A HIGHLY CONCENTRATED EXTRACT OF
RED JAMAICA SARSAPARILLA
AND TH
DOUBLE IODIDES.

Space forbids the giving more testimony in this place, in favor of this great medicine. Is not one certificate, however, from an eminent and well-known Physician like Dr Bessey, of Montreal, sufficient to establish its superiority over the numerous mixtures called Blood Purifiers offered by Druggists and others?

T. C. STRATTON, Esq.
Montreal, Feb. 1st, 1877.

I cannot but regard the formula from which Dr. Channing's Sarsaparilla is prepared, as one of the best possible combinations to constitute an effectual remedy, for the cure of Blood Impurities. So far as my experience leads me with this remedy, I can testify to its great value in the treatment of all Strumous and Cachectic affections, as Glanduiar Enlargements, and a wide range of skin affections; as a reliable preparation for general use as a blood purifier, I know of none equal to it, combining as it does, all the imputed virtues of Sarsaparilla, and several cther valuable remedies, with the extraordinary alterative properties of the "Double Iodides," and of none that can be more highly recommended as safe, certain and reliable, and I have every confidence that such a remedy for general use, taking the place of the many worthless nostrums of the day, will be a great boon to suffering humanity, and its use will be attended with the most satisfactory results. It should be invaluable to persons beyond the reach of medical advice, and will, no doubt, become pcpular with Medical men throughout the country.

Respectfully yours,
W. E. BESSEY, M.D
Beaver Hall Square.

NOTE.—Dr. Channing's Sarsaparilla is put up in large bottles, with the name blown in the Glass, and retails at $1.00 per bottle, or Six Bottles for Five Dollars. Sold by Druggists generally, and most Country Stores. Be sure, and ask for Dr. Channing's Sarsaparilla and take no other. If not readily obtained in your locality, address the General Agent.

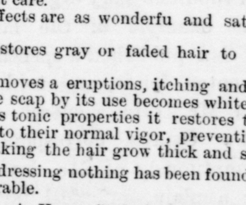
HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.



This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderfu and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthfu color.

It removes a eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scap by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capiary, glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its ntended purposes."

Buckingham's Dye, For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any iother undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being in one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Miramichi Advance,

CHATHAM, - - - MARCH 16, 1882.

Invective.

An author writing to a critic vented his wrath upon him in choice and grammatical English as follows:—

"Sir: you have behaved like an impetiginous scroyle! Like those inquinate, crass sciolists who, envious of my moral celsitude, carry their nugacity to the height of creating symposically the facund words, which my polymathic genius uses with uberty to abligate the tongues of the weetless! Sir, you have crassly parodied my own pet words, as though they were tangrams. I will not concervate reproaches—I would obduce a veil over the atramental ingratitude which has chamfered even my undiscerptible heart. I am silent on the foscillation which my coadjuvancy must have given you when I offered to become your fautor and adminicle. I will not speak of the lippitude, the ablepsy, you have shown in exacerbating me—one whose geinus you should have approached with mental discalceation. So I tell you, sir, syncophically, and without supervasaneous words, nothing will render ignoscible your conduct to me. I warn you that I would vellicate your nose, if I thought that any moral diathrosis could be thereby performed. If I thought that I should not impignorate my reputation by such a digtadiation. Go! tachygraphic scroyle, band with your crass, inquinate fautors—draw oblectations from the thought, if you can, of having synachronically lost the existimation of the greatest poet since Milton, and drawn upon your head this letter, which will drive you to Walker, and send you to sleep over it. Knowledge is power, and power is mercy—so I wish you no worse than it may prove an eternal hypnotic.

We suggest the above to the World when it next wishes to express itself concerning the ADVANCE. The style is far ahead of that of our neighbor, for it is not calculated to deprave the minds of the young, or disgust the thoughtful citizen.

ONE PROTECTIONIST.—That the Sugar Refining business is a good one, under the tariff, cannot be denied. Mr. Peter Redpath, the great Montreal refiner, has purchased Chiselhurst, lately the home of the Empress Eugenie, and is about to remove thither. Here, now, is one of the great benefits of the Policy. It enables the monopolist to grow enormously wealthy, and that being accomplished he leaves the country with his wealth and lives in Europe like an Emperor.

