The Nelson Fire.

Everyone will be glad to learn that the R. C. congregation of Nelson have taken prompt steps to restore the presbytery and church they lost by the fire of Tuesday, 25th ult. In our report of the disaster last week we stated that when discovered the fire was burning inside as well as outside of the church. We are informed on the best authority that when Rev. Mr. Power and others entered the vestry to save the moveable property there, there was no sign of fire inside. The flames burst through inside, from the outside, after the salvors were working for some time.

Report of Meeting of Father Egan's Congregation

AT NELSON TO DELIBERATE AND ADOPT MEASURES TO REBUILD, AFTER THE FIRE WHICH DESTROYED ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH AND, PRESBYTERY ON THE AFTERNOON OF TUESDAY, SEPT. 25TH, 1883.

On Sunday afternoon, September 30 at 5 o'clock, a meeting of the Roman Catholics of Nelson was held in the school house adjacent to the burned edifices. This meeting was called at the instance of the Bishop of the Diocese by the loc-1 pastors, the Very Rev. Michael Egan, V. G., and his assistant, the Rev. Nicholas Power, and was numerously attended by the men, old and young, of the congrega- of Bay du Vin. The services began at 11 tion of the burned church.

His Lordship, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Rogers, suggested that the meeting be Des Brisny and H. Bishop, Esqs., churchorganized in due form by the appointment of a Chairman; whereupon the Very Rev. M. Egan proposed that John O'Brien, Esq., take the Chair, which motion being Lordship offering up a short prayer. The seconded, was unanimously carried. It was then moved, seconded and carried unanimously, that David Saeasgreen be appointed Secretary.

The meeting being thus organize i was addressed by His Lordship the Bishop expressing regret but encouraging both pastors and flock to bow to God's will in carrying their cross, and manfully to undertake the work of repairing the loss, by rebuilding. According to what he had learned to be the general opinion during the past day or two, in conversing with Fathers Egan and Power and with some of the parishioners, he approved of the course suggested, the gospel from St. John II. and 13th, namely, to build immediately, a house for the pastoral residence, to be so arranged as to permit the upper flat to be used as at temporary chapel until the church coul, i be built. He had asked Mr. Patr ck Conn. ors, of Chatham, to sketch a plan which he had brought to lay before them. This pl. w he would recommend as that affording t be necessary temporary accommodation for the least possible expense, and which coul d he erected in a few weeks, before wint a sets in.

The plan was examined, other plans were spoken of, and finally, after discussion, the following resolution was proposed by Michael H'ays, seconded by Thomas Doolan and, being put from the chair, passed unanimou sly:-Resolved-That humbly bowing to the heavy dispensation of Divine Providence in the loss of our church and pastoral residence by fire on Tuesday last, Soptember 25th, and lamenting this loss the more because it deprives our patriarchal Priest, Father Egan, of the church and residence in which he has so faithfully ministered to us for the last fifty year and also because the said churck and churck and erected by the late vene ed Bishop Dollard, of saintly memory, while he was stationed at Bartibogue as the first resi dent Priest on the Miramichi; therefore we now feel it our duty to do our best to promptly repair the said loss by building a new residence and church on the old sites, the residence to be undertaken immediately, and so arranged that the upper story serve temporarily as a hall for chapel, until the church be ready for use, and at a later period, whe study come in to justify the undertaking that the church be built according to plans to be approved

A Genuine Sensation. St. John enjoyed a genuiue sensation or Sunday last. A city beauty, Miss Lens Robinson, daughter of Mr. Jas. Robinson of the St. John Savings Bank, visited some A.nherst friends in 1880 and, under the influence of a romantic impulse, consented to be married to Mr. L. Caritte, son of Dr. T. Ciritte. Immediately after the ceremony, Mr. Caritte left his bride at the church, pursuant to a previous understanding to that effect. Whether this conduct of the bridegroom and lover, or the fickleness of heart some times attributed to the sex, caused a change, is not known, but it was soon said that the lady had experienced "; change of heart" and she professed to hate Caritte as intensely as she had formerly loved him. Matters stood thus for three years. Meanwhile, Caritte had gone to New York, and the lady "wed led but no wife" lived with her father in St. John. She never went out without him, and it was thought that all was over between the strangely wedded pair. Caritte returned to St. John about a year ago as the manager of a branch of a Boston oil house, and it is now suspected that he had since that time been carrying on a clandestine correspondence with "Miss Robinson". Saturday night's sensation was made up of the circumstances set forth in the following police court re-

