The Frog and the Ox. Almost everybody is familiar wit the fable of the Frog and the Ox, of which a portion of the local public are reminded by resolutions published under the authority of the Blissfield and Ludlow Agricultural Society, as having ing of 13th inst. They are as follows, Whereas the Government of New Brunswick has ignored the farmers of this Province in the appointment of a Commission to manage the Provincial Exhibition, in a man who could hardly be ignorant of violation of the law. As the Cattle Show at the Centennial Exhibition was the largest and best ever seen in the Maritime Provinces and the display of farm produce, generally, splendid one, it is evident that the farmers of the country, save a few in the region of Doaktown, were quite satisfied with the composition of the Commission. It is true that the Doaktown bull, which, on account of its condition, was such an interesting object among the cattle at the Exhibition of 1880, was not in the stock yard at the late Centennial show, but, as it is well known that said bull and the B. and L. Society are both controlled by one of the sulking members of the Provincial Board, the absence of the bull and the passing of the above resolutions, are easily accounted for. Doaktown must not, however, be held responsible for the action of the Society referred to, be the place at which the resolutions were passed, for the majority of people are quite sane; nor must local agricultural societies, generally, be condemned because the B. and L. Society has done a very silly thing. It is quite evident that the Doaktown member of the Provincial Board is determined to overthrow the Government. Those resolutions and the absence of that peculiar bull from the Centennial Exhibition which the Board was not the Government will ever realise that the B. and L. Society is individually and collectively angry with it for the treatment the owner of the bull has received, or whether it cares a rap, cannot now be determined, but it is quite clear that it would not be conducive to the interest of any level-headed agricul-

which has so impudently arrayed itself

We have had several enquiries from Alnwick in reference to the appointment of scalers. It seems that while Messrs. Fayle and Robinson of that parish have not been continued in office, the Government has entirely neglected Alnwick in making its new selections. Among the new men are, we hear, Messrs. Michael Haley, Jas. Harrigan, Jas. Dee, John Pallen, Frank Cassidy, Benjamin Flood, -- Crocker and others. A large quantity of lumber is scaled on the Tabusintac and it was only reasonable to expect that local interests would have been duly considered when the appointments were made. Some of our correspondents seem to think that the editor of the ADVANCE is somewhat to blame for the mistakes made. We beg to say, however, that he was not in any way consulted in the matter, nor is he aware of any one in the County who was. With the registered letter in his possession the Sheriff, on the some day, proceeded to execute the bailable writ and arrested the Nova Scotian. This poor individual not having the friends at hand to give the necessary bail consented to confess judgment for the balance of the debt due to his creditor and this was done. The most follow. Men who write such mischievcurious part of the whole story has to be told. When the Nova Scotian was released from custody, he-having in the meantime heard that the Sheriff had obtained possession of a registered letter addressed to him-asked the Sheriff what he was going to do about it, when that official said he intended to pay himself the amount of the two judgments. The gross amount of debt found to be due was $104, and as the amount contained in the registered letter was $150, there should have been $46 returned to the Nova Scotian, but, as may be imagined, this amount was considerably decreased by payment of "Sheriff's fees and other incidental expenses." It seems incredible that a person should have had to undergo the indignity of being subjected to an arrest when the Sheriff had at the time a sufficient sum in his

The Banks 1883 vs 1882

The Government Bank returns for Ser tember, 1883, compared with the sam month for 1882 show-some important changes in the direction of a wise contraction of liability and business on the part of our banking institutions. In September, 1882, the balance due from banks choose to admit its error in publishing in the United Kingdom was only $661, what it terms the first despatch respect-018, fer September 1883, it is $3,489,351 his is a favorable feature. Loans and discounts to the public for September 1882, $143,890,314; for September, 1883, $141,171,448,—a reduction of $2,718,866. Overdne debts for September, 1882 were $1,378,071.40; for September, 1883, $1, 998,679,—an increase of $615,608. But the assets of the banks in September, 1882, only amounted to $80,113,786 over liabilities, while in September, 1883, they are $82,960,888—an increase in profits of $2,847,102. Some idea of the conservative policy of the banks can be had from the contraction in the volume of business within the year. The liabilities of the banks in September, 1882, were $159,862,962, while in September, 1883, they are $145,449,469, a contraction of $11,413.493. While greatly regretting the approaching departure of the Marquis of Lorne, we think Canada may well be congratulated upon the nobleman whom the Home Government have selected as his successor as Governor-General. Nothing short of the best in both ability and position will now satisfy the Dominion for her Governor-General, and to find worthy successors to Lord Dufferin and the Marquis of Lorne is not an easy task. But in selecting the Marquis of Lansdowne for the office the Government have shown their desire to do their best. Although only thirty-eight years of age he has al, ready filled various public positions with credit, and has thus obtained considerable experience. He has been a Lord of the Treasury, Parliamentary Under-Secretary for War, and Under-Secretary of State for India. So he may be assumed to be well qualified to discharge the onerous duties of the office.

