I. O. G. T. LECTURE. - We learn that H. A. McKeown, Esq., is unavoidably prevented from keeping his engagement to lecture in the I. O. G. T. course on 11th inst., as announced. The committee will, no doubt, fill in the date with some other speaker.

THECURLERS'DANCE. - As we go to press the Curlers' dance at Masonic Hall, Chatham is about commencing. The hall is most tastefully decorated and we expect to have the pleasure of reporting the affair as a most succesful one. The curlers have spared neither labor or expense in their preparations, the decorations of the hall being most creditable.

Moncron's new Post Office and Custom House is finished and now occupied by the proper officials. The building a very substantial one and cost about $35,000. The architect who planned it entirely omitted to provide a registry office-a rather singular oversight, which was not remedied during construction.

CURLING. - The Bathurst Curlers - the junior curling organization of the North Shore—played against both Newcastle and Chatham Clubs last week. They were beaten 49 points at Newcastle, where the ice was "tricky" and unfamiliar to them, At Chatham they were more successful, three of their rinks coming out almost even and one being rather badly defeated. At Chatham they were handicapped by having to travel from Newcastle in Friday's severe storm.

JAMES W. LANERGAN, a gentleman well known in the province as the proprietor of the old Lyceum theatre, St. John, and also a lessee of the Academy of Music there, died in Boston on Monday last. That Requisition.

That requisition has shuffled itself into daylight through the medium of the Ad vocate with the usual hallelujah shout of the editor, who is only clay in the hands of the Newcastle potters. There are always people of the retriever breed, who are ready to rush after their master's stick, though flung in any direction and come back with it in a glory of mud, with tail and visage expressive of delight over the performance and expectancy of another servile effort of the same sort. The document faces the public without a smile for its mockery or a blush for its modesty, but with a coubtful hesitation, as if troubled with a bad conscience in pretending to be what it is not, -viz., a requisition. It is a poor play-acting thing, after all, dressed up in a lot o faded fustian and tinsel addressing the gods in the gallery, which is packed for the occasion-witness the electoral listsbut fearful of the criticisms of the pit and boxes. Indeed, it seems a medley of old played-out pieces, strung together without connection or coherence, relying more on their alluring titles than anything else. The legislature was opened at Fredericton on Thursday last. The display, in military guard, fine teilettes of the ladies present, etc. was somewhat more elabor-

Reference was made in the Speech to the fact that this was the first session of the second century of the legislature; to HAY BY AUCTION. -See Mr. Wyse's the putting down of the Northwest rebellion by Canada's own military forces; to the precautions taken against smallpox; to the good crops, the coming Colonial and Indian Exhibition at London and the additional provisions made for the comfort and employment of the Insane of the province. So excellent an opportunity of placing the merits of New Brunswick as a home for emigrants before the people of the mother country may not occur again, and it would be a matter of extreme regret if the means of attracting settlers so likely to influence thebetterclass of immigrants, and so much in keeping with the resources at the disposal of the Government, should fail through a want of public spirit or patriotic feeling in our own people. "I congratulate you upon the result of the appeal to the Imperial privy council upon the question of the constitutionality of the Dominion liquor license act; this lecision has affirmed more broadly than the judgment of the supreme court of Canada has done, the legislative jurisdiction of the province on this subject, and has declared the law to the full extent contended for by my government since the origin of the controversy. My government has also formulated against the Dominion a claim for losses occasioned the by the Dominion government, down to a recent date, of the fishery rights belonging to New Brunswick in the non-tidal waters of the province. As the propriety of this claim cannot, I think, be questioned, I look for its early settlement. The papers relating thereto will be laid before you. The vote being recorded-Mr. Park said he was surprised that the Government had not thought it necessary to reply to his colleague, particularly as they had so much speaking ability on their side of the house. The present government had been given a trial by the people because of their promises of re requisition. The platform one on the same subject now. He was the country was too much governed. The Government had only sympathy to give to the lumbermen.

Mr. Burchill-I did not say that. Mr. Park said the latter sentence was his (Park's) own. In order to test the feeling of the house he would move the following, which the government might regard as a want of confidence motion if

Resolved, That the following words be added after the word "history" at the end of the first paragraph of the address; "But we beg to inform your honor that the policy of your honor's advisers governing our crown lands and the regulations in connexion therewith, has been detrimental to the best interests of the lumber trade of the Province."

