Municipal Council.

[Continued from 3rd Page.] Bills of J. D. B. F. Mackenzie, $5, for analysing a bottle of lager beer, as evidence in a Scott Act suit, also bill of costs in prosecuting same suit-amounting to $28 in all-were deferred until July as they were not sworn to. In reply to a question, the Secretary-Treasurer said his opinion was that the Council was liable for these bills, but not for the cost of advertising the Inspector's warning to liquor-dealers. Bill of D. G. Smith for reporting proceedings of Conncil, $50, was pasted. On motion of Coun. Robinson, ordered that the Secy-Treas. memorialise the legislature, asking that the road tax in Northumberland Co. be reduced from

40c to 30c per day. CHATHAM PARISH OFFICERS. Coun. Watt read list of officers for parish of Chatham, which he stated was complete, with exception of the names of the collectors of rates for the middle and lower districts, on which Coun. Flanagan and he could not agree and had decided to refer to the Council for its decision. The list was then read and passed. Coun. Flanagan said he had endeavored to meet Coun. Watt's views in reference to the selection of parish officers and had, in many cases, consented thereto against his better judgment. He had let good officers go, but was obliged to stop somewhere. He had been a councillor for the town of Chatham six years and led the poll every election but one. He led the poll in the last election and claimed that was evidence that thus placed under their control with or the ratepayers relied on his judgment in these matters. He claimed to know ed. The only reason why it might be when the town had good officers, and was not, therefore, prepared to give Coun. Watt his own way altogether, just for the sake of change. He would ask possible requirements of the general the Council to sanction the appointment law, which had nothing to do with the

for the middle district. Coun. Watt moved, in amendment that Mr. Patrick Connors be collector for that district. He said he had nothing against Mr. Finn, who had been an efficient and honest officer, but was now too old to perform the duties of collector satisfactorily. He was not particular about the Council accepting Mr. Connors, but was willing that any young man able to do the work should b chosen. The large default list of the parish, which amounted to some $900, told its own story, and it was a fact that men's names were on it who were far more able to pay their rates than he (Watt) was. The failing of Mr. Finn's sight obliged him to wear spectacles and he was, therefore, not as sharp as was desirable for one in his office. To show this, he said that one day when Mr. F. was coming along the street, a party who was standing with him (Watt) and others said to them not to let Finn see him, as he had been after him for his taxes for some days. Mr. Finn knew the man well, yet he passed along without seeing him, when a younger man would have recognised him and done his duty. Coun. Flanagan asked if Coun. Watt was prepared to say a man was incapacitated for the performance of public duties because he wore glasses. Several members of the Board wore them and such remarks were a reflection their ability, which everyone knew was nousense. He quoted the Chatham Railway assessment and other large items not collected to show how the large default list was made up. I the railway case he understood payment was refused absolutely. Many others were good and would be paid. Mr Finn had, in reference so all of them, done as well as any man could do, for it must be remembered that times had been very hard the last year on the Miramichi. Only one mill had been running in Chatham and it might almost be said that the due bill system was in force there. The ratepayers they run together, as before, Coun ever and would not have been here, so were satisfied with Mr. Finn, who though he might be an old man, was yet as efficient as any that could be got. They were also satisfied with the officers he and ex-Coun. Smith had appointed. Though he had run his election singlehanded he had led the poll and Mr. Smith, who also ran single-handed, had only been beaten by one vote. Had Watt would have had no chance what-he had not much claim to the favor of the Council in this matter. Coun. McNaughton suggested that Coun. Flanagan be given his choice or this vote and Coun. Watt his on the amendment was defeated and Mr. Finn appointed. Coun. Flanagan moved that David M. Savoy be collector for the lower district, Chatham. Coun. Watt, in amendment, moved W. J. Loggie. He said Savoy had been collector for three or four years and he had nothing to say against him, so far as he knew, but the people were dissatisfied with him and had asked him to make a change. Perhaps, however, the council would give that appointment to Mr. Flanagan also. Coun. Flanagan said Mr. Watt could not claim that the appointments in the lower district made by ex-Coun. Smith and himself were unpopular, when both of them in the last election had beaten Mr. Watt and his fellow candidate on his ticket two to one there. The fact was, Mr. Watt had advertised in his Secretary-Treasurer and Official Recard that he intended to make "radical porter, each of whom made suitable changes" and he was now trying to do acknowledgments, and the Council adit by turning out good officers, just for journed sine die.

Coun. Flanagan got the larger vote in Black Brook? If he would now dare to resign he (Watt) would also do so and he would guarantee such a change in that district as would leave Coun. Flanagan home. He would dare him to resign and try it.

Coun. Flanagan said he bad been elected steadily for six years and had the confidence of his parish, gained by an endeavor to do his duty. Coun Watt might find that if he (Watt) resigned he wouldn't see the Council again at all.

Coun. Ryan said that as Coun. Watt had given the Council no reason why Mr. Savoy should be put out of office, the latter ought to be sustained. The amendment was put and lost and Coun. Flanagan's nomination of Mr. Savoy sustained. A questien as to whether it was necessary to appoint a Street Commissioner for Chatham came up and ex-coun. Smith, who was present as official reporter, and had framed the present Street and Fire bill, was asked to give his opinion on the matter. He said that, so far as the Act applied to the ordinary street work of Chatham, there was, in his opinion, no necessity whatever, for the council to appoint a Street Commissioner, because the Act, in express terms, declared that all the duties, powers, etc., formerly, by law, vested in both the Street Commissioner and the Firewards of Chatham, were vested in the Board of Street and Fire Commissioners which the Act established. They could manage the affairs without a commissioner, as they pleasnecessary to appoint a Street Commissioner, and the reason why one had been appointed heretofore was to meet

> Coun. Flanagan moved that Mr. T. DesBrisay be appointed. Coun. Watt said it had been under stood between Coun- Flanagan and himself that no commissioner was

Coun. Flanagan said he was still willing to hold to that if so advised. Coun. Watt, moved in amendment that Mr. Alex. Templeton be Street Commissioner. He said his objection to Mr. DesBrisay was that he was an employee of Mr. Snowball and, therefore, not his own master. If he were his own master he did not know a man who would be more fit for the position. He was commissioner last year and was supposed to consult other members of the Board in reference to Street work. but he did not do so. As one of the Board he (Watt) had heard the Chairman suggest repairs to certain sidewalks which were not made. He,himself, had wanted a hole filled in a sidewalk and even that was neglected. There was also a hole in front of Masonic hall to which Mr. DesBrisay's attention was directed and he had neglected it. When he was asked, near the close of the season, why he had not done certain work he said there were no deals to be had. That meant that Mr. Snowball had none. At the same time he (Watt) could have supplied him with deals at a less rate than Mr.

Snowball charged and less than Mr. DesBrisay paid for them for the Street Coun. Flanagan said if the law did not require the appointment of a Commissioner let it be left open. The fact was Coun. Watt was only proposing this change because he had promis

Coun. Flanagan said the Police fund was now in a position which required the Police committee to pledge their credit on notes in the bank to raise funds to pay bills until the assessment was collected in July. Mr. Watt and he had agreed to the assessment ordered yesterday and this movement was simply a trick of his for the purpose of impressing people with the idea that he wanted to reduce their taxes.
