resolution :-Whereas it is thought advisable by this Council that the Local Government should awend the statute relating to the appointment of Alms House Commissioners in this County, and Whereas the appointment of said Alms House commissioners has, heretofore, been vested in the Government, which has not only been unsatisfacory to this Council, but more so to the ratepayers of this County, as it is their opinion that this Council, as it has the voting, assessing and collecting of Alms House Contingencies, should also have the power of appointing said Alms House Whereas it is thought by this Council that more efficient men, to a certain extent, could be pro-cured, provided that this Council granted a fair

Therefore resolved that the Secretary-Treasurer be directed to prepare a bill to be laid before the Local Legislature at its next session asking leave for the Municipality of Northumberland to appoint the Alms House Commissioners for said Municip ality and to allow them the same travelling fees a are allowed to Councillors, and Further resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded by the Secretary Treasurer to each of our representatives in the Local Assembly. Coun. Campbell said it was unnecessary for him to say a great deal in reference to this resolution as every Councillor felt that it was wrong in principle for the County to raise and vote money for the support of a purely local institution and have the Government appointing those who were to expend it. He also believed that if members of the Commission were called upon to travel, in some cases, sixty miles to attend its meetings, they ought to be paid at least what it cost them. Until the present injustice in this respect was done away with the Upper Parishes would remain unrepresented at the Board. If the appointment of Alms House Commissioners were vested in the Council it would be far more satisfactory to the people.

The resolution was seconded by Coun, Morrissey and unanimously adopted. Adjourned until 10 a. m., Wednesday. WEDNESDAY FORENOON.

RICHIBUCTO, January 20. On Wednesday night last Mr. Robert Baldwin's house, on the post road leading to Welford Station and a few miles east of the half way house at Molus River, was destroyed by fire. The only articles saved were a feather bed and one half barrel of flour. This makes the third house burned in the Parish of Weldford within a few weeks.

This community was startled to hear that Thomas Curran, a hotel prietor at Kingston, had been found dead in his bed on Saturday morning. Deceased had been out driving the previous evening and up to a late hour appeared in good health. His sudden death is a sad blow to his family and large circle of relatives and friends who have the sympathy of the whole cummunity. The funeral on Sunday last was largely attended, although the day was excessively cold.

The thermometer this morning indicated The Great Carnival

Thousands upon thousands of people from all parts of the continent are going to the Montreal Carnival at the end of January. We hear the Montreal Daily Star is bringing out a magnificent Carnival number, something that will eclipse in artistic merit and absorbing interest every illustrated paper heretofore issued in this country, It will have the attack on the ice-palace and defence by the Garrison in all its magnificent pomp and brilliancy; the tobogganning-fete in its true natural beauty; the Ice Condora after the Egyptian models, inaugurated with electric and pyrotechnic luminations; the mam moth ice-lion (British); the great sleigh drive, embracing thousands of superb equidages, and probably the grandest thing of the kind of modern times; the fancy dress entertainments, true to nature. and a magnificeut inset-plate of the icepalace in tints-a fine picture for framing. It will be remembered that there was a tremendous furore over the last year's Carnival number of the Montreal Star. the issue running up near a quarter of a milbe far ahead of last. In dealing with this problem, desperate enough in itself, Mr. Gladstone was at a special disadvantage from having paid only one short visit to the country, and his want his speeches. Lord peals of his new Irish Secretary for the Hartington, from a patrician idler playing favour of the Nationalists are met with with politics as a hereditary amusement, renewed outbursts of venomus hatred and has become a serious politician, and not appointing Alms House Commissioners, foul abuse. He has brought the nation in only a serious politician, but an object of

to disunionism by his omission to declare his own unalterable loyalty to the Union; and if his silence indicates irresolution or a secret intention of giving way, it is far, better for him as well as for his country that his reign should close, even though it closed in gloom. Disaster is not grievous as dishonour. In South Africa, and still more in Egypt, there has been vacillation with calamitous results. This hardly anybody denies, and the demand of the Times that the Ministry should resign, though it can hardly be serious, and will certainly not be effectual, may be taken as a strong sign of national impatience. There were good reasons against intervention in Egypt, unless the Suez Canal was in danger, and Mr. Bright, no doubt, now feels well satisfied with the course which he took. On the other hand, destiny seemed to point to a British occupation of the country, the ruler of which had become the warder of the highway to India. This much, however, was clear that to interfere was to occupy, at least till a permanent settlement should have been effected; and the imbroglio which now seems bottomless is manifestly the consequence of having taken the first and really decisive step without distinct forecast of the mevitable consequences or re solution to embrace them. The fact, however, is that the foreign and military policy of the country has now, by the advance of democracy, passed out of the hands of the Government. The vacillations, inconsistencies, and blunderings which the nation is deploring are those of the nation itself, and of the press, which is the many-voiced organ of its fickle, irlion. It is said this year's number will responsible, and divided will. In the Liberal party, to whose support the Government had always to look, there has reigned throughout a perfect Babel of opinion on the Egyptian question. The present editor of the Pall Mall Gazette takes with the atmost violence the opday. Even the Opposition has been united in nothing but the determination to condemn, harass, and thwart the Government. This haphazard expedition to Khartoum, the issue of which every body posite line to his predecessor of yester. awaits with misgiving, is the work not of a Cabinet Council, but of the passionate interest which the nation has conceived in the character and adventures of an in. spired madman.