Hon, Mr. Blair said that before remarking on the character of the amendment he gentleman who had moved it was pursuing a course calculated to promote the object that he pretended to be anxious to attain. Has the amendment been moved with the desire to lessen the burdens of the lumbermen? If the hon, gentleman desired to have the stumpage reduced would he commence directly with an attack upon the government? The position of the mover of the amendment was not so much to get the feeling of the house as to embarrass certain other members. It was a political move rather than one honestly

made in the interest of the lumbermen. Had the honorable gentleman been honest would he not have chosen a different opportunity than the present? Would he not have put it on the table in no way connected with the budget or the address? The proposition now made was a formidable one, entirely unsupported by proof. ng with the same subject of the licensing | The only evidence put forward by his hon. friend was that contained in a circular issued by Mr. Snowball in reference to the depression of the lumber trade. Would the opposition have us part with our public lands as the late government has done? Under their management their friends were given large tracts of valuable lands for little or nothing. Do > they blame us now for refusing to sell our public lands? They make no exception in the amendment, but broadly attack the general policy of the government. As to the regulations the house could not condemn them as a whole. Let the mover of the amendment take up the regulations and say which one needed amendment. He unfortunately knew the lumber trade was depressed not only in New Brunswick but all over the world. It cannot be the regulations that affect it in Quebec or Nova Scotia. He had no fault to find with Mr. Snowball's desire to have the stumpage reduced. That gentleman has not looked at it from a provincial but a personal standpoint. In reference to our ten years system he pointed to Quebec no crown lands at all, having parted with them to private individuals. Although the tax there is light the lumber trade is depressed. He denied that the rate of stumpage charged by the government of this province created the present depression. He would be glad if a reduction in the stumpage could be made, but the fact was that all the revenue was needed to carry on the affairs of the country. If hi hon, friend is speaking for the opposition he would ask how, if they were in power, they would after reducing the stumpage provide for the support of the schools and other expenses? Would they resort to direct taxation and go to every man's door for money to carry on the school service and to build bridges? The house is asked to condemn the system for ten years leases. The government feel that the sense of the country is with them on that question. The government refuse to sell the best lands of the country. Not only was the house asked to condemn that system but it was asked to condemn all the regulations in reference to crown lands. The amendment should not be adopted. The mover has admitted that it is a want of confidence motion. If he

(Mr. Park) had put forward a distinct | Colter, motion and if the opinion of the house was | McAdam, in favor of reducing the stumpage, the government might see what could be done Humphrey, -8. in the matter and might act if it could do so without affecting its position as a government. His colleague the honorable provincial secretary had been making a study of this lumber question for some time past and would no doubt lay the result of his labors before the house at an early day. The amendment of his hon. friend, Mr. Park, was simply a political manoeuvre and was not calculated to win

Mr. McAdam said he would support the amendment. He was opposed to ten year leases because they locked up the country. He was opposed to $1,25 stumpage, but would favor making the stumpage $1. He would like to know why the cost of collecting stumpage in the past had been so high. Hon. Mr. Blair .- Ask the ex-surveyor

Mr. Burchill said he had not expected to have occasion to speak on this question just now. He would not do so, only he believed that the course of two of his colleagues on the other side of the house was with the view of injuring himself. He believed that they wanted to put himse f and a few other members from the northern counties in a false position on this question. As his honorable friend had county Carnival council meeting he had hoped this matter would have been discussed in a non-partisan manner. It would seem that cerare ves for the scalpel to be applied to it, that the lumbermen were satisfied with tain Miramichi lawyers had formed themselves into a kind of salvation army on however, for ability in anything, even in erators like Mr. Snowball that suffered this question. The old government had carried on the services of the country when the stumpage was only 80 cents. The present administration could do the same if they would manage the affairs of the province prudently. The fact that operators had accepted the ten years' leases was no argument in favor of the system. They would have been obliged to have accepted even 20 years' leases had such been forced upon them, having their means invested in the lumbering bus- Dry Goods, Groceries and iness. The representatives of the north had shown by their speeches that they were not in accord with the government; but some of them, he was sorry to believe, rather then em. barrass the government, were going to vote against their honest convictions. Mr. Flewelling, Mr. White and Hon. Mr. Mitchell spoke against the amendment, the latter basing his speech, which was a long and, apparently, effective one, upon false premises, which are more particularly referred to in our editorial columns. He was followed by Mr. McLeod and by Mr. Pugsley whose speech was mainly a very fair one, but was marred by the sectional reference to the Fredericton-Miramichi railway, which will also be found in our editorial columns. The vote was then taken on the amendment and was as follows .-

The 1st paragraph of the address then passed. The 2nd and other paragraphs down to the 9th passed without discussion. When the 9th was read, Mr. Mc-Adam said it was no use of sending a bill to the legislative council which practical ly asked them to discharge themselves. That, he felt, they would refuse to do.
