I was swindled. 'It was about a diamond ring. I sum for it.' knew the fellow who had it for many 'They laughed and hooted me still years in the way of business. He was more at this admission. They said a commercial traveler, and used always that settled the question, and that it to flash this ring about whenever he | was paste. came around on his journey. A jeweller friend of mine, who happened to be in my office once when Mr. Blook called, asked, I remember, to be allowed to examine it; and had pronounced the stones to be diamonds of the purest water, telling me afterwards the ring was worth about seventy pounds. Mr. the bred (arms, four loaves, ppr-sejant, Blook's initials were engraved inside the hoop of the ring : 'R. B;' and besides that, it was a ring of peculiar and rather old-fashioned make. Indeed, having once seen the ring, no one would be likely to mistake it for another. Well, Mr. Blook got into difficulties and went so entirely to the bad that I never saw or heard anything more of him. But about two years afterwards, while walking down a back street, my

There is a certain commercial club in our town which I occasionally visit. The members are of an easy and somewhat lively disposition; generally given to indulge in that playful style of banter known as'chaff.' My diamond ring came in for a good share of it. I can stand chaff as well as most men; but I put it to you, if, when you know your brilliants are real, it isn't a little an-noying for the chaff of a whole body of people to assume the character of persistent disbelief in the value of your jewelry? For instance, the waiter an-

'Did any gentleman ring?' 'O yes,' one of the members would retort; 'it was the gentleman with the paste diamonds. Again, there are kinds of sham brilliants known as Irish Diamonds and Isle of Wight Diamonds. The club (not one or two members, but the whole body) refused to recognize such distinctions, and insisted on designating lock BOARDS. HEM-Diamonds,' 'Bakers Paste,' my gems were also denominated. They actually sent me by post a circular of somebody's Baking Powder, adding to it at the end, where it says the public is respectfully cautioned against spurious imitations, 'but more particularly against a spurious preparation to deceive the unwary, known as Baker's 'Paste' Now, after two or three weeks, this became tiresome. Still I took no notice, and affected not to think the remarks intended for me. I hardly know what made me go and call on my friend the jeweller. It was not that I had any doubts of the genuinensss of the diamonds, especially as he was the very man who had before valued Mr. Blook's ring at seventy pounds. But it had been so dinned into my head that they were false, that I wanted just a formal confirmation of the estimate he had previously formed of their worth.

'O yes,' said my friend the jeweller; 'I recognize the ring again directly .-Want to know what it's worth?' (He put it in the scales.) 'Well-h'mabout seven-and-twenty shillings for

'Eh?' said I, as pale as a turnip. Why, didn't you tell me it was worth seventy pounds?' 'Yes,' he answered; 'when it had diamonds in it-not when it had paste.'

Talking the matter over, the jeweller suggested, that on Mr. Blook getting 125 into difficulties, the first thing he did 125 was to sell the diamonds out of the ring and get their places supplied with paste; whilst, finally, he had pawned it himself with the Jew, as a paste ring. 'Well, William Henry,' said I to myself, 'the Jew has jewed you, and the club has chaffed you, and you may consider yourself trod upon, after the man hire?' I asked. 'He did.' Would he have a certain alteration, which I suggested, made in my ring in a fortnight's time? 'He would.'

'And keep it a secret.' 'Certainly-business was business.' 'For the whole of that fortnight I never went near the club; that was probably the reason why my appearance at the club dinner was not greeted with such lively sallies about Baker's Paste. One would-be-wag recommended me, whilst helping a tart, 'to keep my fingers out of the pastry.' Believing him to intend some obscure illusion to the gems on my little finger, I thought it time to open fire.

JOB - PRINTING

Chatham,

Having completed the removal of the ADVANCE establishment to the building next N. B. Trading Co's. office, Lower Water Street, we are now prepared to execute all kinds of BOOK AND JOB - PRINTING in first class style. This establishment was the only one in the Province in a position to enter into competition with the city offices at the

Dominion Centennial Exhibition

at St. John, where it received a DIPLOMA-for "Book and Job Printing" and "Letter-Press Printing." This is good evidence of the fine character of its work.

We have also, constantly on sale a large line of blank-forms, such RAILWAY SHIPPING RECEIPTS.

FISH INVOICES, (newest form.) MAGISTRATES' BLANKS. DEEDS AND MORTGAGES. SUPREME AND COUNTY COURT BLANKS. SHERIFFS' BLANKS. TEACHERS' AGREEMENTS.

SCHOOL ASSESSMENT FORMS. ETC.; ETC., ETC. Send along your orders.

LAURENCE'S SPECTACLES.

D. G. SMITH,

When the eyes water or become so fatigued by use as to be obliged to be frequently closed or relieved by viewing different objects When more light is required than formerly. When the letters of a book appear to blend with one another or to become double. When the lamp has to be placed between the eye and the object. When objects cannot be seen without holding them at an in-

When much difficulty is found in threading a needle. When the eyes appear confused as though they had a mist be-When black specks seem floating in the sight.

When any of the above indications arise all affectation should be laid aside and a pair of Laurences Spectacle's or eye Glasses should be worn immediately. Good fitting glasses are a great comfort. Our facilities for testing the sight and suiting the age are not surpassed anywhere.-Prices to suit everybody.
