The monster timber raft being built at Joggins, N. S., for New York is rapidly approaching completion, and will be one of the wonders of recent years. It will be 410 feet long, 50 feet wide, 35 feet deep, will contain 2,225,000 superficial feet and Hundreds of reservoirs connected with weighs 6,000 tons, A novel feature in the construction of

A novel feature in the construction of the raft is the system of chains by which it will be held together, and are so skilfully arranged that no undue strain will be borne by any one. A two-inch chain with links eleven by seven inches runs through the centre from stem to stern. From this cross chains of one and a quarter inch extend laterally every seven feet, not opposite each other, but alternately. Arranged near the bow and stern are three bridle chains of one and a half inches, extending from the central chain in her. extending from the central chain in her-ringbone form at distances of 20 feet apart. When the raft is completed the project-ing ends of all these lateral chains will be made fast to chains which are to encircle Charlottetown, his horse became unmanthe whole fabric, binding together the whole mass. The breaking strain of the main chain is 80 tons, and of the encir-

Chocks along the centre of the raft enable the centre chain, which is also the tow-chain, to have a and consider it a miraculous cure." The spread of twelve inches. A marked above is the substance of a communiis that the pull on the centre chain in Ont. towing causes the strain to be equally distributed among all, and tends to tighten them still more.

The principal danger to the success of the enterprise seems to us to lie in any possible trouble that may arise in the matter of launching. If it should stick on, ing for an outbreak in the near future, or break down the ways, as vessels some-times do, its enormous weight will no doubt render the work of starting it renians and others from the south of the The launch being, however, successfully accomplished the towing of the monster to New York will, in all probability, be a matter of no great hazard, for its construction seems to have been carried on struction seems to have been carried on structure and difficult one. The Indians from this district are expected to join them, and it is said that it was in order to do so that Bobtail's band left their reserves. The programme is to attack Fort McLeod, Calgary and with every regard for the contingencies Regina at first, leaving the Saskatchewan of the voyage. The attempt to put it afloat is to be made in July and advantage is to be taken of the tides of the Bay of Fundy to get it to Cape Sable in about three days. It is calculated that it will reach New York from that point in five days more. Should all go well the safe launching and conveyance of this monster raft to New York will revolutionize the timber carrying trade between provincial and American ports.

The Pitch-Pine Industry.

That curious industry—the extraction of oil and turpentine from pine by discharge is smothered, the same as if intend. ed for charcoal. The first result is a quality of turpentine as clear as crystal. The second is turpentine oil, pure and unadulterated. The third is a liquor resembling tar, but thinner and having a pleasant odor. Three or four drops of this on a bit of sugar will cure an ordinary sore throat in an hour, and instantly relieve hoarseness or tickling in the throat. It is largely used South for both man and beast, and most people regard it as a sure cure for everything except a broken neck. The fourth result is a mixture largely used by gravel roofers, and to some extent by painters. It is not only waterproof, but a great preservative. The fifth and last result is a mass of the cleanest and purest charcoal which can be produced in any known manner. quality of turpentine as clear as crystal.
