FURNITURE EMPORIUM

The Golden Ball Boot and Shoe Store is the oldest established in Miramichi. It is now ffteen years since we commenced business exclusively in the above line, and we can now point with pleasure, to hosts patrons, who have invariably, purchased from us, during that length of time. The reason is plain. We buy entirely from the best manufacturers, consequently our goods give satisfaction. We might purchase cheap, shoddy goods (that are only meant to sell and not to wear) but by pursuing that policy, it would be impossible to retain our customers. The best goods are the cheapest in the end.

Disease in Winnipeg. The correspondent of a Toronto paper "The change of the seasons is in rapid process of accomplishment. In Manitoba spring and autumn are so short that the seasons may be said to consist of summer and winter, the one intensely cold the other fearfully hot. The intervening periods are decidedly unpleasant. Last spring was the most miserable spell weather I ever experienced except this autumn. The misery and discomfort of this season of the year are due not so much to the weather itself as to the defective sanitary condition of the city, and want of public improvements. Of course these drawbacks are incidental to the rapid growth of the city, and will be removed without delay, but meantime their effects are sufficiently marked and, to put it mildly, unpleasant. At the time of the small. pox scare I put myself under promise to say nothing about it; because the disease was imported, and energetic measures were being taken to stamp it out. The Medical Health Officer accomplished his work well, and the city has been free for some time back from that scourge. But Winnipeg is now visited by an epidemic of typhoid me, and charged the remainder of the bil fever, similar to that which two years ago to my account. I tell you she had not swept over Toronto, and, indeed, was the first idea of house-keeping. An ordi. more or less prevalent in the large cities of the continent. When making enquiries a week ago at the General Hospital, I accidentally discovered that there were no fewer than forty cases of typhoid in the fever ward. The number now in hospital is said to be 52. In the hospital at St. Boniface there were at the same time fifteen other cases. I have since learned that there are quite as many if not more cases in private, while not a few cases are "isolated" in hotels. The recent rains have made pools of water all over the city, and nothing can be worse for promoting typhoid. The air on the principal streets is laden with foul and pestilential vapours, while the cesspools are storehouses of fever-bearing filth. The spread of typhoid is nothing more or less than the penalty for a neglect of their premises from which few people here are free. Where it is to end, heaven knows, for the winter tarries, and until we have keen hard frost the source of the fever germs will not be sealed up. To clean month from her allowance, which goes to the filth away at present is quite impossible, for the roads are next to impassible with mud. There are not teams and teamsters enough to do the hauling for builders, so they could not be got, even were the roads in condition, to do such disagreeable work as is absolutely necessary. I have no doubt that the City Council will by next year have organized a scavenger system commensurate with the city's requirements; but meantime it is not pleasant to have three of your friends taken down within ten days, and to feel as if the shadow of the malady were resting upon yourself. It is in the nature of things reporter looked first through the key-hole that the change of the seasons here must always be accompanied by more or less sickness. The extremes are so great, and eral disregard of cleanliness, a cause which can be remedied if the will exists.'

Yes, Get Married. MARRIED MAN, WHO HAS SOME UNMAR-RIED FRIENDS, WANTS HIS ADVICE PUB-LISHED-READ IT, YOUNG MEN !

(From the Kingston, Ont., News.)

good wife, sends us the following, and requests its publication: It takes a thousand men to make a full regiment, but one little woman can make or unmake a home. As the home is the bulwark of civilization, its founder and preserver is incommensurable with any-Blood Impurities. So far as thing mortal. A good wife is beyond price, and without her a young man is but half equipped for the battle of life. Hence advice easy to give and easy to follow. Propose to the most sensible girl you know. If she accept you, tell her what you are, who you are, and the source and the amount of your income. Tell her you will go halves with her to the last dime; that you will love her with all your heart into the bargain; and that you hope your tongue will cleave to the roof of your mouth if you do not treat her as a good wife should be treated. Depend upon it, she will live within your income, make you better for having known her, and to your dying hour you will only regret that you did not marry her sooner. If you have a bank account of $500 avoid a long engagement. It will cost you some criticism, much money and more time than you can spare. Facilitate things so that during the next moon she can investigate your record, and at the end of October, while the vineyard is purple, the orchard mellow and the forest scarlet and gold, lead her to the surpliced man. With a keen sense of your unworthiness accept her vow, and with the delicious music of the benediction ringing in your ears, and the quivering pressure of her hand on your coat sleeve, take your bird to the roof tree, and togeth> ardize your happiness and assassinate that of your wife. A woman gets too cunning in a boarding house, and an over-cunning woman, according to George Eliot, is "no better than a long-tailed sheep." Listen, O ye unmarried men of little faith, to the experiences of those who have been under the yoke long enough to be considered veterans. They are given as they were related, nothing extenuated

"Get married? Yes, by all means, advised a gentleman in a large establishment in this city. "But pick your wife with care. With the present high rents, prices of coal, meat, provisions and dairy products, the world has no use for fashionable women and doll-baby girls. These creatures will swamp you every time. They marry for one thing or another-. Your wife may pride herself upon her 'in a five-cent "snipe."

you may joke her about it and call her Dora Copperfield. This is all very well for a time. These silly, good-for-nothing little Doras are pretty and interesting if they don't last too long. But only think of their living-instead of dying and leaving bequests to ugly little pug dogsdrifting on to the meridian of life, helpless, feeble, lazy or sick! Oh! I tell you, young man, that is a thorn which will pierce a man's side worse than a bushel of ignorance of common-place things, and thistles." And the merchant who should have married a dozen years ago opened his lips and sighed mournfully before replacing his cigar in his mouth. With a few puffs the blue rings sailed up, and as he watched

"I married, several years ago, a sweet, pretty girl, whom I found, to my sorrow, knew more about sonatas, crayons, painted placques and fancy work than she did about making bread, keeping house and eking out a fellow's income. We took a house on a supposed fashionable street, in which were eight rooms-two parlors, a dining and dressing-room, one chamber, a kitchen, laundry and girls' bed-room. These I furnished at a cost of $2,000, with Brussels carpet with border, odd pieces of furniture, piano, bed-room sets, machine, kitchen goods, and enough fancy nicknacks to make home pleasant. A marbletop washstand, with a glass on top filled with specimens of mineralogy, make a pretty piece of dining-room furniture, and I'll venture to say you never saw a neater home nor one indicative of more refinement. My mother's house being near by, we made ourselves welcome at her board during the period of nest-building, and when all was ready I gave the pride of my heart the stipulated amount-$15 per week, and we agreed to have our first feast on the first Monday following. That was Wednesday, and, our opening chancing on my birthday, she had sufficient time to invest in an $18 morning robe for nary supper frequently cost her $2.63 exclusive of staples, fire and cost of preparation. If she made a cake the ingredients amounted to a dollar or more: then she was too tired to make biscuits, and ten cents procured a pound of those articles at the baker's. Her experiments with bread monopolized an entire barrel of flour, although our tables showed a decide ed partiality for Vienna bread, which my gentle wife informed me only cost eight cents a loaf. We had beefsteak for break fast, beefsteak for dinner, and beefsteak for supper. Everything was moving in a retrogade direction, ruin seemed impending, and despair and faith were at the wrong ends of the compass. Finally I chanced on a nice Scotch girl who wanted to hire out as a chorewoman at the store. I offered to give her a good home, $2 a week salary, and $6 to run my house on The bargain was accepted by the Scotch lassie. My little wife has since been religiously excluded from the kitchen, and I am informed that not only can Bessie run the house, but saves from $4 to $6 a
