Miramichi Advance.

A New Volume The ADVANCE enters, this week, on a new volume, its ninth year having ended with the issue of last week. is not necessary for us to say what we may think we have accomplished during our existence as a public journal, for it is probable that differences of opinion are entertained by even our friends on that subject. We have no regrets to express in reference to the course we have pursued in all matters affecting the interests of the public within our influence. We have striven earnestly, persistently and consistently for what we believed to be the well-being of all within our field of operation. The paper has been established on its present satisfactory basis at no small pecuniary sacrifice to its founder-a fact not to be wondered at when the fate of the half dozen or more Chatham journals which brought only failure to those who established them, is remembered. Various causes, of course, contributed to these failures, the leading one, we are convinced, being the want of loyal-International S. S. Com'v ty on the part of their professed friends to them. When Chatham was without and restless political spirits needed an 3 TRIPS A WEEK. organ, they were, doubtless, profuse in their promises of support, but they seem to have imagined that one year's support was about all that was needed and, thereafter, any respectable newspaper establishment ought to subsist on friendly sentiment. We say this much n justice to defunct local newspaper enterprises and from a sense of duty to the newspaper business. A good many of our own friends have done all that could be reasonably expected of themand a few, really more-yet many who ought to support us by advertising and printing patronage fail to do so, while hundreds of subscribers are satisfied to receive the paper regularly, year by year, and, at the same time, fail to pay for it. This has obliged us to adopt the plan of cutting off old subscribers long in arrears as new ones come in-so as not to decrease our circulation-and to take unpleasant steps in collecting from our "friends" who have treated us so badly. We hope by next November, when we shall have accomplished our tenth year, to have brought the paper's subscription list down to the strictly "cash in advance" system, which, after all, is the only correct one, because so many people think that when they owe a newspaper proprietor only a dollar or two it is so little that he can well do without it, forgetting, at the same time, that it is the aggregation of teachers for an increase of pay. these dollars that makes up the revenue of his business and the means on which he has to depend for paying its expenses. We know it is not customary for papers to celebrate their birthdays by publishing matter suggestive of hard times, but, as what we have stated is the honest truth and it deals with facts of its being regarded only as a step-closely affecting the well-being of the ADVANCE, it is right and proper that we should take occasion to say what we dear friends whose only merit is that they "take the paper," while, at the

Characteristic Work. A correspondent writing from Rogersville shows that a little wholesome organization and discipline is required in that parish. It seems that one the late municipal councillors has been practicing a kind of terrorism over his brother Frenchmen, and declaring that the safety of the parish depends on keeping the English-speaking portion of it from sharing in its representation. influence, he assured his co-nationalists other Councillor, who, last year, "obeyed" in the representation of the parish with him, he would not go to the Council, even if elected. He was asked to accept another Frenchman on the ticket with him-a man, superior intellectually-if not morally-to his late colleague, but an influence was brought to bear on this person to prevent him from running. Then, an Englishspeaking candidate was brought out, and the Frenchman who was induced not to run was made chairman of the meeting on election day. The election was characterized by the most miserable canvasses, and the ballot-box was evidently stuffed in the interest of the terrorising Councillor. When the ballots were being counted the Chairman found as much difficulty, almost, in getting them apart as he did in cramming them into the box, and, still, things did not seem to suit the managers. The electoral meeting ended by the table on which the ballot-counting was conducted being kicked over, involving the mixture and theft of ballots and a scene of confusion such as might naturally be expected to follow from such organized rowdyism as characterized this attempt | ernment, but in all those cases the salaries to import national prejudices into even average higher than they do in New

a municipal contest. It may be well to suggest to the persons principally responsible for the un desirable feeling raised in the new parish, that the County Council can hardly be expected to sympathize with the "exclusively French representation" cry raised by them. The desire of our people is in accord with the spirit of the constitution, which aims to give to all classes due influence in our representative assemblages. If the members of have to be increased. as a whole, were to turn the tables on the ultra-French councillor from Rogersville and tell him that his parish should not receive any consideration until it had sent men of the same national stripe as that of the large majority of the board, to represent them, he would probably realise the absurdity of his position. As it is, he does not seem capable of looking that far beyond the limits of his parish. When the new election is held in Rogersville steps should be taken to make it a fair one. A presiding officer who will know the difference between the thickness three or four ballots and that of one ballot ought to be provided and, during the counting of the ballots, the blackguards who kick over tables and steal ballots in the ensuing melee ought to be excluded from the polling place. It will only be a parish affair in a new district, but in the interest of law and order it will be well to avoid having Northumberland disgraced by these characteristic experiences imported from communistic quar-

