MISSION SERVICES. - Rev. Father Weisel of the Redemptorist order commenced a "Mission" at the pro-cathedral, Chatham, on Sunday last, which will close tomorrow evening. He is a most eloquent and effective preacher and the services are very largely attended, many not of the Roman Catholic faith being among the congregations.

PILOTAGE, -The World has a very tiresome-looking article on the above subject, which we may have time to read between now and next week. A glance at it shows that it represents Mr. McEachran as saying something is a lie and has the usual choice language peculiar to World editorials. Perhaps we may, after clearing away the gutter rubbish find something requiring comment.

JAMES PARKER, the Boiestown weather prophet, predicts that the open weather will continue until about the 24th, when some cold days may be expected, to be followed again by warmer weather. Mr. Parker, who, as an astrological explorer, is perhaps unknown to fame outside his own district, has a creditable observatory at his house, six miles from Boiestown, and possesses a by no means inferior telescope. Just now he is deeply interested in the examination of Saturn. A few years ago he attempted the construction of a machine to illustrate the movements of the bodies of our solar system. THE ABANDONMENT OF THE 'SOFALA., -An official meeting was recently held in the Wreck Commissioner's court, Westminster Session House, London, into the circumstances attending the abadonment of the 'Sofala,' Oct. 1st, while on a voyage from the Severn to the Miramichi. From the evidence it was shown that the vessel sailed on the 26th of Sept., in ballast, and that all went well until the 30th, when stormy weather set in, during which the vessel sprung a leak, and the pumps becoming choked, the crew were forced to abandon her. After the abandonment, the 'Sofala,' caught fire caused it was supposed by the stove in the cabin upsetting. John Stewart, of the firm of R. A. & J. Stewart, owners of the vessel, gave evidence to show what the vessel was worth. He said that the vessel was purchased seven years ago at a cost dressing case. He has left Newcastle to £2,500. Since that time there was spent on repairs, £3,215. When the ship sailed on her last voyage he estimated her valve at £2,000; she was only insured for £1,200. The Commissioners, in giving judgment said that according to the evidence the ship started from Sharpness in good condition, that the vessel was not prematurely abandoned; that every effort was made to save the vessel; that no blame was attributable to Capt. McDougall or any of his officers, and that the ves-

The Scott Act has been badly defeated in St. Catharines, Out. The prospects of it being carried there were very good Instrumental music, by Miss Ada Johnson and until a day or two before the election. At a meeting held at that time, says the press telegram, - "A number of prominent citizens who had gone as a deputation to Halton and Oxford to see how the act worked in these counties got up on the platform and said their investigation had not been favorable to the act. Rev. Mr. Booth also spoke against the act; so did Dr. Thrales of Woodstock. Until lately the News had been in favor of the act; the Journal had opposed it right along The Liberal Temperance Association of Toronto organized a branch in St. Catharines and took an active part in the fight. Goldwin Smith delivered an address against the act, as also did Moses Oates. A feature of the fight was that many men in no way interested in the liquor trade worked against the act." The result was that it was defeated by a vote of 1027 to

A good many well-intentioned people may think that the voters of St. Catharine are unfavorable to temperance, but such is by no means the case. Earnest advocates of temperance, who, themselves, were teetotallers, voted and worked against i because they were convinced by personal observation and careful enquiry that the result of bringing it into operation elsewhere had only checked the sale of intoxicants temporarily ; that not only did the traffic go on in the accustomed places in defiance of the act, but new places opened quietly and the stuff retailed was of a lower grade than before, while the towns and municipalities lost a large licens revenue which ratepayers, generally were obliged to make up for. A large number of people, however, will, in the name of temperance, shut their eyes to the facts and let the traffic have full and unlicensed swing. It is a matter in which a fals sentiment gets the better of plain trutl and the public interest, while all the benefit there is in an admittedly hurtful business is reaped by the very men who should be obliged to pay well for a privilege they take to them selves in spite of the law and those wh claim to be especially good in temperance

Verdict against a Commercial Agency.

