Messrs. Farnworth & Jardine, their circular of 2nd inst., which did not reach us until Monday last say,-The import for the month [July] of both Hewn and Sawn Lumber, especially of the latter, shows a considerable falling off, but this is partly accounted for by the unusually long passages many vessels are making from Canada and New Brunswick, so that the aggregate import for July and August will probably fully equal last year. The consumption has been fairly satisfactory and stocks are moderate: still the general tone of the market is not buoyant, buyers shewing great want of confidence in the future, therefore it is much to be desired that supplies for the remainder of the season should be very

Under the head of Canadian wood the circular contains the following. Of pine timber there has been a fair import and a moderate consumption; the demand is confined chiefly to first-class wood, which sells slowly at present high prices; for the commoner qualities there is but little demand. In red pine, elm, and ash there is very little enquiry, and stocks are light. Oak has been imported moderately, and the consumption has been on about the same scale; prices for prime wood are steady. Pine deals have been arriving freely and the consumption has hardly kept pace with the import;

That paper has, from the first, given its support in this matter to Mr. Call, the president of its Publishing Company, who now seems to think that by abusing Mr. Snowball and misrepresenting his position as a promoter of the Railway, he | terested in having the road built, and the will succeed in arousing prejudices in general opinion appears to be that the Muirhead and Alex. > it was of far greater consequence than the trade of Chatham and Newcastle, which it does not even condescend to take into account. When did ever Mr. Call and his associates before show such a disposition to exalt and magnify Derby at the expense of Newcastle? It is best to be reasonable, we think, and while acknowledging the importance of the Extract Factory and Messrs. Read's quarries, not to lose sight of equally important and much larger interests. The Railway promoter whose horizon is bounded by the lines of a parish is not fit to be in the busi-

It charges the ADVANCE with ignorance because we referred to the Northwest quarries owned by the same firm, as if they could not own and run half a dozen quarries ! As a matter of fact they do so, having also quarries in Gloucester and elsewhere. We, however, accept the Advocate's abandonment of the route via Crocker's Lake to the Northwest.

In connection with the railway question the Advocate bitterly attacks such men as Messrs. Gibson, Snowball, Muirhead, Richards, Whitney, Swim and others as lumber lords, and claims that they spend money corruptly at elections in order to influence the Government for their own purposes. The Advocate has. in its time, done a good many silly things, but this is about the silliest. In the first place, it is untrue, and in the next it is hard to understand what good purpose is to be served by such a gross attack upon as honorable a body of business men as any in the Dominion. If Mr. Call, who is not an inactive man at election times, or a very modest one in his claims for subsidies and other Government pickings, cannot succeed in his railway and other plans by more legitimate means than this kind of mudbusiness in hand. Beyond that, howslinging, he ought to be above resorting ever, is out of their depth and that is to it.

"Tenants of a certain class," said Father Neligan, "complain all the time and would complain no matter how they were treated. ## Praying Against Time.

Talking against time is common in Con ress, but praying against time is the de vice of a clever Brooklyn child, who will know how to get her rights when she comes in sight of them.

"Keep grandma from dying before she gets here. Don't let anything happen to her. Don't let any bears or wild beasts eat me up. Bless grandpa and grandma and Mr. Charles Swan, and Aunt Kate and Aunt Sophia."

Another pause, a little longer than the first, and the unconquered began again "I long for apples. I long for milk. long for pie. I long to be good. I wish I had not that cold. I long for some water. Speed of the City of Rome.

The steamship City of Rome, of the Anchor Line, which arrived yesterday from Livorpool and Queenstown, made remarkably quick passage. Her corrected time from Queenstown to Sandy Hook was 7 days 2 hours and 57 minutes. Capt. Munro reports that the City of Rome left Liverpool on Aug. 1, and sailed from Queenstown the following day at noon. At 3 50 p. m. she passed Fastnet. and at noon on Aug. 3, she had placed 406 miles between her and Queenstown. Although a strong breeze and a chopping sea prevailed, her run for the next day was 400 miles, On Aug. 5 and 6 she made almost unprecedented runs, the log showing 429 miles on the first day, 425 on the second. On Aug. 7, although a strong breeze was blowing from westward, 408 miles were traveled. The next day's run was 392 miles, and from noon that day until 10.35 yesterday morning, when the Rome passed Sandy Hook, she made 340 miles. The Anchor Line people count the Rome's voyage as from Fastnet to Fire Island, and they figure her time

THE DECALOGUE FROM THE LATELY DISCOV-ERED MANUSCRIPTS.

