Best Quality Selected Lime

By the Car Load at all STATIONS on the AL BERT and INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAYS. This Lime differs from all other Brands in the market-having peculiar cement qualities, which hardens it like stone, and makes it imprevious to the action of water. It requires no cement to m-prove it, and is the CHEAPEST in the market for all purposes.

For Agricultural purposes it can be furnished by the car load in bulk, CHEAP, and is the best as well as the cheapest fertilizer known.

In Memoriam. DIED JUNE 11TH, 1883.

See sorrow o'er my heart and life Has her dark mantle spread, O Lord, I bow me in the dust, My brother, he is dead. Could I have seen him at the last,

Oh ! could I have been there, His gentle voice had eased my heart And lessened my despair. My heart is broken at the thought His face no more I'll see Until we meet in that bright home

Where all from pain are free.

All is of God, I know quite well, When the command he gives, We must the summons then obey, And in his presence live. Oh! little did I think how soon

His soul would soar above.
To those bright realms of endless day Where all is peace and love. Father of mercies, hear my cry,
Th, orphans shield, and widow stay,
And guide and guard their coming years,
For this to Thee I pray.

To Christ our Saviour there, The Rock of Ages now will be Our refuge in despair, Excellent Suggestions.

PRIVATE ROWING.

Wife and his mother look to Heaven,

Mr. Courtney, who is alleged by imaginative persons to be an oarsman, is about to accomplish the feat of beating Hanlan. He is to do this not by rowing a match with Hanlan but by rowing over a given distance in less time than Hanlan has ever after meals, and all the perplexing and rowed over a like distance. This is an changeful symptoms of established indigadmirable plan for Mr. Courtney, and it estion, are dispersed by this salutary is pleasant to find that he has discovered the true way in which to display his skill as an oarsman. His great feat will, of course, be performed in private. There are so many bad men who spend their whole time in poisoning Mr. Courtney, in hitting him on the head with sandclubs, and in sawing his boats that it will not be safe for him to take anyone into his confidence or to permit any one to watch him while beating Hanlan. He will probably row in the dead of the night when His wife is also dead. marauders with poisoned tea, sandclubs, and saws are asleep; and he will be his own starter, time keeper, umpire, stakeholder, committee of arrangements, and judge's steam launch. Rowing in such circumstances there is not the slightest doubt that Mr. Courtney will beat Hanlan's best time and forever put at rest the pretensions of that impertinent person. If all other public nuisances, such as Mr. John L. Sullivan, Mr. Slade, and the ham, N. B. pedestrian pests, were to follow Mr. Courtney's example and perform their great feats of "slugging" and walking in the Star Dyes. private, decent people would be under great obligations to them. If a man wants to walk a preposterous number of miles in six days or to "knock out" another man in four rounds, let him do it in secret. Thus he will save the public a good deal of annoyance and disgust and be able to claim a victory every time without fear of contradiction. - N. Y. "And at last was cured by this Hop Bitters the papers say so much about."
