A recent decision of the Supreme Court of Massachusetts establishes the fact that open bars are illegal in that State. - Tele-

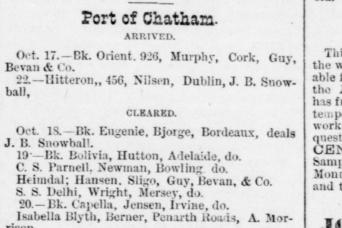

Em-bar-rassing.

The Supreme Court, or the Telegraph ought not to announce such decisions as the above, because they are perplexing. If sand bars are meant the decision is unquestionably against the interests of navigation and commerce ; if quilting bars, an old and popular occasion for party-giving in the country is directly attacked ; if music-bars, we may expect the Massachusetts Supreme Court to be the subject of a comic opera in the near future : if the bar which fails to pluck half-qualified stu. dents, the Bay State Court has done itself credit and set an example worthy of imitation ; if Scott Act bars, the decision is worthless; if iron bars, it is meaningless; if bars of soap, they can be packed closely without difficulty ; if fence bars, the Court is right and the man who leaves them down cannot claim damages. In fact, if the Court or the Telegraph were more perspicuous it would, perhaps, not be difficuit to determine whether the decision was right or wrong. What kind of bars are illegal when they are open, anyway? The Court ought to explain.

FIRE AT NELSON .-- A despatch was re. ceived at Chatham from Newcastle last Friday, afternoon, asking for facilities with which to extinguish fire which had made considerable headway in burning Flett's mill wharf. The Chatham steamers having available pumps, were all away and no assistance could, therefore, be sent. but Mr. Geo. McLeod's tug, Gladiator, with hose from Newcastle, was sent over and suppressed the fire.

HORSES.-Mr. John F. Jardine, of the Metropolitan Hotel, Chatham, and Mr. Stephen Y. Mitchell, of Newcastle, Miramichi, are here with a fine drove forses, principally draught. In the drove is one fine thorough-bred mare that can run her mile in two minutes on any respectable track, and a fine entire horse that is a prize for stock purposes. Any one in want of draught horses would do well to examine the drove. They may be seen at the Brayley House stable. - York Gleaner.

Eight skips were then elected, but on the matter being discussed it was found that there had been some dissatisfaction last season with having five men in each rink. as, in the Club and other regular rink matches, only four were allowed to play, as a rule, and a number of members were. thus, kept out on the most desirable occasions. It was resolved to elect ten skips, who were balloted for with the following result, Wm. Wilson, Geo. L. Brittain, E. Hutchison, Geo. I. Wilson, D. Chesman.