TWO OF A KIND.—The New York Herald has an article on Sir Leonard Tilley's budget speech. It says:

"The new national policy in Canada, or, in other woods, the high tariff policy, is, according to Sir Leonard Tilley, accomplishing wonders in that country. In the opinion of this distinguished statesman it is doing as much for the Dominion as our tariff is for the United States. What that is we all know. It fills the treasury with money wrung from the people. So does the Canadian tariff. It increases the cost to the working man and woman of all the necessaries of life. So does the Canadian tariff. It builds up the most outrageous monopolies, and, under the pretence of helping the working man, makes him every year poorer and poorer. The Canadian tariff, if not repealed, will produce the same results."

STARTLING EPISODE.—Henry Ward Beecher lectured in the Music Hall, Chicago, one evening last month, on "The moral uses of luxury and beauty.' After speaking half an hour and having quoted the scriptural passage "How hardly shall they that have riches enter the kingdom of God," he suddenly stopped, his eyes became fixed, his complexion turned marble white, and his hands clinched. He stood in this position without uttering a word for nearly a minute. The audience was spell-bound, but was aroused by a gentleman near the stage shouting "Catch Mr. Beecher, he is fainting." Beecher's body was swinging to and fro and he was about to fall as a gentleman on the platform sprang to his assistance and led him to a chair. A glass of water was brought and it partly revived the sufferer. The audience dispersed. Mr. B. had been unwell for two or three days.

A SINGULAR QUESTION.—A fresh and rather embarrassing subject has been provided for Convocation in England by a clergyman who seeks a recognition of the legality of concubinage. The application appears to be perfectly bona fide, and is in the nature of an appeal from the Bishop of London, who declined to admit the lawfulness of the relations into which the applicant had entered, and virtually excommunicated him on account of them.—That the law of England recognizes no such tie would probably not be regarded by the petitioner as an adequate answer, for his case is stated with exclusive reference to the laws and canons of the Church. He argues that the lower form of marriage was expressly permitted in the early Church, and has never been forbidden by the Church of England. The divines to whom this knotty point has been submitted have hitherto excused themselves from considering it, on the plea of business or some such pretext, and it is supposed that the Convocation will follow their example.

The Fishery Bounty.

The Nova Scotia fisherman are told that the proposed fishery bounty is for them but the Halifax Chronicle is not at all satisfied over the matter and is as unthankful as the New Brunswick fishermen themselves are. It says:—Notwithstanding the protests of our Local Legislature and the luminous explanations of Mr. Holmes, Sir Leonard Tilley refused three years ago to consider favorably the propriety of giving bounties to fisherman out of the millions awarded to Canada at Halifax, or even of returning to the Provinces, in proportion as their interests were affected by the award, the moneys received and held by the Federal authorities. Apparently he has now changed his mind, though without pressure from the Provinces, and the sum of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars appears in the estimates for fishing bounties. Unquestionably it will be voted. Whether it will be expended depends upon many contingencies. Whence has come this change of heart in the Minister of Finance? Is it the result of brooding over the arguments of Mr. Holmes, or of the feelings awakened by the approach of a general election? Of the latter we fear, much as we are disposed to admire every effort of our Local Premier. This hint, for it amounts to little more, of an intention to partially recognize the claims of one of the most industrious and neglected classes in the Dominion, will, in the belief of Sir Leonard, serve Conservative interests in the way they are usually served. The mode of distributing the bounties, provided they are not retained in the care of Sir Leonard, will be left for some time a mystery, in order to awaken hopes that cannot be fulfilled, which, in their turn, will form a groundwork for promises made to be broken. Individuals and localities will look forward for their shares with eyes of faith. Shore fishers and deep sea fishers, salmon, cod, mackerel, etc., fishers, owners of small boats and those of the stately schooners, large and little exporters, all will trust in Providence and Sir Leonard, not forgetting the Minister of Marine and Fisheries, for wealth for which the only bait they will need will be votes. Others will be inflamed with the hopes of offices; for these must be created. Commissioners to enquire, inspectors to report, paymasters to disburse, clerks to ascertain the utmost limits of divisibility of one hundred and fifty thousand dollars, all these will seem, to the unskilled eye, civil officers not to be dispensed with, and whose commissions will be in the gift of the present Ministers. Sir Leonard thinks, as we have said, that here he has found cheap, yet powerful, aids to the Conservative canvass. He may save the money, and yet get from its mere mention all the benefits, more than all, in fact, that could be reaped from its most profligate expenditure.