Then, in addition, the Marquis of Lansdowne will be able worthily to uphold the dignity of the position. He represents one of the most ancient families in the United Kingdom-one of his predecessors having been created a Baron by Henry II. in 1181. And he is no needy adventurer dependent upon his salary to maintain duly the honors: he owns 135,000 acres of land, from which he derives an annual income of about £50.000.

Farther, the Marquis of Lansdowne has a most earnest desire to discharge the duties of Governor-General in a manner the Dominion, and reflect credit on himself. Before sailing from Queenstown the other day on his way to Canada, he expressed his sense both of the high honor and the onerous duties of the office, and his determination to exert his utmost endeavors and to follow in the footsteps of the Marquis of Lorne and Dufferin in promoting the development and prosperity of the Dominion. We have little doubt that he will earnestly endeavor to do so, and that success will crown his efforts. Certainly the people of Canada will accord him a most cordial welcome, both on his own account individually, and as the representative of their Queen. - Scottish Am.

Monsigner Capel.

Since Monsignor Capel's arrival in this ountry, says a New York letter writer, ne has proselyted to the Catholic faith an incredibly large number of people. Whenever he has lectured the hall has been crowded; his sermons have been listened to with marked attention and admiration, and to his most frivolous remarks have been attached important meanings. One of the aristocratic families of Brooklyn Heights - heretofore strong Presbyterians-embraced the Catholic faith after hearing one of the great English prelate's sermons, and the eldest daughter, at one time a society belle well known in the "City of Churches," has announced her determination to become a nun, to the amazement of her "dear five hundred" friends. Monsignor Capel is a most brilliant and fascinating speaker; his similes are plain, though always beautiful; he rarely indulges in rhetorical flights, yet his language is peculiarly rythmical and satisfying to a musically attuned ear. His presence is imposing, his manner is earnest and impressive, his gestures are the poetry of grace-indeed he merits his fame as one of the most popular living preachers. Monsignor Capel will spend several weeks in Canada before his return home.

"Their core will contain a strand of eleven copper wires of the highest conductivity, weighing 350 pounds per nautical mile, and the dielectric will consist of eight coatings of gutta percha placed upon the wire according to the improved method of Messrs. Siemens, and weighing 300 pounds per nautical mile. The deep sea portion will be covered with galvanized steel wire and Manila hemp. All the intermediate cables are armed with steel wires. The shore ends are of the usual heavy types. Messrs. Siemens are conwinced that nothing superior has ever come from their factories.

"They will introduce all the improvenents suggested by years of research and sperience. The length of the entire syster u of cables will be 5,600 miles. They will be laid by the steamer Faraday in the course of next summer. A visit to the wo ks at Woolwich shows that everything is i. 1 a forward state of preparation."

Dynamite at Halifax.

Halifax has another Fenian scare.

despatch of 17th to the Sun says :-

For some days past, the City Marshal and detective Power have had their eyes on two suspicious-looking characters loafing around the town. They put up at the Parker House, Oxford block, Barrington street extension. They had no visible gether with $500 to the British and Formeans of support, but loafed at the barrooms, did a considerable amount of drinking and acted in a suspicious manner generally. Last night they were out pretty late. This morning Detective Power called up to make some enquiries about them he went to their bed-room and found two valises; one of them was open. ed and found to contain dynamite cartridges of the most expensive and most explosive quality. Both valises were filled with this deadly material Detective Power waited around the locality and about 2 o'clock, when one of the occupants of the room put in an apppearance, promptly arrested him. The prisoner gave his name as James Holmes. The detective then took his prisoner to the station. meanwhile leaving some one on the lookout for his companion. Holmes did not submit to the inevitable without some resistance. At the station he was searched and a large "bull dog" revolver fully loaded with heavy bullets, another small and peculiar looking revolver, and a number of large cartridges and dynamite caps were found on him. He is an ablebodied man; has the appearance of being an American, and is certainly a suspicious looking individual.

> The other man, who gives his name Bracken, was arrested this evening. De ectives are at work on the cases. A railway check found on Holmes was taken to the Windsor and Annapolis Railway depot by the police and found to call for package containing a complete and peculiar diving suit. The arrested men claim to be miners. Sensational stories connecting them with O'Dynamite Rossa are afloat. A despatch to the Telegraph says the men had visited Halifax several times this year with two valises. After the two arrests the valises were removed from the Parker House to the city marshal's office, where an examination of the contents was made. With the key found on Bracken the largest one was opened, when the same dangerous explosive as found in the small one was displayed, only in larger quantity. In each valise was also discovered a small round clock, made by the American Clock Co. These were exhibit ed to a city watchmaker, who stated that connected with them were devices for the causing of explosions. In other words, they were infernal machines. It is stated that the smaller weapon found on Holmes, on being discharged at one end of a wire, will, by an electric current, ignite a fuse in the other end, which, in turn, would serve to explode a battery of dynamite with which it would be connected. The men declare they are miners, and laugh at being arrested.

