DOAKTOWN HALL:-The Doaktown members of the Templare of Temperance have supplied that village with a commodious public hall, having utilised the upper story of the district school house, which is 26x32, feet for the purpose. They have had it lathed, floored and plastered and it is used for the meetings of the Templars who have a preferential right for 10 years, but it is also available for all public purposes.

SHOT DEAD .- Early last week three Indians from Redbank, one of them named Tom Sulians, went up the Little Sevogle on a hunting trip. Suliana separated from the other Indians, and they returned to the village without him. He has not since been seen by his people. On Saturday last a driver came down from a camp on the Little Southwest and reported that the Indian had been found in the woods shot dead .- Advocate.

FOUND DEAD IN A FIELD .- Mr. Jacob Mullin, a well known settler on the Northwest, was found dead in a field near his home last Tuesday forenoon- The body was found lying near a fence, and it was thought that the deceased, who is said to be nearly eighty years of age, fell while endeavoring to climb over the fence and received the injury from which he died .-

FIRE. -On Thursday night last, a fire broke out in the upper portion of the two story wooden building on Water street, Chatham, owned by J. J. Pierce, Esq., and occupied as a general store by Messrs. Loggie & Burr. The building was only slightly damaged by fire, but it, as well as the stock, consisting of dry goods, fancy goods, hats, caps, boots and shoes was injured to a great extent by water. The steck was insured for $1000 in the Lancashire, $1000 in the Scottish Union and National $1500 in the Fire Association, and $2000 in the London & Lancashire. The building was insured in the Imperial office. We hope the Fire authorities will endeavor to have some arrangement effected by which the engine can be got to fires more expeditiously than it was last Wednesday

WELSH SERVICES. - The Rector of St. Mary's Church has been holding a series of service in Welsh on board the barquentine "Glynwood," from North Wales. The genuine heartiness of these services will not soon be forgotten. The way in which they sang Welsh hymns and the impressive manner in which they joined the rector in prayer, and especially the Lord's prayer, was very inspiring. These men did not leave their religion behind them when they le't their home, because it is evidently not a mere surface sentiment but an earnest picty that has its seat in the heart, and therefore of the brave sort which enables its possessor to live a godly and sober life among strangers as well as among friends. Indeed the conduct of Captain Williams and his crew has elic'ted words of praise and commendation from all who came in contact with them during their stay at Richibucto. We often read of a floating rum shop, but the "Glynwood," under her present management, reminds usof a floating sanctuary. -Globe 21st inst.

The Revised Lists. We publish the revised list of electors for the Parish of Chatham for the current year. From what we can hear it seems that the revisors of most of the other parishes in Northumberland have made the mistake of revising on the 25th October, under the old law, instead of on the 20th, as provided by the act of 1879. The latter act makes the day of revision the 20th in years when the Municipal elections happen on 25th, as it did here this year. In case of an Assembly election in Northumberland during the current year, the parishes which have not revised their lists on 20th inst will have to vote on their lists of last year. There are 1045 votes on the new Chatham list.

The Municipal Election. The Municipal election came off Northumberland on Tuesday.

In Chatham Parish the candidates were Councillors Flanagan and Smith who were opposed by Messrs. Geo. Watt and Thos. Troy, who ran as an opposition ticket. The Chairman of the meeting at Masonic Hall, in the town of Chatham was Robert Murray, jr., Esq. The election proceedings during the whole day were very quietly conducted, and the result of the polling was :-

Councillor Flanagan, being at the head of the poll, expressed his thanks to the electors for a renewal of their confidence in him. He said the vote had been a close one and the victory was not great on either side. He had now run four successful elections which were contested and been returned twice by acclamation, but he had never felt so proud as he did on this occasion. He had only to add that he would The annual meeting of the maritime endeavor to discharge his duties faithfully

Mr. Smith deprecated the tone of the preceding speaker's remarks and thought the occasion should rather suggest a charitable course on the part of a candidate who had only a majority of one, especially as Councillor Flanagan led the poll, which must not be taken as indicating dissatisfaction with the course which he (Coun. Smith) and his colleague had pursued in their official capacity. He accepted the vote as the judgment of the ratepayers against him as one of their councillors, because of dissatisfaction with the administration of local public affairs. It seemed that the Street and Fire Service had given most dissatisfaction to his opponents, and as Mr. Watt had been most prominent a year or more ago in finding fault with the administration of the Street and Fire Commissioners, he (Mr. Smith) and his associate (Councillor Flanagan) decided to place him on the Board, in the hope that he would be able to effect changes of administration which he seemed to think were to be easily accomplished. He, Councillor Smith, regretted that according to the card of Messrs Troy and Watt, the latter had not improved the management of the board of which Mr Watt had been made a member. It appeared, from the fact that he (Coun Smith) was defeated and Mr Watt elected, that the alleged sins of the Street and Fire Commissioners-of whom Mr. Watt was one-were visited on his head, and he hoped, now that Mr. Watt had been elected in his place, that that gentleman would, as a Councillor, be able to effect the reforms in Street and Fire administration which he had failed to effect when he was an active member of the board and one of the managers of those services. In conclusion, Councillor Smith said he accepted his defeat as the honest judgment of his fellow citizens, and while he thanked the friends who had stood by him he had nothing to say against those who had condemned him, for they had all, no doubt, voted, alike, conscientiously. He would not, as he had often heard de feated candidates, say that he would never again ask for their votes, because he felt he had served them to the best of his ability, and if he were again asked to represent them he would be ready to do so, honestly and independently, as he claim-

A Gale. An unusually heavy gale visited North eastern America last Friday. It blew down barns and other light structures, levelled fences and uprooted or broke down trees, set logs adrift from booms, blew vessels from their moorings, sunk craft of different sizes and gave a shaking ap generally to things moveable all over the country. The most serious loss in Chatham was that of a large schoonerrigged boat from Tracadie, owned by Mr, Geo. Dugie of that place. She had started from Tracadie on Thursday for St. Louis and reached Neguae that night. On Friday Mr. Dugie saw a gale was coming on and he ran for Chatham being, how ever, caught in the gale. After escaping much danger he succeeded in getting in at the east side of Mr. Snowball's Union Wharf, where his craft sank, after he had | Camp Chairs. lost several barrels herring. A lot dried fish that he had on board were also damaged. The cargo was owned by Mr. C. C. Turner of Tracadie, who, of course, is a loser, though not to the extent of poor Dugie, who sold the wreck to Mr. Thos. McFarlane of Chatham for 50: and had Sideboards, Lounges, &c. Among the other casualties at Chatham was the blowing down of the Oceola Toboggan Slide, which was completely wrecked, and of Mr. Wm Anderson's boat house at the Ferry slip. An old elm tree n the grounds in front of Mr. Sadler's residence was broken off and fell across the iron railing which it damaged a little. Mr. Edwd. Sinclair of the Northwest bridge lost a portion of a wharf which want adrift together with a schr. that had been attached to it.
