Much Needed.

The growing trade interests of the down-river section of this County, promoted also by contributions thereto from Lower Gloucester, are making Neguac an important centre of traffic for the steamer running daily between that point and Chatham, and much inconvenience is experienced by passenreceiving freight, because there is no wharf at which the steamer can lie. Freight is scowed by the ton to and from the steamer, and passengers go along with it at much inconvenience and delay, this being the third season of this primitive mode of communication between the steamer and Neguac shore. We know that the local government desires to assist our people in such matters as far as possible, and in view of the fact that a considerable amount goes into the provincial treas-