(London Despatch to the N. Y. Sun.) A Mr. Shapira, of Jerusalem, a book seller and dealer in antiquities, has jus deposited in the British Museum fifteen slips of black sheepskin leather, on which are written, in characters similar to thos on the celebrated Moabite stone, portions of the Book of Deuteronomy differing materially from the received version. The date of the slips is in the ninth century before Christ, or sixteen centuries older than any authentic manuscript of any part of the Old Testament. Mr. Shapira bought them from an Arab, and he asks for them $5,000,000 from the British Museum. If genuine, the interest and importance of the discovery cannot be overrated and, so far as variations in the sacred text are concerned, there is promise of one of the greatest controversies that scholars have ever entered upon. A Modern Sampson.

[From an old New York paper.] Thomas, or Tom Gardner, as he wa familiarly called, was born on the rivel St. John, one mile above the mouth of the Mactaquack stream, in the year 1798 Viewed casually, Gardner gave no evidence of unusual power, but when stripped his muscular development was tremendous, and it is affirmed that instead of the ordinary ribs he possessed a solid bony wall on either side and that there was separation whatever. He stood five feet en and half inches, erect and full-chested and never exceeded one hundred and nine pounds in weight.

The late Charles Long informed us that at one time he saw Gardner lift from towboat a puncheon of corn, containing at least twelve bushels, and, swinging around, deposit it on the sand. In so doing he occasion a number of men were trying to ift a stick of timber. In all the crowd only one man could raise it about two inches from the skids. Gardner told four men to sit upon it and then lifted it so high that the men jumped off to save themselves from the fall. Mr. McKeen has frequently known him, in lifting, to break boom-poles six inches thick. has known him also, with one hand, to lift, by the rung of a chair, the chair itself and a man weighing nearly two hundred weight. Once, in attempting to lift a very heavy man, he wrenched the rung entirely

Gardner at one time was possessed of a balky horse, with which he exercised great patience, but when patience ceased to be a virtue, he would fell him to the ground with his clenched fist, striking him behind the ear. It is related of Gardner's sister that on one occasion a famous wrestler travelled all the way from Miramichi to Tom's home in order to "try a fall with him." Tom was absent, but the sister, looking contemptuously upon the intruder, declared she could throw him herself, and, suiting the action of the word, in a fair trial, threw him fairly | three times in succession. The stranger's experience with the sister was sufficient; he never sought a future interview with The greatest feat which Gardner was ever known to perform, was on one of the wharves in St. John. Mr. McKeen saw him lift and carry an anchor weighing 1,200 pounds, numbers of other witnesses standing by, some of whom are yet alive. Frequently he has seen him carrying a barrel of pork under each arm, and once he saw him shoulder a barrel of pork while standing in an ordinary brandy-box. When about forty years of age, Gardner removed to the United States, and never returned to his native province. It is commonly reported and believed that he met with a sad adventure

board a Mississippi steamer. A heavy bell was on board as a portion of freight, and the captain, a great, powerful fellow, was concerned as to how he should remove it from its place in order to make more room on deck. While captain and passengers were at dinner, Tom, in the presence of the crew, to their utter amazement, lifted the bell, and carried it to the opposite side of the boat. When the captain returned, he asked how that had been accomplished, and, when Gardner laughingly remarked that he carried it there, the former gave him the lie, and, as one word brought on another, he presently struck Tom in the face. This was the strong man gave blow for blow: but one buffet was sufficient. The captain instant. Tom made his escape, went west, and has never been heard of since.

stocks, however, are not excessive; prices The import of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia pine deals shews a considerable falling off from the like time last year, and with an increased demand: prices have improved 5/- per standard from the lowest point; stocks are moderate, but it is evident that to maintain prices the import for the remainder of the season must be kept within a very moderate compass. Of lower port pine deals few sales have taken place, but prices have

Although the state of the market is not reported as of good tone, it is fair to assume that shippers on this side may proceed with confidence to put their lumber on the market, provided fair freights are obtainable. Sailing tonnage has not come forward as readily as the general freight market for its class would seem to have warranted, and it is not, therefore, to be wondered at that seeking steamers have found business here on margins which were certain, but not satisfactory to the sailing bottoms usually engaged in our carrying business. Norwegian tonnage appears to have speculated on an idea of greater Miramichi necessity and demand