A LOGICAL PROPOSITION .-- It has be compelled to ask the Government for a drawback. If cotton and one or two other articles are made much dearer this will have to be done. And why not? Is the tariff to be made so as to operate in favor of a few manufacturers to the disadvantage of our largest and best manufacturers in our staple indus-What manufacturer is so eminently Canadian as the lumber manufacturer? The cotton-man imports the raw material of another clime, and works it up on machinery imported from another land. The lumber maker takes the raw product of the forest and puts it into shape for the markets of the world by machinery of Canadian make. Why should the tariff overburden and weigh down the latter, and advantage the former? In our own City and Province the American maker of lumber has a great advantage over the Canadian in the United States market. Why should not the Government be asked at least to equalise the difference, particularly when it so heavily taxes the Canadian producer? Why should one industry be oppressed, and the effect made so determinedly to benefit the other ?-St. John Globe.

The Pay of Teachers.

The Telegraph says, -"Dr. Rand has left a legacy to the Educational Depart ment in the shape of a demand by the will not be disputed that in the majority of cases the pay of teachers is not sufficient*to induce the best men and women to make teaching their life work. This is greatly to be regretted, because nothing is of more value in imparting instruction than experience, and nothing so demoralizes the teaching profession as the fact ping stone to something else. When the present school system was instituted this was one of the evils sought to be remehave said. To our paying patrons we died, and it is with regret that we learn, return our best thanks for their good on so good an authority as the gentleman offices; to the general public we owe an | who had been charged with the adminisacknowledgment for unmistakeable evi- tration of the school law, that a remedy dences of their appreciation, and to our has not yet been found. It is not impossible that one reason of this may be that the teachers are looking to the wrong quarter for their increase of salary. same time, they forget to pay for it, we Without professing to know the views of owe a measure of attention which they the Government on the point, we venture the assertion that the increase cannot come out of the Provincial Treasury. The income of the province is limited and the drafts upon it are many and various. A very large sum is now given annually to education, and no considerable addition can be made to it without seriously impairing the grants to other public services. We have not data at hand on which to base a comparison, but the Government aid given in New Brunswick to education will probably be found to bear quite as large a proportion to the whole revenue as the state aid given in any country. Having a certain kind of general-store | We are, however, enabled to give a few statistics relative to the United States. that unless he was returned with the In Maine the average pay of male teachers is $33 per month and of females $16 a month: in Alabama the averages are $17 for each; in Vermont $30 and $20; in North Carolina, $23 for each; in New Hampshire, $37 and $24; in South Carolina, $28 and $25. In Massachusetts the average is $76 for males and $33 for females; in New York it is $45 for both, while Nevada heads the list with an average of $106 for males and $84 for females.

The statistics in our educational report do not enable an average of all the salaries to be taken, but if we take the salaries of second class teachers as an average of the whole we have the average for males $26. and for females $20, per month, or rather these were the averages four years ago, and the difference now is probably not very great. So that we may conclude that the average of teachers' salaries in New Brunswick is less than in any State in the Union except Alabama, and perhaps North Carolina. As a further contribution to this interesting subject, we may add that in ten of the States over one half the salaries of teachers is paid by the State. California taking the lead, paying 98 per cent., and giving its male teachers $84 a month average salary and its female teachers $68 a month. In fourteen of the States there is no aid from the State Gov-

Brunswick. "We think these facts show that some steps ought to be taken to increase the pay of teachers, and the important question arises: How shall it be done? Since the Legislative grant cannot be increased, because the number of schools must continue to increase, and it is therefore practically impossible to give each a larger sum from the revenue than they are now getting, it follows, if the remedy is to be found in
