The Canada Pacific.

The most noteworthy feature of Ottawa Parliamentary proceedings is a proposition of the Government to give further aid to the Canada Pacific Railway. Resolutions have been introduced to that end and, we presume, the Government's large and pliant majority will carry them through. Briefly summarised, they provide Dec. 1 Men digging drain.

The time for the payment of the balance of $2,500,000 to secure the 3 per cent. dividend to be extended from 1st February next to 1st February, 1888. The deposit of $8,691,000 for the purposes of the guarantee is to be returned. A loan of $22,500,000 to be made to the company from time to time, as the work The Company mortgage the whole of

They also to give the Government 21.

000,000 acres of land grant unsold, and the proceeds of land sales are to be used to repay the Government loan.

This, then is a further move of this gigantic monopoly to realise its ambitious purposes. As soon as it was known that the new proposition was under Government consideration, the Grand Trunk Railway Company acres, with Dwelling House and Barn, well fenced offered to take the whole contract off the Pacific Company's hands, accepting it from the Government of Canada without further amendment or change of terms. This has not, Geo. Stothart, apparently, changed the Government's mind in the matter, any more chant, deceased, are requested to present the same than the more tavorable offer of the contract was first being considered. The people of Canada must be astounded by this new turn in Canadian Pacific affairs. Those of them who have given attention to the matter know that the means placed by Government in the Company's hands have been largely used in buying up and otherwise obtaining control of as much as possible of the railways of the country. These speculative operations have not in creased public confidence in the Comthere will, for the purpose of satisfying the moneys pany's stock and it is "away down in made in payment thereof, be sold at public auction | the fifties." STRUGGLE WITH DARKNESS.

When the Warden took the chair for he evening session there were four little lamps struggling with the "visible" darkness. The more pudent members the reporter of the ADVANCE appeared to have anticipated the necessities of the sombre occasions and, with a unaminit which often manifests itself on such special occasion, sought the recesses of their coat pockets, from which they drew each a parcel containing one or two Christmas-tree candles of diminutive size and corresponding powers of illumination. Each lighted his candle or candles and allowed sufficient wax to melt from them upon his desk to keep the "glim" in an upright position. These men who had thus provided themselves with light, looked as wise as the eastern Magi and as solemn as the ten foolish virgins of Scripture, as they fixed their lights in position, while the more unsophisticated country councillors -chiefly of those who had voted, yea, on ths Railway resolutions and who had forced on the night session - wore a perplexed expression of countenance, which could be seen even in the doubtful light of the tiny lamps and candles. If any of them R. R. Call, Police acct. for coal and gas, | had a suspicion that a joke at their expense lurked "in the gloaming," it was extinguished as they observed the seriousness which sat upon each face behind the candles.
