Those who er joy an exciting game and don't mind noise ought to be present on the evening of play.

"RICHELIEU" .- Miln, who is to appear at Masonic Hall, Chatham, as "Richelieu", on Saturday evening is a great actor. The Quincy Herald says of him in this character,--

As a delineator of the character of the crafty, scheming and terrible Cardinal, Miln to-day stands the equal of any actor on the American stage, and his success in "Richelien" is more than well deserved. All the good things that might be said in a column may be summoned up in a few words. Miln is a great actor, inspired by genius and his "Richelieu" stands today one of the grandest characters of the

In changing the sailing day from Monday to Tuesday and in placing these large Steamers upon the route so early, the Company do so not with a view of profit to themselves but to the better accommodation of the travelling public and they feel assured that this new move will be appreciated.

A FALSE REPORT .- Rumors of a young man named O' Shea, who died at Barnaby River last week, having been poisoned by a mistake made at the Medical Hall, Chatham, in labelling two bottles of medicine-one for outward application and the other to be taken internally, were in circulation quite generally a few days age. Stephens, Geo. Stephens, Alex. Campbell, Mr. Mackenzie, having set an independent John Brennan, Florence Mahoney, James investigation in motion, it has resulted in developing the fact that there was not enough poison in either of the bottles to cause a man's death, that the labels had been correctly put on and that, in the opinion of the medical man who had Connell. treated the patient death was entirely from natural causes. We have learned these facts by independent enquiry and it seems too bad that rumors of a character calculated to reflect on entirely blameless parties should so easily gain currency.

Curling.

To slide, or not to slide, that is the ques-Whether it is better in the mind to suffer The flings and jeerings of courageous slid-(Who sport upon the swift tobogg in And laugh at him who shuas a trial), Or to brace up, and, by indulging, Evince your grit. To sit-to slide, And by a slide to say we end Dyspepsia, lassitude and stiffened joints,

And other ills that flesh is heir to; 'tis (Perchance to "Oh!" and "Ah!" the whole course through), But when the slide's accomplished and the slider feels His blood well stirred, the sequence is, To sit and chat-aye there's the rub! To sit-and in that sitting Doubt-Doubt, as to whether The toboggan that comes after

Will reach the charmed spot And thus break up The restful, rapturous tete a tete. For who would keep a-sliding All the time, save in the presence Of stern chaperone or watchful ma, When by a sweep of loving steerer's foot We might shunt off upon the unused snow And thus escape the prying eye, Less loving sliders following down.
