These gentlemen are before me now: Truthful Peter, Sincere Daniel and Honest | tricts in New Brunswick is there, and Mike, they are the men who joined the Government, they condemned, and they have no business to charge others with pamphlets showing the advantages of our inconsistency. Even if Mr. Ritchie supported the Government on the Grand Southern matter in 1879, he can justify his act quite as well as Mr. Elder, who voted against them on that question. Mr. Ritchie did support the Government in 1879, he had a good right to oppose them when he found them corrupt and duty in letting the Dominion have control unfit for confidence. I must congratulate the Surveyor General on the length of his speech, though I cannot say much as to

that there never had been such a Surveyor General as himself. He might have left it for his colleagues to praise him up, instead of doing so himself. PENNY-WISE AND POUND-FOOLISH. He gave us statistics about the settlements, but, Mr. Speaker, some of the free grants settlements were in your day, trial, and this all will admit ought not to though he claims credit for it. This is all be tolerated. All the people are opposed very well about the free grants and labor to the hatchery, and the fish are decreasing acts, but when we see that the Surveyor in consequence of the bad management of General showed the revenue from the the Dominion Government. The them, must see the necessity of having same thing was also done in Restigouche. this matter brought to a final issue. Yet people, after reading the Surveyor General's speech, and not knowing the state of things, will say what an excellent Surveyor General we have. I say that it is wrong and bad policy to sell so much of the substance of the Province for the sake of raising a little money. I hope the Government will not continue to do this. CROOKED CROWN LANDS TRANSACTIONS. The poor man does not get this land, but him of course, and the member for Norit comes into the hands of speculators. I thumberland is also going to be elevated. attended a sale last summer at the Crown I will now refer to the Grand Southern Land Office. A gentleman came here and attended the sale. The first lot sold for the high price of $7.01. Through the Surveyor General, whoever he was collusion with, the other lots were withdrawn, though that gentleman would have paid $5 for them. The lands were re-advertised, and the money has not been got for them yet. Hon. Mr. Adams-The lands were withdrawn because I was informed that the applications were fictitious names. They were re-advertised, and a combination was then formed, and I would not sell the lands at $1 an acre.

Mr. Barberie-This is not so, and I am prepared to prove it. How does the Surveyor General know that the names were fictitious? When did he discover it? SELF-PRAISE.

The gentleman I refer to came all the way from Montreal to attend the sale, and was willing to pay $5 an acre. The Surveyor General says he did more travelling than you, Mr. Speaker, but I will say this sir, that I have seen you in Restigouche oftener than I have seen him. I have not seen him, or the Chief Commissioner in our county for two years. The Surveyor General could get up to the silver mines in Gloucester, but could not go and visit the poor free grant settlers in Restigouche. The Surveyor General and Chief Commissioner should go through every county to see the settlements, and examine the bridges. If they have not time to do so. others would be found who would have time. The Chief Commissioner paid a flying visit to our county once and went through it like a nighthawk. He might have a look at our bridges now and then and at least give us the benefit of the light of his countenance. Your expenses when Surveyor General, should have been heavier, for you visited our county more; you visited our county twice in a year

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL. Talk about this Legislative Council business. At the time of the election, 1878, there was considerable talk of abolishing it. At the opening of that new House there were a good many green independent, so the Government pretend. | turned without opposition. ed that they would abolish the Legislative Council, and that they would retrench. Notice of Dissolution of How nicely the Legislative Council busiernment then with being insincere and keeping seats open in the Council has a dangling before their eyes. The Government held out the pretence that they would abolish the Legislative Council, but they did not take the proper means to do so, but only the proper means to deceive certain of their supporters. Why, they have built a chamber for the Council in this building. The article in the Telegraph yesterday about the Govern ment and Legislative Council in Nova Scotia will apply with equal force to this Province. I will venture to say that the Government were misleading the House from the first, and have been doing so up to the present time in this matter. The Province has been long enough imposed on, and if the Government are going to impose on the House the sooner the people know it the better, and we will never have a correct state of things until we have a new state of things from beginning

THE FISHERIES.

I wish to say a word about the inland fisheries. They belong to the province, and the Government have been lax in their of them. I want the Provincial Government to demand from the Dominion every cent that has been obtained from leasing its depth. I thought from his remarks these fisheries. We want more than a conversation, we want something in black and white, and an answer to that. Why don't our Government take a stand ?-Just look at the Restigouche where the poor men, though aggrieved, cannot afford to go to law. The fishery officers are given tyrannical powers; they can take a man's net and incarcerate him without a minion Government own a stone in that some correspondence regarding it the

THE GRAND SOUTHERN.

The leader of the Opposition, Mr. Ritchie and I contended that the Government had no right in point of law to pay the subsidies to the Grand Southern, and the judgment of the court shows that we were correct. The Provincial Secretary last year asked the House to suspend their judgment until the matter was decided by the highest court in the land .-The Government ventured to pay the money on a judgment of Judge Palmer's. though I contend they should wait until the court decided they had a right to pay the money. If the Government had a right to do this, they might as well come and inform the House that they have found out a law by which they can do anything they want to.

DUTY TO ONE'S COUNTRY.

When we are here we have duties to perform, and honorable members should perform those duties independently of party; and no honorable gentleman should place himself in such a position that his tongue is tied. Oh, Mr. Speaker, there is too much of this done. It is a serious matter and I would not on any account stand in such a position. I regret that the member for Westmoreland and the Chief Commissioner were so easily caught by the chaff of the wilv leader of the Council. Why, when I was elected, I thought we would all be together. I they could show me that they went in for the sake of the country, I might support them but I am afraid they went in from a desire to write "honorable" before their names, and $2,000 a year extra. If they think they went in from pure motives. must sympathize with them, but I feel satisfied that these gentlemen would prefer leaving their records better. I can almost see by the Chief Commissioner's face that he feels guilty. True, he says he went back to his constituents, and they washed away all his political sins and gave him absolution. The Surveyor General and Chief Commissioner got gazetted and went back and told their constituent that they had taken office to serve them that they would get them everything they backers round, they called themselves | wanted, and that is the way they got re-
