THE PRISONER CARRY TURNS STATE'S EVI RIBLE DETAILS OF THE PHŒ-

NIX PARK MURDERS. London, Feb. 17 .- The hearing of the case against the prisoners, charged with conspiracy to murder Government officials, was resumed to-day in Dublin.

A report was current early in the morning that James Carey, member of the corporation and one of the prisoners charged with conspiracy to murder, would be a witness at the examination. The report subsequently proved to be well founded. All the prisoners were placed in the dock except Patrick Delaney. The sensation had scarcely subsided before Carey stepped into the witness box. The surprise among the prisoners was unbounded. The counsel for the prisoners objected to a question of Mr. Murphy, Crown Counsel, and alluded to Carey as an "infamous witness." Great excitement followed the remark, which drew a sharp rebuke from place, in favor of this great | the magistrate. Carey was hissed by the tificate, however, from an other prisoners. He spoke in a voice so eminent and well-known low that the prisoners in the dock cried to consist of fifty members, and its object was to remove "all tyrants." James Mullett was to be chairman. Mr. Forster and Earl Cowper were named among those to be removed. Relative to the further operations of the Dublin branch it was to be left to its own discretion. Walsh gave witness £50. Burke's name was subsequently mentioned among themselves. Arrangements were made for taking a house at Corkhill, close to Dublin Castle. from which Earl Copwer was to be shot, Early in December witness went to Phœnix Park with Curley and there met Mullett and Walsh, who were

By July, 1882, the Invincibles in Dublin numbered about thirty. The introduction of the witness to Sheridan occurred in December, 188 He again met Sheridan in February, 1882 when their confab about arms occurred. The prisoners listened to this testimony with breathless attention, hardly exchanging a word. The witness continued: After Walsh left Dublin a man called Captain McCafferty paid witness two sums of £25 and £15. Witness did not

Frank Byrne, he said, was a member of the Land Confederation. His wife bought the six knives. The rifle was slung round her neck under her cloak. On the second occasion she brought a similar consignment, but only four knives. MISSING AN INTENDED VICTIM. On the night Mr. Forster left Ireland fifteen Invincibles actually followed him to the Westland Row station. Curley looked into the cars, but only saw Mr. Forster's wife and daughter. The fifteen Invincibles were under the command of Curley on this occasion, who was obeying the orders of the mysterious Number One. As Mr. Forster had definitely left Ireland they were told to concentrate their attention upon Mr. Burke. Carey went to the Park on May 5. Fitzharris' cab met Number One opposite the Viceregal Lodge. There were also there Patrick Delaney, Tom McCaffrey, Curley, Brady, Smith and Kavanagh. They were there for the purpose of meeting Mr, Burke and "removing" him on this occasion, when Mr. Burke accidentally escaped by taking an unusual route. PLENTY OF MONEY.

Carey said Number One was evidently a military man. He always gave money. He said there was no limit. He could have £1,000 if he wished. The conspirators often talked among themselves as to the source of the money. Some of them thought it came from America. Carey himself thought it came from the Land League. Here the witness retired suddenly from his chair amid the hisses of the prisoners, some of whom shouted "perjured scoundrel," and one "town scoundrel," alluding to his Town Coun-cillorship TAKING CHILDREN TO SEE BUTCHERY. After a lunch, which the prisoners seemed to enjoy, Carey resumed. He said : All the prisoners on the 6th of May met in or about the Royal Oak tavern, except James Mullett, who was in prison. There were also two men named Dwyer, one of whom had gone to America. AN AWFUL MOMENT.

The counsel for the Crown carefully elicited every point. A pin could have been heard to drop when Carey detailed how he saw seven men meet the two gentlemen. He said Curley, Joseph Hanlan and Fagan were the first. Brady and Kelly were next, and McCaffrey and Patrick Delaney came after. Lord Frederick Cavendish and Mr. Burke were allowed to pass through by the first three, and the last four then faced right about. When Carey again penalty of death. (Here there was a sensation in the court room and loud cries of "Hush.") I timed my own movements accurately during the day. What I related occurred at 7.17 p. m. After I left the Park I met at the Island Bridge Joe Smith, a person who was acquainted with Mr. Burke's appearance and had accompanied me for the purpose of pointing him out. It was Smith who told Kavanagh to hurry up and take the nose-bag off. The witness repeated the conversation he had after the murder with Brady, who stated that he had stabbed Mr. Burke and afterwards settled Lord Frederick Cavendish. After that he went back to Mr. Burke and put a knife in his throat. The witness detailed his conversation with Brady, who said he stabled Mr. Burke in the left shoulder. Before the murder he (Carey) was waiting at the Polo Ground, and was summoned thence by Curley, who said he did not know what moment they might be wanted. The witness detailed his conversation with Curley in the evening, who said he had at first feared there was going to be another failure when he saw the men face about. Three of them were armed. Curley waited until the murderers were on the car and then got his return from the Castle, but this time into a cab and came to Dublin. He put a card into the box of the Dublin Express office stating what had been done. The next day he gave similar notices to the Times and the Freeman's Journal.
