Insurance

Mr. John A. Wright of St. John is here on a visit in the interests of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States, now the leading company of the world. No one that can afford to pay a premium should be without insurance, and there can be no better savings bank than is afforded by that strong substantial company with fifty-three millions of invested funds and rapidly increasing business throughout the world. There is, we believe, no more popular company doing business in this Dominion, and certainly none in a better position to pay hand some dividends to its policy holders or more worthy of the patronage of the insuring public.

How It Is Done.

Two Chatham anglers visited Tabusintac river last week, which, as all fishermen acquainted with our northern waters know, used to be one of our best trout streams, although it has, in late years. been falling off, like too many others which are practically without any protection, whatever, from the Department of Fisheries or the Local Government. While our friends were at the mouth of Trout Brook they saw Jacob Price and Jas. Simpson in the act of capturing trout with a herring or gaspereaux net. They were beating the brook down in order to drive the trout into their net which was set below. The Chatham men found their basket which had a number of trout in it with the net marks on e of them. They confiscated the lot gr proceeded down river, but the poachers came after them, only to receive a lesson on their wretched avocation. To show how bold informants state that they had a salmon

Gloucester Circuit Court.

BATHURST, 3rd August, 1884. Gloucester Circuit Court opened this morning, Hon. Judge Fraser presiding Owing to the Judge being detained at Dalhousie by the Court there the Glou-

Nelson Notes.

To the Editor of the Advance. SIR.—Some time has passed since Nelson has been represented in your columns, and at this time it may not be amiss to make a few notes regarding a village that is not least among those situated along grand old Miramichi. The public schools opened three weeks ago and the teachers, after a protracted but pleasantly spent vacation, return to the arduous duties of training the "young ideas to shoot." The advanced department is not so large as before vacation, and the attendance is irregular on account of "berry picking" "picnics and excursions." The primary department has a large attendance and the pupils are learning well. Nelson is not now second in Mr. Doolan has finished Mr. Hays' new building, which combines both a dwelling and a store. Richibucto, Sept. 2nd 1884. FIRE AT RICHIBUCTO.

A serious fire occurred here last even ing about 10.30. It was in the store occupied by George McMinn. The building with its contents was destroyed. The law office of Robert Hutchison, Esq., was thoroughly destroyed, a few timbers remaining to show where even handed legal advice was, for many years, dispensed with that liberal hand and legal ability for which Mr. H. is so well known. His books, papers and office furniture were saved. The amount of insurance, if any, has not been made public. The building adjoining, formerly Mr. Wm. McMinn's harness shop, now the property of Mr. Joseph Michaud, was saved, although damaged on the southern side.

The expensive fire engine so recently imported by the Municipality was found incapable of doing any material benefit until McMinn's and Roxborough's were placed beyond saving. After the engine was got in good order effectual work was done. Too much praise cannot be given to the town ladies who were active in carrying buckets of water and rendering other valuable aid, while several prominent citizens stood complacently by and maintained that "masterly inactivity" for which they are noted on such occasions. ANOTHER FIRE. On Wednesday of last week fire was discovered on the south end of the Leishman building, adjoining the store of Mr. Martin Flanagan. Halifax takes the Pie. The Halifax Recorder reports the following as part of an entertainment given

The feature of the performance at the Lyceum last evening on the occasion the benefit to Hazlie and Rverson. lessees of the theatre, was the pie-eating match which ended the bill. Four chairs were placed on the stage; four pies placed on the chairs, and four youths with their hands tied behind them knelt before the aforesaid pies. They were no cylinderescapement affairs, but honest home-made, soft-bottomed, full-of-blueberry-pies. And the signal was given, and the boys bit and the genial John Phillips went round the quartette encouraging them and pushing each contestant's face into the pastry just to give them a better grip of the pies, which seemed to want to get off the chairs. One of the pie-biters got his eye full of blueberry jam and couldn't see the rest of his pie, and gave up; another bit a small tooth comb which had got astray somehow, and only two were left. They struggled manfully, and one (Walsh) carried off the prize.

On the forward side the door was closed and men in the bunks sleeging against it. The rear side door was also closed, and the men who awoke discovered the lower unoccupied berth near to it, containing rubbish, to be on fire, filling the car with smoke and cutting off escape in that direction. The only means of egress was through a small window beween the car and engine. Two men rowded through this opening and tried to pass in water from the engine tank Owing to the suffocating gases it was difficult to arouse the sleepers, and some were kicked and bruised in a shocking manner and pitched out of the window. The screams of those unable to get through the blockade to the aperture were terrifying. In the midst of the confusion wo or three heroic souls appeared equa to the occasion. They bravely cut away to their companions to find them already in the agony of death. Albert Lake and his friend Kent walked over the cactus: their bare feet, pouring buckets of oil on the blistered unfortunates and wrapping them in blankets. Many of the rescued, in being pulled through the small window of the car, had their limbs broken and joints dislocated. At daylight the flat car carried the charred bodies into Greely for interment. The county commissioners buried the remains in coffins seven feet wide and ten feet long in Greely cemetery. Probably a score were killed and as many more terribly injured.

and a large circle of relations and friends to mou Requiescat in pace. Dear Father thou has left us. Thy earthly career is e'er; Thou art gone to join the blessed, And live forevermore.

Thou has left us very sad father, Thy sweet face no more to see
Till we rejoin thee in Heaven we hope; To live eternally.

There's one among the rest of us, This grief weighs heaviest on; We pray Our Heavenly Father May cast an eve on her The old homestead still wears a smile. But, ah! a different one To what we were wont to see

When thou was left at home It only remains for us Our last end to think upon. That when this messenger again shall come, We can say-Thy will be done.