The actions of damages instituted by the firms of S. Carsley and Carsley & Co Montreal, for $50,000, respectively against the Bradstreet Mercantile Agency were decided by Hon. Mr. Justice Loran ger, on Friday, in favor of the plaintiffs. On the 16th of June, 1884, they printed in their circular, which is circulated Montreal and elsewhere, after Mr. Car sley's name, and words "Call at the of fice." This Mr. Carsley considered con veyed the idea that the information con tained something disparaging to th credit of the firm. A number of person called and were informed that the firm of S. Carsley and Carsley & Co, owe $300,000 to English creditors, and asked an extension of time, whereas the firm of Carsley & Co. only owed $150,000 and the firm of S. Carsley owed nothing Two actions were then taken against the Bradstreet Company for damages. Judge Loranger, in his judgment, stated that the Bradstreet Company does not guaran tee the correctness of its information, and it is so stated in plain terms in the contract, so that they are at liberty to circulate any amount of false rumors and and still they claim that this is a privileged communication. A trader not a subscriber might have been ruined by such false rumors, and because it would have pleased the subscribers to relieve the company in a private contract of the responsibility of its own acts, we are to be told that this is a privileged communication, and that such trader must submit to a contract to which he has been no party and suffer for it. This is not and has never been the law. This contract may be binding between the parties The tables were nicely to it, but amounts to nothing as regards decorated, and the viands were of third parties, and will not under any circumstance be considered as one conferous courses, and the toasts were drunk ring to the informer the right of hiding himself under the cover of a privileged communication against the party whose name, reputation and credit would have been blackened. A report to the effect that a P. Bet- disease would sell his last cow to get a Rev. Mr.O'Meara, and the visiting physicians are systematically engaged in affordng relief to those who are isolated and prevented from obtaining supplies for themselves. The value of a good executive officer in the mayor's chair is now apparent more than ever it was in the history of the town; and we are bound to say that Mayor Beer is, in this crisis, doing the duty well. Therefore it is not necessary for their friends or the public to hold communication with the infected families or run any risk of spreading the disease. In the week that is past thousands persons have been vaccinated, and they have thus barred the door against the disease. With a continuance of the measures now being taken and no reckless conduct on the part of infected persons, we may fairly hope that in another week the disease will be pretty well confined to the hospital.

A despatch to the Halifax Herald, dated Charlottetown, Nov. 20, says: A better feeling prevails to-day. The board of health believe they have the epidemic under control. Since yesterday only one case has been reported in the city-Mrs. Hugh Smith, who lives in Mc-Nally's lane, off Pownal street. Two others developed have been removed to the hospital. Two cases are also reported from Bracklev Point, 14 miles from the city. Another death occurred to-day, Miss Gunn, who was removed from the Rocklin house to the hospital. She beonged to the city, and was 17 years of age. This makes the fourth death since the outbreak. The report of the Moncton correspondent of the St. John Sun, that the people of P. E. Island are panic tricken, is incorrect. They are only taking proper precautions to prevent the spread of the disease. Country people are naturally timid, but the country market was well attended to-day and business seemed active as usual. The vigorous neasures of the board of health has in great measure restored public confidence and the worst is evidently past. The authorities in St. John are showng themselves fully alive to the danger hreatening this province from smallpox, and they have given directions to have a nouse to house visitation for the purpose f vaccinating all the inhabitants. Many itizens have already taken this recaution, but the proportion of inhabiants vaccinated is still very small. The Amherst correspondent of the hronicle writes: Every precaution is being taken in Amherst to prevent the ppearance of smallpox. Nearly everyne is being vaccinated. The board of ealth are making arrangements for a ospital, and have recommended the pubic not to congregate at the railway depot n contact with this dread disease. Another case of smallpox has made its ppearance at North Sydney. Moneton doctors are also doing a rushng business in this line. In one medical gentleman's office the other night 61 persons were vaccinated, and the total number vaccinated in town since the comnencement of the scarce some weeks ago cannot be far short of 2,000 or 3,000. A Montreal despatch says: The numper vaccinated in Montreal since the beginning of the epidemic is now estimated at 75.000. The expenses of the civic board of health last week were $11,929. making the expenses to date $69,926,67. Chatham people are also being voluntarily vaccinated and our Board of Health will probably move in the Smallpox mat_ ter at its meeting announced in another

Narrow Escape From Death.

A man from near Digby N. S. whe had been at work during the summer in the low marsh lands through which the great sewer carries all the filth from the city of Boston on its way to the sea, became MONTHEAL, blood-poisoned, and all who saw him supposed he would surely die. His legs, face, hands, and in fact every portion of his body were swolen almost beyond recognition, and he was one solid sore from the tips of the toes to the crown of his head. In fact his whole scalp was a blazing ulcer. The poor fellow was unknown, without friends and almost penniless, and knew not what to do. In his great distress he fortunately bethought himself of I. S. Johnson & Co. the proprietors of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment. He had never seen them nor they him, and if they had they would not have known thim in the condition he was in. However, he applied to them for help and they supplied him with Parsons' Pills, believing that these pills would cure him if his case was curable. The poor fellow commenced to take the pills one a night, according to directions, although he could hardly be restrained from taking a whole box at one gulp, so eager was he to get relief.
