasons that some have steamboat interests it would damage, others have lumbering interests it would interfere with and they can drive harder bargains with people in the present condition of things than with a R. R. running through the country. He did not wish to be so plain, but plain speaking was best : both sides should be heard and let the people judge for themselves. The meet-

Mr. Boden showed, amidst great applause, that Mr. Anglin had faithfully doing his duty, while Mr. Costigan had allowed Sir John to "gerrymander "the resolutions. Mr. Griffiths finding that he could not refute this state ment, considered it necessary to retail some old exploded slanders against Messrs. Anglin and Burpee. CAVENDISH -- A BRAVE WOMAN. The London Datly News recounts the grief of the Cavendish family on the receipt of the awful news :-The Marquis of Hartington, who bore himself with remarkable composure, found Mr. Gladstone, with whom the deceased lord was ever a favorite, strongly agitated and paralyzed almost with astonishment at the sad catastrophe. Mr. Gladstone. accompanied by Mrs. Gladstone, the Marquis of Hartington, and Lady Louise Egerton, then drove direct to the residence of Lord Frederick Cavendish in Carlton who fortunately had not left town, was that evening, was in the drawing room at the time when the party arrived with the monrnful information. It was then between 11 and 12 o'clock, and it was in the drawing-room that the shocking news was unfolded to her by Lady Egerton and the Prime Minister. The scene which took place was one of a most painful character. The bereaved lady on hearing of the untimely death of her noble husband, told to her though it was without any revelation of the hideous details of the foul crime, almost swooned in the arms of the grief-stricken relatives and friends who stood around. She, however, with wonderful self-command soon recovered from the wild outbursts of grief, and be came more composed, though her condi tion was distressing in the extreme. The Marquis of Hartington, although he entered the house, yet never saw Lady Frederick, fearing that the meeting would be of too painful a character .-About half-past eleven Earl Granville, wh had been in the meantime informed of what had happened in Dublin, called, at the house, and remained there some time endeavoring with others to assuage the grief of her ladyship. > According to statistics recently worked out, one railway traveller is killed in France for each 1,600,000,000 kilometres (about 994.250.000 miles) run, which is a distance equal to 40,000 times the length of a voyage round the world. This excursion, the computer adds, would last during 3,044 years travelling day and night at the rate of 60 kilometres (37.28 miles) per hour. Allowing sixty years to be the average lifetime in store for a healthy man, it follows that before he could b killed by a ra'lway accident, according to the law of probabilities he would have died a natural death fifty times.

M. Grehaut has made a series of experiments which convince him that death caused by alcohol when the proportion o absolute alcohol in the blood is equal to the hundredth part of the latter; that the condition known as "dead drunk" exists when the alcohol imbibed ceases to be ab sorbed and the blood presents the propor tion of one part of alcohol to 195 of blood -more than one-half the fatal quantity. This observer thinks that if fewer deaths occur from drunkenness than might b expected it is because drunkards stop drinking before the fatal proportion of alcohol in the blood has been reached.

The Original Home of the Horse.

There is no doubt that the original hom

of the horse is not Europe, but Centra Asia; for since the horse in its natural state depends upon grass for its nourish ment and fleetness for its weapon, it could not, in the beginning, have thriven and multiplied in the thick forest-grown terri tory of Europe. Much rather should its nations of riders of which we have historic knowledge, the Mongolians and the Turks, whose existence even at this day is as were combined with that of the horse From these regions the horse spread in all directions, especially into the Steppes of Southern and Southeastern Russia and into other parts of Europe, but not until assumption is, at least, strongly favored Europe is from those Asiatic Steppes, 1. e. from the original home of the horse, the later does the tamed horse seem to hav made its historic appearance in it. Th supposition is further confirmed by th fact that horse-raising among almost every tribe appears as an art derived from neighboring tribes in the East or North east. Even in Homer the ox appears exclusively as the draught animal in land operations at home and in the field, while the horse was used for purposes of war only. Its employment in military operations was determined by swiftness alone That the value of the horse must originally have depended on its fleetness, can easily be inferred from the name which is repeat-Portland prison, and I am very sorry I ed in all the branches of the Indo-European language, and signifies nearly "hastening," "quick." The same fact is exemplified by the descriptions of the oldest poets, who next to its courage, speak most of its swiftness .- Popular Science Monthly for June.

Railroad Sociability.

"Speaking about the sociability railroad travellers,' said the man with crutches and a watch pocket over eve -- "I never got so acquainted with the passengers on a train, as I did the other day on the Milwaukee and St Paul railroad. We were all thrown into each other's society, and prought into immediate social contract so ap of a corpulent lady from Manitoba, and girl from Chicago jumped over nine seats and sat down on the plug hat of a preacher from La Cross, with so much timid, girl. ish enthusiasm that it shoved his hat clear down over his shoulders.

"Everybody seemed to lay aside the usual cool reserve of strangers, and we made our selves entirely at home.

"A shy young man with an emaciated valise, left his own seat, and went over and sat down in a lunch basket where a bridal couple seemed to be wrestling with their first picnic. Do you suppose that reticent young man would have done such a thing on ordinary occasions! Do you think if he had been at a celebration at home, that he would have risen impetuously, and gone where those people were eating by them. selves, and sat down in the cranberry jelly of a total stranger?

"I should rather think not."

"Why one old man, who probably at me led the class meeting and who was as dignified as Roscoe Conkling's father, was eating a piece of custard pie, when we met the other train, and he left his own seat, and went over to the front end of the car and stabbed that piece of custard pie, into
