LOBSTER FISHING. - Reports from Kent County, which leads all other New Brunswick counties in the business of lobster canning, say that the catch of this year will equal that of last season, notwithstanding the shorter period allowed by law for operations. From further north the accounts are less favorable, and in the province generally the output will be considerably below that of last year. A a rule the lobster packers are not dis pleased with restrictions, as they realize the fact toot something had to be done to save the industry from total extinction. The number of factories in operation this year cannot be more than half that of two years ago. When the somewhat improved price is taken into consideration it will probably appear that the profits are not less than usual .- Journal of Commerce.

Death of Rev. Alex. Russell.

News has just reached us of the death of the Rev. Alexander Russell, Pastor of St. John's Church, Dalhousie. The lamented gentleman has been in feeble health for some time. He was much prostrated during the spring months of 1887; but having rallied somewhat in May he undertook the journey to Winnipeg as a delegate to the General Assembly which met there in June of that year. The journey proved too much for him, and he was seriously ill in that city at the residence of a daughter, since deceased, He recovered sufficiently to enable him to return home, but was unable to preach during the greater part of the season. managed to resume his duties early in the current year, and continued to labor amid much infirmity till about three weeks ago, his son-in-law, Rev. Dr. J. F. McCurdy of the University of Toronto. Although the end was considered imminent by himself and his friends it seems to have come sooner than was anticipated, though none too soon for the weary toiler whose earnest desire was to die iu harners. It appears that he went to his room

Saturday evening and had been there two hours, when hearing a noise as of a fall his son-in-law entered and found him dead. His desire was, therefore, fulfilled. Mr. Russell was a native of Elgin, Scotland, and had received, in his native land, a very liberal, though not a regular collegiate education. He emigrated to Nova Scotia in early life and there greatoperated by Messrs. Hayes & Co., was de- ly distinguished himself as a painstaking and very successful teacher. Commissions were received gentle as a child to those who honestly differed from him. On Sundays, as he went from place to place, he preached as opportunity offered. His ability as a preacher soon attracted the notice of ministers and congregations connected with his own church. Some fifteen years ago he was asked to accept the office of the ministry, a position very rarely accorded in the Presbyterian Church, except to those who have taken a regular collegiate course. This morning McIntyre complained of being very weak, with pains in his shoulders, chest and one arm. His case is not considered a critical one, and it is probable he will be all right again in a couple of days. McIntyre belongs to New York. The railway authorities are not to blame in this instance. News and Notes.

Some of the American papers are denouncing 'as a pretty mean business" the manner in which the last resting places of some of their distinguished dead are turned into a source of revenue. Mount Vernon, the burial place of Washington, is run on showmanlike principles. At Cleveland, Ohio, ten cents a head is charged for going inside the enclosure where the Gartield monument stands, and at Springfield, Illinois, the Lincoln memorial is made a means of extracting twenty-five cents each from visitors. That the extraction of these small fees a source of considerable revenue is attested by the fact that the Mount Vernon association have amassed something like | Parliament that it would be published. $80,000 over and above the cost of keeping the grounds and premises in repair. The Philadelphia Record tells an amusing story of a peculiar accident that befell from Liverpool on the 10th inst. with salt | a car load of passengers on a Northern Pennsylvania railroad the other day. A physician boarded the train, carrying with him a large jar, or vessel of some sort, full of laughing gas, to be used on a patient on whom he had to perform an operation. Through the jolting of the train, or through not being properly secured, the stopper got loose, the gas escaped into the car, and before the passengers were aware of it they were nearly all overcome by the effects and giggling and grimacing like the inmates of a lunatic asylum. The conductor happened in, in the course of his duties, and before he could realize the gause of the hilarity he, too, fell a victim. dropped into an empty seat and joined in the chorus. Sawdust turning into Soil.

Did any of The Timberman readers ever make a study of sawdust turning into soil? Doubtless many have, in some measure, given the idea a passing thought, but have not watched the action of nature in resolving back again into its original elements the capital she had lent out over a thousand years ago, to build up the stock in trade of a pine tree. The study is one of engrossing interest, and its results are well worthy of a brief notice in these columns. Twenty-five years ago, East Saginaw, Mich., was a scattering hamlet, built here and there among and along the edges of swamps and bayous, bordering the Saginaw river. The sawdust and debris of the mills were used to fill up these inequalities, more for the purpose of getting rid of the annoying accumulations, than for any well defined knowledge of the value of such material, or its possible use as a future soil. From year to year the work went on. The swamps and bayous were filled up, and soil was spread on top of the sawdust of variable thicknesses, from sixteen inches to two feet. Strange, as it may seem, there was no settling of the ground, and heavy buildings were erected upon the soil thus made. These buildings are the best in the city, and show no cracked It was stated, the other day, that the walls. Sewers are dug through what was North Atlantic squadron, under command formerly a bed of sawdust, and while tion is in Dr. Pedolin's office, where any foot up: births, 82; marriages, 35; deaths, of Rear Admiral Stephen B. in each shovel of matter thrown out. I would be difficult to fully and clearly exp'an this process. It looks as though the exudations rising up from beneath the over-lying debris are continually acting as distilling elements, by which the granules of sawdust gather to themselves earth incrustations, and finally become homogeneous conglomeration of original soil without undergoing the action of decomposition. This hypothesis may not be any clearer than mud, but it is certain that one of the finest and most substantial cities in Michigan, rests secured to day on a bed of sawdust, which latter has resolved Thursday, 23rd Inst. itself back into its ori inal elements within a quarter of a century. .... Don't Do these Things.