When I regained my feet, I followed the coach, cailing "murder." Went to different parts of the city and to the I. C. R. Station. I tound out from the police that she was at the Clifton House. I went there and rapped on the door of the room where she was and called her. Mr. Caritte was in the room. The door was locked-I called to her and said "Lena you ought to go home," she said "I cannot go home, he has got a pistol and will shoot you." I heard her tell him often to put down the pistol. She said often heard described but had never exper-"Pa go home and comfort mother; he has promised to send me home in the morning." The third party, whom I did not then know, seized my daughter. Did not see Mr. Carritte nor Mr. Leonard catch hold of her. I saw that she was pushed into the coach. To counteract this disastrous end became my life work, and I am happy to say I have seen

The foregoing conversation occurred at Caledonia where the representative this paper was paying a visit to the state fish hatcheries. It has been his privilege to report very many interesting sights within the past twenty-five years, but the view presented here exceeds in interest anything ever before attempted. "How many fish are there in those ponds, Mr. Green ?" "As we have never attempted to count them it will be impossible to say. They extend away up in the millions though. We shipped over three millions out of the ponds this year and there seemed to be as many afterwards as before! We have nearly every variety of the trout family and many hybrids.'

"You speak of hybrids, Mr. Green.

What do you mean by that ?" "I have experimented for years crossing the breed of the various fish and am still working upon it. We cross the female salmon trout with the male brook trout, and thus produce a hybrid. Then we cross the hybrid with the brook trout and one quarter salmon trout. This makes one of the finest fishes in the world He has all the habits of the brook trout, lives in both streams and lakes, develops vermillion spots on his sides, rises rapidly to a fly, is far more vigorous and fully one-third larger than ordinary brook trout of the same age. The possibilities of development in the fish world are great, and we are rapidly ascertaining what they

"Well, we have 43 ponds which are divided up as follows :- 22 ponds of brook trout, 2 ponds of salmon trout, 4 of Mc-Cloud river or rainbow trout, 2 ponds of German trout, 3 of California mountain trout, 2 ponds of hybrids, 4 of one-quarter salmon and three-quarters brook trout, 2 ponds of gold fish and I pond of carp. Then we have what we call the centennial pond or 'happy family,' consisting of crosses of different fish, including Kennebec salmon, Land Locked salmon, California salmon, brook trout, salmon trout and hybrids. In had been issued to Mrs. Carritte to bring this frame of mind I got a bottle of Hop Bitters and used them unknown to my family. I soon began to improve and gained so fast that my husband and family thought it strange and unnatural, but when I told them what had helped me, they said, "Hurrah for Hop Bitters ! long may they prosper, for they have made mother well and us happy."-The Mother.

General Notes and News.

Commander Ashdown, of the steamship Siam, writes to the London Times that on August 1, when in latitude 6° south, longitude 89° east, on her way from King George's Sound to Colombo, his ship passed for more than four hours through lava, which extended as far as the eye could see. The lava was floating in a succession of "lanes" of from five to ten yards wide, and its direction was north-west to south-east. Commander Ashdown adds "The nearest land was the coast of Sum" atra (distant 700 miles), but, as there was a current of fifteen to thirty miles a day setting to the eastward, the lava could not have come from there, and I can only imagine it must have been an upheaval from somewhere near the spot. I may mention the soundings on the chart show over 2,000 fathoms. There was a submarine volcano near the spot in 1789.

Recently a train on the Northern Pacific railroad found its way barred apparently by the furious heat of burning wood ricks along the track. The train stopped, the rails were examined to see if they had warped, and then it was decided to rnn the gauntlet. A passenger thus describes the passage, which was made at the rate of 70 miles an hour, to a reporter of the Portland Oregonian: "We shut down the windows and closed the door tight just before we started, but the air inside the car was like the breath from a furnacand the whole train seemed to be on fire The flames licked the window glass savagely, and although it lasted only a few moments, it was an experience I shall never forget and never again wish to undergo. I can't help thinkin of the terrible dangerg we passed through. If one rail of the track beneath us, having been warped by the heat, had given away, we would every one of us have been roasted alive. It makes me shudder even now."
