OUR ELOQUENT POLICEMAN. -A Black ville correspondent writes in most glowing terms of the eloquence of the head of the Chatham Police contingent in his address to the crowd at Blackville Station on Tuesday last. ST JOHN'S CHURCH BAZAAR, held on Tuesday afternoon and evening in the Chatham Skating Rink, was an unqualified success. The sum realized, including returns from articles reserved for special purchase, will be about $500. The ladies and gentlemen in charge have every reason to congratulate themselves on the perfection of their arrangements and the practical good will manifested by the whole community towards their Church and pastor, Rev. Neil McKay. Mrs. McKay was, during the evening the recipient of a valuable gift purchased by members of the congregation.

This Company also carried off the Com mandant's prize for general tidiness about the Camp, which speaks well for the smartness displayed by the young men who compose the Chatham Company. N .s 4 and 5 Cos. also came in for considerable praise. The following are the winners of first prizes at the ball firing during Camp.

The Newcastle Field Battery kept up the reputation of the North Shore-for main strength and staying qualities, having defeated a team from every corps in Camp in the Tug of War contest.

Would it not be as well now, since our of picks and other tools used military organizations in Chatham and Newcastle are on such a good footing, for the c tizens to encourage them and keep them up in good shape, so that we may have some good grounds to work held on the Miramichi. When it is taken into consideration that it took $40,000 to put the late camp through at Sussex and that our own Battalion of five companies brought back to the Town of Chatham and vicinity some twelve hundred dollars in wages alone for 12 days drill. Bazaar at Dalhousie.

One of the most enterprising Roman Catholic missions in the Diocese is that of Dalhousie, under the pastoral charge of Rev J L McDonald, formerly of Chat- Derby ham, whose labors of a few years ago have been crowned with most gratifying success. The people of the church there. though not very many in numbers, make up for this in their efforts to second those of their pastor for the building up and increase of their congregation. In providing themselves with a new Church and other surroundings for the proper rendering of their solemn services, they have, we are glad to know, the sympathy and substantlal aid of many in the community not of their faith-a gratifying feature in all church work.