The Halifax Citizen says,-The men's overcoats were brought to them from the hotel, and in the pocket of that belonging to Holmes was found a little memoranda book, which contained a lot of extracts and excerptions from speeches and newspaper articles, songs and poetry, on the state of Ireland, patriotism, etc., such as a red-hot Fenian orator might be supposed to have for reference. There was also a description of the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, and a sketch of that city and bay followed by a copied extract dated May, "from the Chronicle"-likely the San Francisco Chronicle-of how a Fenian attempt could be made on the city of Victoria, British Columbia, by Fenian admirals off that coast, for the purpose of making it the centre of a Fenian state. There were also what appeared to be the minutes of some meeting, as follows: "Citizens' committee of the Barbeque held same time. Affair for the benefit of the 3rd regiment met last evening in the rooms of the department, 12 Superior Court, Philip S. Fay presiding. Treasurer McMaohn reported the total receipts of the Barbeque as $1,364.90; leaving a balance to be paid over to the regiment of $868.45. Also about 600 tickets remaining that may net the regiment $200 more. Balance to be paid to the regiment. Among the effects of Holmes was found baggage check of the Windsor and Annapolis Railway, which presented at the depot, produced a bundle done up in pack. ing canvas. It was not addressed nor did it have any marks on it except the baggage check. It was confiscated by the police and on opening proved to contain a complete rubber swimming suit, second hand, but in perfect order. The inside of the canvas bore the mark "Gregg Bros., N. Y." having evidently been obtained from packages to that firm. The suit is similar to that known as the Boynton swimming suit, being adapted by inflation with air after putting on, to sustain the wearer in the water for any length of time desired. His whole body is enveloped except his face, while his hands, arms, and feet are free for swimming or working in water to any extent. The object of the men having this dress is conjectured by some, when taken in counection with the fact of their having become acquainted with the shores of Richmond while up there, to have been for operations on the men-of-war, for which purpose the suit would be admirably adaptable.

The men had a conference with Mr. Robt. Motton, Barrister, and it is understood they have retained him as their attorney. Their examination was postponed for further preliminary consideration of their case and, it is believed, conference with the Admiral and General.

Bracken and Holmes were arranged before Stipendiary Magistrate Pryor. Bracken gave his age as thirty, stated 1 was born in New York State, and said his business was mining. Holmes gave the same age and his birth place St. Joseph's, Mo., and stated he was a laborer. The men were asked whether or not they were guilty of having an explosive in the shape of dynamite in their possession at the time of being arrested. Both pleaded not guilty, and were then remanded until twelve o'clock on Monday.

As the result of the Vice Admiral's visit to the Marshal, His Excellency will order the instructor of gunnery on the war ship Northampton to make a towough inspection of the materials confiscated from the prisoners and to fully explain to the law officers the harm that could be accomplished by their use. All the British war ships in port, six in number, have, since the arrest, of Holmes and Bracken, been closely guarded, particularly at night time, when a strong force in boats is placed about them.

The Times London special says: Before the arrest of Bracken and Holmes at Halifax, the Government at London was warned that Irish Americans from New York were plotting to blow up with Dynamite the British corvette Canada with Prince George of Wales on Board, which was lying in Halifax harbor. The Government at once instructed the Halifax authorites to keep a strict watch on the

It seems impossible that a remedy made of such common, simple plants as Hops, Buchu, Mandrake, Dandelion, &c., should make so many and such great cures as Hop Bitters do; but when old and young, rich and poor, pastor and doctor, lawyer and editor, all testify to having been cured by them, you must believe and try them yourself, and doubt no longer.

A Montreal despatch of 19th inst, says Intelligence comes from the village of St. Jerome of the horrible death of Madame Lafantaisie, under the following painful circumstances :- The deceased, who was well advanced in years, owned a colt which she was in the habit of feeding out of a plate she would hold in her hand. Whenever she wanted to call the frisky animal all she had to do was to put some oats in a dish and the colt would come galloping up to her. Unfortunately she did this once too often, for on Friday last, upon finishing his meal, the colt seized her by the hair with his teeth. threw her down, and turning around like lightning he planted his hind hoofs upon her with such force as to break in the poor woman's skull. She was unconscious when picked up and died on Sunday night without having come to her senses.