From such a matter of Tory election tactics, acting under the advice of Sir John, we differ only for one reason. "We do not despise the sagacity of the fishermen any more than we underrate their integrity." We think they are fully aware that "soft words butter no parsnips," and remember that Ministers are to be judged by their acts. Why has the bounty grant (promise of it) been delayed? No principle prevented Ministers from giving it in reality at any time since they came into office, for they have subsidized other interests through the tariff with excessive liberality. They have taken from the fishermen money to build up the manufacturing and railway lords. They have held in their possession funds to a large part of which fisherman had at least an equitable claim, yet only at this eleventh hour do they pretend to proffer them any position of approach to equality with their more favored fellow citizens. Taken in connection with their years of neglect of oppression, the attitude Ministers now assume is positively insulting to the fishermen. They, Dr. Tupper with the rest, forgot them except when taxes had to be imposed. Then they remembered them with a vengeance. Their flour, meal, light, clothing, ropes, anchors, sails, whatever entered into their use was regarded as a fitting article to be made to perform the arduous duty of filling the monopolists' pockets and adding to the revenue. Now, they are half promised one hundred and fifty thousand dollars for one year from a treasury claimed to contain millions of surplus, and they are expected to be contented, and support Ministers. The application of this salve, it is supposed, will heal the past irritations of years of all the fishermen of all the Provinces.

Had Sir Leonard's attention been more engrossed by the condition of the fishermen, and not been exclusively devoted to a search for tall chimneys, he might have been better acquainted with the way to seek for votes in many quarters. He would have found men depending for their livelihood almost totally on an export trade for which he was doing no good, to which he was doing much harm, and heard them wondering why he could not have spared at least their bread in his efforts for protection. He would have felt their wrath that, for the sake of persons with whom they had no dealings, the cost of their living was increased in all directions. A determination on his part to put an end to this unfair discrimination, followed up by an immediate abandonment of his protective policy, might have disarmed their hostility.—But he did not, will not give them fair play. He will not win them now by a favor paltry and doubtful.

How an Alligator Eats.

An alligator's throat is an animated sewer. Everything which lodges in his open mouth goes down. He is a lazy dog, and instead of hunting for something to eat, he lets his victuals hunt for him. That is, he lies with his great mouth open, apparently dead, like the possum. Soon a bug crawls into it, then a fly, then several gnats and a colony of mosquitoes. The alligator don't close his mouth yet. He is waiting for a whole drove of things. He does his eating by wholesale. A little later a lizard will cool himself under the shade of the upper jaw. Then a few frogs will hop up to catch the mosquitoes and gnats light on the frogs. Finally a whole village of insects and reptiles settle down for an afternoon picnic. Then all at once there is an earthquake. The big jaw falls, the alligator slyly blinks one eye, gulps down the entire menagerie and opens his great front door again for more visitors.—Florida Letter.

The Sanitary Engineer.

The recognized authority on all matters relating to Public Health, Food and Drug Adulteration, Drainage and Water Supply, Steam and Hot Water Heating, Plumbing and Gas Fitting, Gas and Electric Lighting, Heating and Ventilation:

Questions on any of these subjects will be answered in the columns of the Sanitary Engineer, free of charge.

The opinions of this journal upon all technical subjects are either prepared or revised by specialists.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

This journal has become the leading authority in this country upon sanitary questions.—Ohio Medical Journal.

The SANITARY ENGINEER shows an excellent appreciation of what may be done in the field of Sanitary Engineering, and a practical capability for doing it.—New York Tribune.

Our excellent contemporary THE SANITARY ENGINEER, bye the bye, is hereafter to be published weekly, a token of prosperity that is especially gratifying as a proof of public appreciation of the very useful work which our contemporary has done for the public.—New York World.

The excellent paper published in this city, and called THE SANITARY ENGINEER, might add to its title that of the Practical Philanthropist, for such it proves itself to be in its constant and clear exposure of the wrongs and dangers of many of our domestic and municipal arrangements.—Harper's Weekly.

Prof. Chandler, when delivering a popular and most telling lecture on sanitation, lately at the Cooper Institute, advised his hearers to subscribe to the SANITARY ENGINEER, a publication devoted to sanitation in all its phases. It contains the best thoughts of the best trained Sanitarians of the period.—Congregationalist.

Mr. John Walter, of the London TIMES, has addressed a letter to the editor of the SANITARY ENGINEER, of this city, requesting an opinion as to the system of ventilating sewers by perforations or open gratings in the streets. The compliment paid to American sanitary engineering by Mr. Walter's letter is most flattering; but that it is deserved will not be questioned by those familiar with the merits of the authority Mr. Walter consulted.—New York Com'l Advertiser.

The Sanitary Engineer is for sale by all newsdealers in the United States and Canada. Single Copies 7 Cents. Terms, Three Dollars per year, in advance, postage paid. Published every Thursday at 140 William Street, New York.
