Making it Binding.

'I am a lawyer's daughter, you know, George dear,' she said, after George Dr. J. S. Benson, had proposed and had been accepted, 'and you wouldn't think it strange if I were to ask you to sign a little paper to George was too happy to think anything strange just then, and he signed the paper with a trembling hand and a bursting heart.

Then she laid her ear against his Regular Coaches to trains leaving and arriving at middle vest button and they were very, very happy.

'Tell me, darling,' said George, after a long, delicious silence, 'why did you want me to sign that paper? Do you not repose implicit confidence in my Merchant not repose implicit confidence in my love for you?'

'Ah, yes,' she sighed with infinite content, 'indeed I do; but George, dear, I have been fooled so many times.'

Must Specify.

'Look out,' exclaimed a man over whose face a barber was moving his razor, 'you are cutting off my mous-

'You didn't tell me not to cut it,' the barber replied. 'With me a man must always specify.' 'All right,' said the customer. When the barber had finished, the man arose from the chair, approached the artist and gave him a violent kick. 'Look out, you are kicking me,' howl ed the barber. 'You did not tell me not to kick you. With me a man must always specify.'--

She Had Missed Her Man.

Arkansaw Traveler.

A teacher in one of the Indian schools relates the following incident of an Indian boy's quick thought. He had asked the meaning of the word "To miss," I told him, "is the same as to fail. You shoot at a bird mark and do not hit it; you miss it. You go to a tailor's for a coat, and your coat fits badly, it is a miss-fit. You hope to enter the middle class next year, but you cannot pass the examination, and so you miss the promotion." His face wore a puzzled air and shook his head.

'Then,' said I, 'there is another meaning of miss. We call a married woman madam, but an unmarried woman, miss.'

His face brightened. He smiled and nodded. 'Ah, I see,' said he, 'she has missed her man.'

A Student's Love-Making.

Miss Mary Flynn was studying medi cine and being courted at the same time. Mr. William Budd was attending to this latter part of the business. One evening, while they were sitting together in the front parlor, Mr. Budd was thinking how he should manage to propose. Miss Flynn was explaining certain physiological facts to him.

'Do you know that thousands of people are actually ignorant that they smell with their olfactory peduncle?" she said.

'Millions of 'em,' replied Mr. Budd. 'And Aunt Mary wouldn't believe me when I told her that she couldn't wink without a sphincter muscle!' 'How unreasonable!'

'Why, a person cannot even kiss without a sphincter muscle!' 'Indeed!'

'I know it is so,'

'May I try if I can?' 'Oh, Mr. Budd, it is too bad of you to make light of such a subject.'

Mr. Budd seized Mary's hand and kissed it. She permitted it to remain in his grasp. 'I didn't notice whether a-a-what do you call it?-sphincter helped me then or not. Let me try again,' he said. Then he tried again, and while he held her hand she explained to him about the muscles of that portion of the body.

'It is remarkable how much you know about such things,' said Mr. Budd, 'really wonderful. Now, for example, what is the bone at the back of the head called?'

'Why, the occipital bone, of course, said Miss Flynn. 'And what are the names of the muscles of the arm?' 'The spiralis and infra-spiralis, among others,' was the reply.

'Well, now, let me show you what I mean. When I put my infra-spiralis around your waist so, it is your occipital bone that rests upon my shoulder blade in this way.'

'My back hair, primarily, but the occipital bone, of course, afterward. But, oh ! Mr. Budd, suppose pa should come in.'

'Let him come! Who cares?' said Mr. Budd, boldly. 'I think I'll exercise a sphincter and take a kiss.' 'Mr. Budd, how can you? asked Miss Flynn, after he had performed the

'Don't call me Mr. Budd, call me Willie. You accept me, don't you? I know you do, darling,' he said, drawing her closer.

'Willie,' whispered Miss Flynn, faint-

'What, darling?' 'I can hear your heart beat.' 'It beats only for you, my angel.' 'And it sounds to me as if it were out of order, Willie. The ventricular contraction is not quite uniform.' 'Small wonder for that when it's bursting for joy.' 'You must put yourself under treatment for it. I will give you some medicine.'

It's your own property, darling, do what you please with it. But somehow what you please with it. But somehow what you please with it. But somehow ment—thus saving time and avoiding the damage invident to team transfers. the sphincter operation is the one that strikes me the most favorably. Let me see how it works again. But wby proceed? The old, old story was told again, and the old, old performance of the muscles of Mr. Budd's mouth was enacted again. And about eight years later Mr. Budd was wishing that Mary would catch some fatal disease among her patients, and Mary was thinking that the best possible use Willie could be put to would be as a subject for the dissecting