Mr. Call, however, has played that game among the leading men of Miramichi about as long as it will work and if he and the World do not wish to do permanent injury to their party they will do well to conceal their silly tactics until there is a better prospect for their successful employment. Unless we are very much mistaken it is not possible for either the World or Mr. Call to disunite the gentlemen composing the Northern and Western Railway Company. What Mr. Call or the World may say or do will make no difference as regards their purpose of building the railway and the more any one man connected with the enterprise is abused by or for Mr. Call, the greater will be the loyalty of the others towards him. Each of these men know that the others are engaged with him in the promotion of a work that is to be of great benefit to the County, a work requiring their united efforts for its accomplishmentand they are not going to be turned aside by any silly personal considerations which may be suggested by Mr.

Call or his Chatham organ. So far as Mr. Snowball is concerned he occupies an unassailable business position. He is a man with whom any of his fellow citizens may confidently join in promoting any public enterprise and we fancy that Senator Muirhead, Mr. Morrison, Mr. Sadler and others who have put up for eight years with Mr. Call's mock presidency and childish pretensions in connection with the Valley Railway feel more at home, as business men, with Mr. Snowball, who has so materially aided in securing the active and earnest co-operation of Mr. Gibson. If the World or Mr. Call had any adequate sense of the ridiculous figure they are cutting in this railway business they would give their attention to something they know more about. They may be quite competent as props of the grand order of moonshiners or capable of making a fair show where tinsel and

WORLD which I take the first opportunity of repudiating. "An Edifying Spectacle" is not in harmony with what THE WORLD has had to say about the members of the Government, and "The Valley Railway" article stultifies its position on the railway question. The writer of it must have known that he was most outrageously abusing the trust I reposed in him, as h could not have imagined that I would insert such an article editorially. I repudiate it, and ask that it be regarded as correspondence that found its way int the columns of the paper without editorial supervision. As I am the editor of TH WORLD, in reality as well as in name, and permit no interference, by directors of THE WORLD Publishing Company or anybody else, with its policy on the railway or any other question, the false position in which I have been placed calls for this personal explanation."-J.L. STEWART. It was therefore, the editor's "wicked partner" who did all the mischief, said partner being, it is alleged, a young man of Newcastle who is encouraged to express what he believes to be "President" Call's sentiments. What people among whom the World is published would like to know is whether it has any opinion on the subject of the Railway and, if not, why not? The Valley Railway The Advocate continues to claim that the "Tickle" combination, the head of which is "President" Call, is a Railway Company and is, in fact, one of the Northern and Western Railway Companies. It ignores the Supreme Court injunction issued against Mr. Call and his associates forbidding them under pain of fine and imprisonment, from attempting to exercise the functions of a Railway Company. If those gentlemen, with three able barristers to help them, could not convince a Judge of the Supreme Court that they were not a bogus organization it will be difficult for the Advocate to impress the general public with a more favorable opinion of going into the resurrectionist business in connection with this subject. It digs up what the poor little Fredericton Reporter said in 1875, viz-"The route which York prefers is known as No. 1 of Mr. Buck's survey." It is reasonable to believe that Alex. Gibson, John Pickard and the other York capitalists who are putting their money into the enterprise are in a better position to speak for York than the Reporter. But, then, if the Advocate can muster the effrontery to claim that it speaks for hearty welcome. - Quebec Chronicle. as follows,-"If the people of Miramichi want ences and work in harmony with Mr. the Miramichi people have been endeavoring to enlist the co-operation of leading capitalist in the construction of their railway and during the spring of 1882 they were quite jubilant over the prospect that Mr. Gibson might take the matter in hand. They felt then, as everybody feels now, that his endorsement of the project would be enough to give it a financial were a guarantee that what he undertook he would carry out. The public are in Your horse is restive and wants to be off before you are ready ; you may as well break him of this now as at any other time, and hereafter you will find it has been a half hour well spent. Just give me the reins, while you put your foot on the step as if to get in; the horse makes a move to go; I tighten the reins and say "whoa." Now put your foot on the step again; the horse makes another move; I hold the reins and speak