Don't open a cock or valve under pres sure, and let steam into cold pipes suddenly. If you do there will be a bill of repairs to pay, to say nothing of the liability of killing or maining some one for life. A man was employed in a brewery cleaning barrels with steam from the boiler. He opened the globe valve suddenly and blew up the barrel, losing one arm by his imprudence.

Don't suppose that a safety valve is going to think for itself, and don't fancy 1t is all right because it was tried last month, or last year, perhaps. Try the safety valve daily, and examine it, so as to be sure that the stem is not bent, or that the weight har not been shifted by accident or design.

Don't omit to keep the water guage in good order, and be sure that the openings into the boiler, both steam and water, are not stopped up partially by scale or something lodged in them. Where the openings are of different sizes the water level will not show properly. Test the guage by the guage cocks, and be sure that it is

Don't suppose that the boiler is all right nternally because it has never blown up vet. Get into it, and see whether it is not. The man-hole plate ought to come off every week, and the engineer should satisfy himself by inspection that the braces are all night.

Don't forget that the blow cock is a thief which is very apt to run away with great deal of coal unless it is tight. It should not leak a drop.

Don't be too liberal with oil or fat io th ylinder. Some men are constantly slushing the cylinder with grease, under the mpression that it makes the engine run easier. After one or two revolutions all the grease that does not cover the rolls of the cylinder is carried out with the exhaust and scattered over the surrounding

The Skeena Indians. Сиксадо, July 30.—A despatch from Victoria, B. C., says H. M. S. Caroline. Capt. With ing the United States from Canada ap. the exception of the missionary at Hazelton, all the white residents had entered pears to have materially reduced the quan- the shelter formed by the barricaded Hudson Bay Company's post. The Indians are still threatening and are greatly excited over the killing of Kit Won(Cool Jim) by Constable Green, who is now said to be a deserter from the American army. Two more Indians had been killed in a fight growing out of some feud. The day after the arrival of the Caroline the steamer Rescourt arrived with Superintenden, Royencroft and, after some difficulty securing a crew of six Indians, Royencrof and twelve special constables started up the river for Hazelton. The trip will take nine or ten days, and as soon as the facts are ascertained a messenger will be forwarded to the commandant for horses and a battery. If trouble occurs the battery will at once start up the river. If everything is amicably arranged it will return to Victoria. The battery is encamped at Easington at the mouth of the river. The men are in good spirits and pleasantly sitvated. The opinion is general that the matter will be quietly settled. It is believed that the fact of the war vessel being in the river, and the presence of "C" battery will have a salutary effect in deterring the Indians from further outrages.

REPORTS OF GOVERNMENT CHEMISTS

BULK (Powder sold loose).....

RUMFORD'S, when not fresh

As to Purity and Wholesomeness of the Royal Baking Powder. "I have tested a package of Royal Baking Powder, which I purchased in the open market, and find it composed of pure and wholesome ingredients. It is a cream of tartar powder of a high degree of merit, and does not contain either alum or phosphates, or other injurious substances.

E. G. Love, Ph.D."

"It is a scientific fact that the Royal Baking Powder is absolutely pure.
"H. A. MOTT, Ph.D.". "I have examined a package of Royal Baking Powder, purchased by myself in the market. I find it entirely free from alum, terra alba, or any other injurious substance. Henry Morron, Ph.D., President of Stevens Institute of Technology." "I have analyzed a package of Royal Baking Powder. The materials of which it is composed are pure and wholesome. S. Dana Hayes, State Assayer, Mass."

The Royal Baking Powder received the highest award over all competitors at the Vienna World's Exposition, 1873; at the Centennial, Philadelphia, 1876; at the American Institute, New York, and at State Fairs throughout the country.

No other article of human food has ever received such high, emphatic, and universal endorsement from eminent chemists, physicians, scientists, and Boards of Health all over the world.

Note-The above DIAGRAM illustrates the comparative worth of various Baking Powders, as shown by Chemical Analysis and experiments made by Prof. Schedler. A pound can of each powder was taken, the total leavening power or volume in each can calculated, the result being as indicated. This practical test for worth by Prof. Schedler only proves what every observant consumer of the Royal Baking Powder knows by practical experience, that, while it costs a few cents per pound more than ordinary kinds, it is far more economical, and, besides, affords the advantage of better work. A single trial of the Royal Baking Powder will convince any fair minded person of these facts. * While the diagram shows some of the alum powders to be of a higher degree of strength than other powders ranked below them, it is not to be taken as indicating that they have any value. All alum powders, no matter how high their strength, are to be avoided as dangerous.
